4 FLEEING CONVICTS CAUGHT

DEMANDS LABOR BOARD OUSTER FOR UNFAIRNESS

Sen. Burke Blames Abuses for Slump.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Blaming the National Labor Relations board for engendering the fear that has produced the depression and charging it with inciting labor lawlessness, Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.] today demanded its replacement by a new board through resignation or removal of its present members.

Senator Burke.

Speaking at a round table discussion of labor problems at the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Senator Burke cited numerous instances of the board's discrimination against employers, manipulation of its powers to further the interests of favored unions, and condonement of labor violence, vandalism, and lawlessness.

Finds Violence Inevitable.

"The labor board," said the senator, "puts its blessing upon those who resort to violence. It declares such conduct justifiable. When a federal agency takes such a stand there can be only one result: widespread lawlessness with damage to property and loss of life."

Later in the day the chamber, upon the motion of J. S. Spratt of Cincinnati, unanimously adopted a resolution demanding a congressional investigation of the administration of the Wagner labor relations act with a view to drastic revision.

The resolution asserted that the act, as construed and administered by the labor board, has increased rather than diminished labor controversies and has become a formidable barrier to enduring business recovery. Such an investigation was sought by Senator Burke recently, but his resolution was squelched by the senate judiciary committee.

Confirmed Without Hearing.

The board is composed of three members who were appointed by President Roosevelt and confirmed by the senate without a hearing and with only perfunctory consideration.

The chairman is J. Warren Madden, a former University of Pittsburgh professor, who had the backing of the American Federation of Labor.

Another is Edwin S. Smith of Massachusetts, a member of the Felix Frankfurter group of liberals. He was formerly personnel manager in Edward A. Filene's Boston department store. His appointment was sponsored by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

The third member is Donald Wakefield Smith of Pennsylvania, a former Homestead Steel mill worker whose father is a steel mill assistant superintendent. His appointment was sponsored by Senator Joseph F. Guffey at the instance of John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Lewis Allies Dominate Board.

The board is dominated by the two Smiths, whose close relations with Lewis and partisan actions in favor of the C. I. O. have long been the target of attack, particularly by the American Federation of Labor. Lewis is the recognized power behind the throne of this governmental agency. To Lewis has gone the lion's share of the board's pay roll patronage.

The members of the board declined to comment on Senator Burke's demand for their resignations or on the chamber's criticisms of their administration. Nor would they say whether they had consulted Lewis, Homer Martin of the C. I. O. automobile workers union, Tommy Cochran and Ben Cohen of the White House brain trust, or other outsiders on their verdict against the Ford Motor company as implied in the petition filed by Ford counsel in the federal Court of Appeals at Covington, Ky., yesterday.

Deny Significance of Order.

Members of the board's legal staf said that no special significance attaches to the order of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadel-

INDIANA FELONS ARE SEIZED BY ILLINOIS POSSE

Taken Near Urbana Without Fight.

Champaign, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Four convicts who escaped from the Indiana state prison at Michigan City yesterday were captured late tonight. They walked into an ambush of a machine gun squad of Champaign county officers and state police a mile west of Mahomet, 12 miles northwest of here, and surrendered without a shot being fired.

W. R. Ramsey.

They were hurried to the county jail at Urbana and locked up.

All day the convicts had been hiding along the road between Champaign and Mahomet as a manhunt went on in Champaign and adjoining counties. Tonight Sherif C. W. Roth received information that they were trying to escape on foot along the Big Four railroad tracks in the vicinity of Mahomet. The officers sped there by automobile and laid the trap for the unsuspecting convicts.

See Link with Outlaw Gang.

Authorities believe the convicts' escape had been carefully planned and that they were hoping to reach the hideout 25 miles northwest of Danville, where William R. Ramsey, Peoria federal agent, was mortally wounded yesterday in a gun battle with a gang. Joe Earlywine, ex-convict sought as a bank robber, was killed in the battle and Ramsey died in a Danville hospital early today.

Fred Steffler, an ex-convict seized at the scene of the shooting, admitted he is a brother-in-law of Frank Mears, one of the escaped felons. For this reason the authorities believe the fleeing convicts had expected to join Steffler and Earlywine and form such a gang as John Dillinger's followers organized upon their escape from prison.

Presumably, the officers said, the fugitives learned of the shooting at the gang hideout some time today and abandoned their plans.

Find Abandoned Auto.

The searchers began concentrating in this vicinity when the automobile in which the convicts fled from Michigan City was found abandoned this morning a few miles north of Rantoul and 15 miles from the gang hideout.

Lieut. M. C. Baughman of the state police, who with Sherif Roth was in charge of the men who made the capture at Mahomet, revealed that at 2 a. m. today the convicts stole another car from C. M. Schalk in Rantoul. They later abandoned this car in Champaign, although it was still in running order, and headed westward on foot.

They made little progress during the day, being forced to hide most of the time in wooded sections along the road, according to Chief Walter Williams of the state police, who personally led the manhunt.

The convicts are Mears, Ernest Powell, Wilbur Dawson, and Ernest Grigsby.

When captured three of them were still wearing their prison clothes. One was wearing the clothes he took

VATICAN ASSAILS NAZI WORSHIP OF FUEHRER AS IDOL

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 3.—Dodging Italian censorship, the Vatican today celebrated Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's arrival in Rome by publishing in the French press one of the sternest denunciations of Nazilism ever uttered by the Holy See.

It was in the form of a circular letter from Msgr. Ernesto Ruffini, one of the closest collaborators of Pope Pius XI., and secretary of the Congregation of Seminaries and of Universities of Studies. The letter was addressed to rectors of Catholic universities throughout the world warning against the "false science" of the Nazi race doctrin.

Refutes Nazi Doctrins.

Following and often repeating literally the pope's numerous statements against Fascism, Msgr. Ruffini summarized the Nazi doctrin in eight points and then refuted them one by one.

After condemning anti-Semitism specifically, the circular attacked the doctrin of blood purity as a "false and materialist" conception of society.

The severest strictures, however, were directed against the Nazi—and incidentally Fascist—cult of state and idolatrous worship of temporal dictators.

While all this has been said before and by the pontiff himself, the fact that the circular was allowed to be published on the date of Hitler's arrival in Rome after the pope had gone to his summer home, Castel Gandolfo, to avoid Hitler, gave it an unusual political significance. So far the circular has been only summarized in the French Catholic press, but it was announced that the full text will be published soon.

Gets Grave News from Austria.

Diplomatic circles in Paris believed that the pope felt obliged to take this step, which may trouble relations between the Vatican and the Italian government, to say nothing of Germany, by increasingly grave news from Austria.

French Catholics also saw in it a new rebuke to Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, Catholic archbishop of Vienna, who this week shocked Catholic opinion throughout the world by forbidding his clergy to celebrate marriages between Germans and non-Aryans—in the Nazi sense.

ROME, May 3. — Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, who tonight received one of the greatest welcomes in all history upon his triumphal entry into Rome, will confer with Premier Mussolini tomorrow.

The dictators of Europe's two Fascist nations, tied together by the Rome-Berlin axis, will open political conversations which presumably are to decide the fate of a troubled continent.

All embassies and legations in Rome regarded this meeting with eager eyes, some of them with anxiety and some merely with curiosity. The most anxious were the diplomats of Czechoslovakia. The fate of that country undoubtedly depends upon the amount of support Mussolini is willing to accord Hitler, who covets a big slice of the post-war republic.

Guest in Palace Built by Pope.

The Fuehrer prepared for his meeting with Il Duce in an apartment in Quirinal palace, which was built by and for popes. He will stay there as a guest of King Victor Emmanuel III. during his visit in Rome. The palace was begun in 1574 under Pope Gregory XIII. and added to by later pontiffs, who use it as a summer residence. Since 1870 it has been the home of the king of Italy.

Hitler entered the palace at 9 o'clock after a ride of triumph through the streets of Rome. At least 300,000 Italians packed the line of march. The Fuehrer was visibly awed by the gorgeous ceremony rivaling those of the days of the Cæsars in size and grandeur.

It was the most grandiose welcome one ruler had ever received from another since King Francis I. of France welcomed King Henry VIII. of England at the "field of the cloth of gold" near Calais in 1520.

Spectacle Stirs Hitler.

Hitler, a master showman, turned red with emotion and confusion during the demonstration which far surpassed any event he has organized.

Mussolini used every device imaginable — sound, light, and color — to impress his fellow dictator with Italy's enthusiasm for the Rome-Berlin axis and the Italian capacity for organization. Hundreds of musicians blared out martial music, and thousands of floodlights and fires glittered in the sky.

Hitler's special train rolled into the Ostiense station, which was built in honor of the visitor outside of the city walls in front of St. Paul's gate, at 8:30 o'clock. He was greeted by the king wearing the uniform of field marshal of the Italian empire, and Mussolini, wearing the uniform of honorary corporal of the Fascist militia with a swastika decoration on his breast.

Hitler Rides with King.

Within four minutes the official presentations were over and the German and Italian leaders climbed into horse drawn carriages for the drive to the royal palace. Each carriage held two persons, carefully paired to their corresponding ranks — Hitler with the king, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy, Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, with Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party; Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels of Germany with Propaganda Minister Dino Alfieri of Italy.

A curious feature of the arrangement was that there was no place for Mussolini. He stepped into his automobile and gave the Fascist salute until the carriages passed by. Then

One of C. I. O.'s Ten Founders Deserts Lewis

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Max Zaritsky, leader of 40,000 millinery workers and one of the ten founders of the Committee for Industrial Organization, will let his membership in the C. I. O. lapse, according to authoritative labor sources.

Max Zaritsky.

Zaritsky, president of the United Hatter, Cap and Millinery Workers, will not take part in the convention called by John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief, to establish a permanent national federation in the fall, according to these sources.

Zaritsky could not be reached at his headquarters, and members of his staf neither would confirm or deny the report.

Regarded Blow to C. I. O.

Zaritsky's membership in the C. I. O. is personal, his union having retained its American Federation of Labor affiliation, but his defection is regarded in labor circles as a hard blow to the prestige of the C. I. O. movement.

The reports of his decision followed indications by David Dubinsky, leader of the International Garment Workers' union, that he and his 250,000 garment workers would not participate in any permanent organization of the C. I. O. as has been proposed by Lewis.

Early Advocate of Peace.

Zaritsky was one of the first leaders to press for peace between the A. F. of L. and C. I. O., trying to start negotiations more than a year ago. He found opposition to his efforts on both sides, however, labor sources say.

Meanwhile the international executive board of the C. I. O. Transport Workers union closed a two day conference today with a resolution indorsing the call for a conference of all C. I. O. unions to establish a permanent organization. The executive board also passed a resolution indorsing President Roosevelt's relief and recovery program.

SH! WPA WHISPERING EXPERTS WILL TEST 350,000 CITY PUPILS

During the next year 200 WPA workers will whisper to the 350,000 pupils in Chicago elementary schools. Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent in charge of special schools, told yesterday how this whispering will be part of a deafness test to be made for all pupils.

"Frequently a teacher is not aware that a child is slightly deaf," Maj. Beals said. "We intend that children only slightly deaf shall be placed in front rows and those who need special attention will be assigned to special classes."

To make the test a WPA worker will place a pupil 20 feet away from him in a quiet room and whisper. If the pupil hears, his hearing is normal. If he must move closer he is graded according to the number of feet closer he must move in order to hear. It will take a year to complete the tests.

STUDENTS INSURE SELVES AGAINST HAVING TO RECITE

Northwestern university law students who can't answer the professor's questions have some consolation now. Joseph Higgs, who calls himself the law school insurance man, will sell them policies that pay off in case they have to recite. He really just bets them the professor won't call on them, at odds of 7 to 1.

Higgs, who lives at 527 Brompton place, is a student himself. He keeps no records, but carries all his transactions in his head. Fifty cents invested with him will bring the client $3.50, in case the client must recite, and there's always the chance that the client may get the cash and the right answer, too.

School Head Wins Marble Title; Pupils Lose Holiday

Franklin, Tenn., May 3.—(AP)—Pupils at Battle Ground academy still are waiting for the extra holiday that will come when they beat Headmaster George I. Briggs at marbles. He has been marble champion of the school for ten years. Gilliam Traughber and the headmaster knuckled down for the finals of this year's tournament yesterday. At the end of two hours and twenty-six minutes Briggs, as usual, had all the marbles. And the pupils didn't have a holiday.

Lilacs Arrive Today for Sick and Shut-ins

BY MARCIA WINN.

Today is lilac day for Chicago and the suburbs, the first of two such days in the tenth annual "share your lilacs" campaign.

Today, and again on Friday, those who grow lilacs in their yards or on their estates will share them with the sick, the bedridden, and the aged under the distribution plan sponsored by the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild and THE TRIBUNE.

After the sweltering temperatures of the last two days, cool weather is predicted. This, officials agreed last night, will be a decided asset, as it will facilitate handling of the delicate blossoms of massed purple and white in their rapid transit from bush to bedside.

Early Delivery Urged.

To avoid disappointments, gardeners should deliver their lilacs to the early morning trains that they may reach the downtown terminals before 10 a. m., guild officials said. Six coöperating railroads, the Burlington, Illinois Central, Rock Island, Aurora & Elgin, North Shore electric and North Western, will transport today's lilacs in fifty-eight trains. The Milwaukee railroad will be added to the list Friday.

From the time the lilacs, heavy with fragrance, leave their donors' hands at railway stations until they are placed in the hands of greater Chicago's sick, shut-ins and invalids, they will receive tender care. Guild workers will receive them, make them into bouquets and dispatch them in TRIBUNE high speed trucks to hospitals and homes.

Lilac day in the last decade has become Chicago's reigning day of thoughtfulness. It links, through the happy medium of clustered purple blossoms, nameless thousands who, their lives far apart, have still a single bond in flowers. On one side are those who, growing flowers, love them; on the other those who, forced to live without them, love them even more.

Provides a Double Joy.

It thus gives, officials say, a double joy, the joy of sharing and the joy of receiving. It was of this latter that officials of some of the 130 or more hospitals, institutions, and settlement houses which will receive lilacs

INDIANA FELONS ARE SEIZED BY ILLINOIS POSSE

Taken Near Urbana Without Fight.

Champaign, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Four convicts who escaped from the Indiana state prison at Michigan City yesterday were captured late tonight. They walked into an ambush of a machine gun squad of Champaign county officers and state police a mile west of Mahomet, 12 miles northwest of here, and surrendered without a shot being fired.

W. R. Ramsey.

They were hurried to the county jail at Urbana and locked up.

All day the convicts had been hiding along the road between Champaign and Mahomet as a manhunt went on in Champaign and adjoining counties. Tonight Sherif C. W. Roth received information that they were trying to escape on foot along the Big Four railroad tracks in the vicinity of Mahomet. The officers sped there by automobile and laid the trap for the unsuspecting convicts.

See Link with Outlaw Gang.

Authorities believe the convicts' escape had been carefully planned and that they were hoping to reach the hideout 25 miles northwest of Danville, where William R. Ramsey, Peoria federal agent, was mortally wounded yesterday in a gun battle with a gang. Joe Earlywine, ex-convict sought as a bank robber, was killed in the battle and Ramsey died in a Danville hospital early today.

Fred Steffler, an ex-convict seized at the scene of the shooting, admitted he is a brother-in-law of Frank Meats, one of the escaped felons. For this reason the authorities believe the fleeing convicts had expected to join Steffler and Earlywine and form such a gang as John Dillinger's followers organized upon their escape from prison.

Presumably, the officers said, the fugitives learned of the shooting at the gang hideout some time today and abandoned their plans.

Find Abandoned Auto.

The searchers began concentrating in this vicinity when the automobile in which the convicts fled from Michigan City was found abandoned this morning a few miles north of Rantoul and 15 miles from the gang hideout.

Lieut. M. C. Baughman of the state police, who with Sherif Roth was in charge of the men who made the capture at Mahomet, revealed that at 2 a. m. today the convicts stole another car from C. M. Schalk in Rantoul. They later abandoned this car in Champaign, although it was still in running order, and headed westward on foot.

They made little progress during the day, being forced to hide most of the time in wooded sections along the road, according to Chief Walter Williams of the state police, who personally led the manhunt.

The convicts are Mears, Ernest Powell, Wilbur Dawson, and Ernest Grigsby.

One of C. I. O.'s Ten Founders Deserts Lewis

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Max Zaritsky, leader of 40,000 millinery workers and one of the ten founders of the Committee for Industrial Organization, will let his membership in the C. I. O. lapse, according to authoritative labor sources.

Max Zaritsky.

Zaritsky, president of the United Hatter, Cap and Millinery Workers, will not take part in the convention called by John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief, to establish a permanent national federation in the fall, according to these sources.

Zaritsky could not be reached at his headquarters, and members of his staf neither would confirm or deny the report.

Regarded Blow to C. I. O.

Zaritsky's membership in the C. I. O. is personal, his union having retained its American Federation of Labor affiliation, but his defection is regarded in labor circles as a hard blow to the prestige of the C. I. O. movement.

The reports of his decision followed indications by David Dubinsky, leader of the International Garment Workers' union, that he and his 250,000 garment workers would not participate in any permanent organization of the C. I. O. as has been proposed by Lewis.

Early Advocate of Peace.

Zaritsky was one of the first leaders to press for peace between the A. F. of L. and C. I. O., trying to start negotiations more than a year ago. He found opposition to his efforts on both sides, however, labor sources say.

Meanwhile the international executive board of the C. I. O. Transport Workers union closed a two day conference today with a resolution indorsing the call for a conference of all C. I. O. unions to establish a permanent organization. The executive board also passed a resolution indorsing President Roosevelt's relief and recovery program.

SH! WPA WHISPERING EXPERTS WILL TEST 350,000 CITY PUPILS

During the next year 200 WPA workers will whisper to the 350,000 pupils in Chicago elementary schools. Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent in charge of special schools, told yesterday how this whispering will be part of a deafness test to be made for all pupils.

"Frequently a teacher is not aware that a child is slightly deaf," Maj. Beals said. "We intend that children only slightly deaf shall be placed in front rows and those who need special attention will be assigned to special classes."

To make the test a WPA worker will place a pupil 20 feet away from him in a quiet room and whisper. If the pupil hears, his hearing is normal. If he must move closer he is graded according to the number of feet closer he must move in order to hear. It will take a year to complete the tests.

STUDENTS INSURE SELVES AGAINST HAVING TO RECITE

Northwestern university law students who can't answer the professor's questions have some consolation now. Joseph Higgs, who calls himself the law school insurance man, will sell them policies that pay off in case they have to recite. He really just bets them the professor won't call on them, at odds of 7 to 1.

Higgs, who lives at 527 Brompton place, is a student himself. He keeps no records, but carries all his transactions in his head. Fifty cents invested with him will bring the client $3.50, in case the client must recite, and there's always the chance that the client may get the cash and the right answer, too.

School Head Wins Marble Title; Pupils Lose Holiday

Franklin, Tenn., May 3.—(AP)—Pupils at Battle Ground academy still are waiting for the extra holiday that will come when they beat Headmaster George I. Briggs at marbles. He has been marble champion of the school for ten years. Gilliam Traughber and the headmaster knuckled down for the finals of this year's tournament yesterday. At the end of two hours and twenty-six minutes Briggs, as usual, had all the marbles. And the pupils didn't have a holiday.

Lilacs Arrive Today for Sick and Shut-ins

BY MARCIA WINN.

Today is lilac day for Chicago and the suburbs, the first of two such days in the tenth annual "share your lilacs" campaign.

Today, and again on Friday, those who grow lilacs in their yards or on their estates will share them with the sick, the bedridden, and the aged under the distribution plan sponsored by the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild and THE TRIBUNE.

After the sweltering temperatures of the last two days, cool weather is predicted. This, officials agreed last night, will be a decided asset, as it will facilitate handling of the delicate blossoms of massed purple and white in their rapid transit from bush to bedside.

Early Delivery Urged.

To avoid disappointments, gardeners should deliver their lilacs to the early morning trains that they may reach the downtown terminals before 10 a. m., guild officials said. Six coöperating railroads, the Burlington, Illinois Central, Rock Island, Aurora & Elgin, North Shore electric and North Western, will transport today's lilacs in fifty-eight trains. The Milwaukee railroad will be added to the list Friday.

From the time the lilacs, heavy with fragrance, leave their donors' hands at railway stations until they are placed in the hands of greater Chicago's sick, shut-ins and invalids, they will receive tender care. Guild workers will receive them, make them into bouquets and dispatch them in TRIBUNE high speed trucks to hospitals and homes.

Lilac day in the last decade has become Chicago's reigning day of thoughtfulness. It links, through the happy medium of clustered purple blossoms, nameless thousands who, their lives far apart, have still a single bond in flowers. On one side are those who, growing flowers, love them; on the other those who, forced to live without them, love them even more.

Provides a Double Joy.

It thus gives, officials say, a double joy, the joy of sharing and the joy of receiving. It was of this latter that officials of some of the 130 or more hospitals, institutions, and settlement houses which will receive lilacs

VATICAN ASSAILS NAZI WORSHIP OF FUEHRER AS IDOL

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 3.—Dodging Italian censorship, the Vatican today celebrated Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's arrival in Rome by publishing in the French press one of the sternest denunciations of Naziism ever uttered by the Holy See.

It was in the form of a circular letter from Msgr. Ernesto Ruffini, one of the closest collaborators of Pope Pius XI., and secretary of the Congregation of Seminaries and of Universities of Studies. The letter was addressed to rectors of Catholic universities throughout the world warning against the "false science" of the Nazi race doctrin.

Refutes Nazi Doctrins.

Following and often repeating literally the pope's numerous statements against Fascism, Msgr. Ruffini summarized the Nazi doctrin in eight points and then refuted them one by one.

After condemning anti-Semitism specifically, the circular attacked the doctrin of blood purity as a "false and materialist" conception of society.

The severest strictures, however, were directed against the Nazi—and incidentally Fascist—cult of state and idolatrous worship of temporal dictators.

While all this has been said before and by the pontiff himself, the fact that the circular was allowed to be published on the date of Hitler's arrival in Rome after the pope had gone to his summer home, Castel Gandolfo, to avoid Hitler, gave it an unusual political significance. So far the circular has been only summarized in the French Catholic press, but it was announced that the full text will be published soon.

Gets Grave News from Austria.

Diplomatic circles in Paris believed that the pope felt obliged to take this step, which may trouble relations between the Vatican and the Italian government, to say nothing of Germany, by increasingly grave news from Austria.

French Catholics also saw in it a new rebuke to Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, Catholic archbishop of Vienna, who this week shocked Catholic opinion throughout the world by forbidding his clergy to celebrate marriages between Germans and non-Aryans—in the Nazi sense.

DICTATORS OPEN PARLEYS TODAY; EYED BY EUROPE

German Chief Awed by Rome's Welcome.

SCENES FROM ROME!
A view of Hitler's arrival in Rome and a glimpse of the historic march through the avenues of the city are brought to readers of The Tribune by Associated Press radio and wirephoto. Turn to the back page of this issue.

ROME, May 3. — Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, who tonight received one of the greatest welcomes in all history upon his triumphal entry into Rome, will confer with Premier Mussolini tomorrow.

The dictators of Europe's two Fascist nations, tied together by the Rome-Berlin axis, will open political conversations which presumably are to decide the fate of a troubled continent.

All embassies and legations in Rome regarded this meeting with eager eyes, some of them with anxiety and some merely with curiosity. The most anxious were the diplomats of Czechoslovakia. The fate of that country undoubtedly depends upon the amount of support Mussolini is willing to accord Hitler, who covets a big slice of the post-war republic.

Guest in Palace Built by Pope.

The Fuehrer prepared for his meeting with Il Duce in an apartment in Quirinal palace, which was built by and for popes. He will stay there as a guest of King Victor Emmanuel III. during his visit in Rome. The palace was begun in 1574 under Pope Gregory XIII. and added to by later pontiffs, who use it as a summer residence. Since 1870 it has been the home of the king of Italy.

Hitler entered the palace at 9 o'clock after a ride of triumph through the streets of Rome. At least 300,000 Italians packed the line of march. The Fuehrer was visibly awed by the gorgeous ceremony rivaling those of the days of the Cæsars in size and grandeur.

It was the most grandiose welcome one ruler had ever received from another since King Francis I. of France welcomed King Henry VIII. of England at the "field of the cloth of gold" near Calais in 1520.

Spectacle Stirs Hitler.

Hitler, a master showman, turned red with emotion and confusion during the demonstration which far surpassed any event he has organized.

Mussolini used every device imaginable — sound, light, and color — to impress his fellow dictator with Italy's enthusiasm for the Rome-Berlin axis and the Italian capacity for organization. Hundreds of musicians blared out martial music, and thousands of floodlights and fires glittered in the sky.

Hitler's special train rolled into the Ostiense station, which was built in honor of the visitor outside of the city walls in front of St. Paul's gate, at 8:30 o'clock. He was greeted by the king wearing the uniform of field marshal of the Italian empire, and Mussolini, wearing the uniform of honorary corporal of the Fascist militia with a swastika decoration on his breast.

Hitler Rides with King.

Within four minutes the official presentations were over and the German and Italian leaders climbed into horse drawn carriages for the drive to the royal palace. Each carriage held two persons, carefully paired to their corresponding ranks — Hitler with the king, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy, Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, with Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party; Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels of Germany with Propaganda Minister Dino Alfieri of Italy.

A curious feature of the arrangement was that there was no place for Mussolini. He stepped into his automobile and gave the Fascist salute until the carriages passed by. Then his car disappeared up a side street and he left his guest for the night.

Governor Welcomes Fuehrer.

Saluted by troops and Fascist militia, the carriages passed through Adolf Hitler square in front of the station into Adolf Hitler avenue. It halted at St. Paul's gate, the official entrance to the city of Rome. There Hitler was welcomed to the "sacred soil of Rome" by its governor, Prince Colonna.

On his way to Quirinal palace Hitler passed the Colosseum and the Palazzo Venezia [palace of Vienna], which is Mussolini's headquarters. Intertwined swastika flags and the colors of Italy hung from standards surmounted with golden Roman eagles clutching in their talons gigantic swastikas and Fascist fasces.

Roman candelabra were ablaze with lights and gas fed flames mounted from 100 bronze tripods set at 50 feet intervals along the Avenue of Empire.

In front of the colonial ministry 35,000 torches held in men's hands were lighted at once. The Colosseum stood out in the glare of floodlights and Hitler craned his neck for a better view.

Hitler and King Talk.

During the half hour ride to the palace Hitler and the king appeared to be in earnest conversation, with the Italian monarch pointing out objects and giving explanations.

Fascist organizations which had been carefully instructed showed their enthusiasm with deafening roars of welcome, but the mass of ordinary citizens in the background were exceptionally reserved, making little noise and acting like spectators at a play.

When Hitler passed inside the grounds of Quirinal palace bands played "Deutschland Ueber Alles" and the Horst Wessel hymn [song honoring a Nazi martyr] for the last time. The day's festivities were at an end.

Hitler reached Italian soil at 8 o'clock this morning when his special train nosed through Brenner Pass, historic Alpine gateway.

At every town and station in the Trento region which Italy acquired after the world war huge crowds appeared to greet the German dictator. At Bologna more than 50,000 persons fought to get near the station to catch a glimpse of the visitor.

2 CHICAGOANS RECEIVE POSTS ON YALE FACULTY

New Haven, Conn., May 3.—(AP)—President Charles Seymour of Yale university today announced James W. Moore of the University of Chicago law school faculty has been named associate professor of law and William Edward Parsons, Chicago architect, has been appointed associate professor of architecture in the school of fine arts.

Three Illinoisans to Oklahoma.

Norman, Okla., May 3.—(AP)—The University of Oklahoma board of regents today named Dr. Willard Z. Park of Northwestern university as head of the newly combined anthropology and sociology departments, Fritz Frauchiger of the University of Chicago as assistant professor of German and French, and Dr. Orrie Eigsti of the University of Illinois as assistant professor of botany.

VICTIM LEADS POLICEMAN TO STOPLIGHT GANG

A blonde girl and two men who confessed they are a stoplight bandit gang were seized at Ashland avenue and Diversey boulevard early today by Policeman Emmett O'Brien of the Sheffield avenue station.

Held up at the corner by a gunman, Joseph Weinstein of 4940 Winthrop avenue picked up the policeman and drove back. Leaping out with his gun drawn, the policeman seized the robber, Martin Lavelley, 26 years, of 3226 Seminary avenue, and his two companions, Robert Wendt, 27, of 2018 North Keeler avenue, and Miss Viola Palmer, 21, of 2727 Belmont avenue.

Hitler Rides Through Rome in Triumph

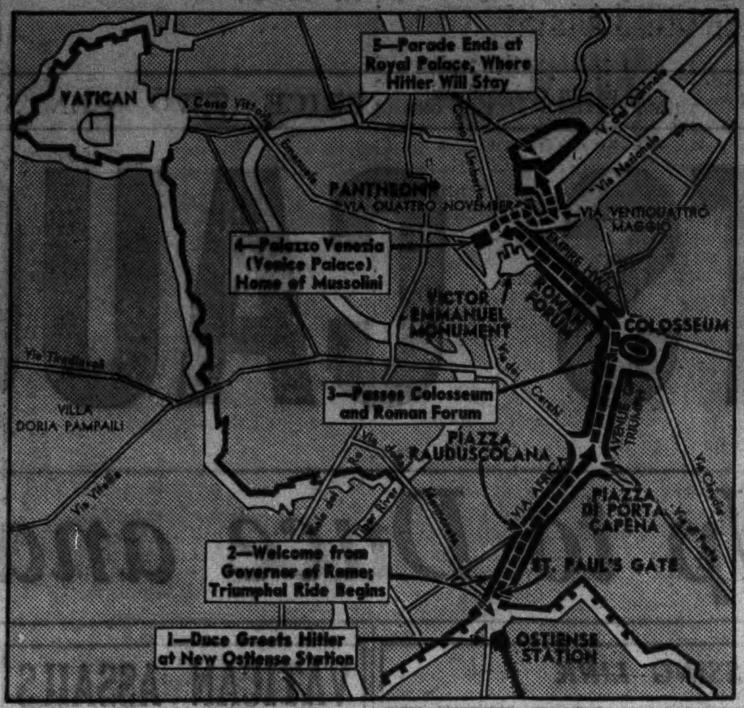

Map illustrates Adolf Hitler's triumphal procession through the streets of Rome yesterday upon his arrival to see Premier Mussolini. Three hundred thousand Italians gathered along the route from the railway station erected in the German dictator's honor to Quirinal palace where he will stay as guest of King Victor Emmanuel. The Fuehrer will confer with Il Duce today.

NAZIS THREATEN TO CHOKE CZECH FOREIGN TRADE

Warn France, Britain Keep Hands Off.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 3.—Though the German press today devoted its columns almost exclusively to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's triumphal reception in Rome, a number of papers found space to continue their attacks upon Czechoslovakia. The future of that country, it was expected, will play an important part in the discussions of the German and Italian dictators.

The newspaper Berliner Nachtausgabe said Germany is in a position to throttle the Czechs' foreign trade if France and Great Britain attempt to carry out their proclaimed intention of increasing purchases in Czechoslovakia and other southeastern European countries to reduce German influence in these territories.

Calls Czech Hopes Illusory.

"The hope of the Czechs to increase their trade volume with America and replace their best customer, Germany, is just as illusory," the paper added.

Pointing out that after the annexation of Austria by Germany the geographical position of Czechoslovakia was "unfavorable" and that all important railroads leading to Czechoslovakia cross Pan-German territory, the Nachtausgabe said:

"Geographically, politically, and economically Czechoslovakia is dependent upon Germany. By increasing freight rates, Germany can prevent the Czechs from selling their wares with any profit, since German railroads and ports are indispensable for Czechoslovakia."

Sees Soviet Threat.

The Berliner Boersenzeitung, organ of the armed forces, joined in the attack on the Czechs in an article headed: "Czechoslovakia an Air Base for Soviet Russia."

Citing Rumanian and Hungarian sources, which reported that 300 soviet Russian bombers recently flew over Rumanian territory into Czechoslovakia, the paper said:

"Since nobody saw them return it must rightly be assumed that already, in peacetime, Russian air force units are garrisoned in Czechoslovakia. This means a serious threat to central Europe."

POLISH FLYERS FIGHT TROOPS ON BICYCLES IN SHAM WARFARE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, May 3.—Polish cavalry exercises were applauded by 100,000 persons in Warsaw today.

The spectators also were thrilled by a sham battle between aviators and soldiers on bicycles, and other displays including those of tanks and bombers.

President Ignace Moscicki reviewed the parade. Marshall Edward Smigly-Rydz, strong man of the army, was absent. He was reported to be taking a vacation in the south of Poland. Foreign Minister Col. Josef Beck returned to Warsaw from a mysterious journey which had puzzled Warsaw diplomats.

Vice Premier Eugene Kwiatkowski said the government would not negotiate with opposition parties unless they join the National Unity party.

BISHOP REFUSES TO VOTE; NAZIS DEMAND HE QUIT

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

STUTTGART, Germany, May 3.—Wilhelm Murr, Nazi governor of Württemberg, today publicly demanded the resignation of Bishop Johann Baptist Sproll of Rottenburg, head of the Roman Catholic church in Württemberg, because he failed to vote in the recent reichstag election and plebiscite on Austrian union with Germany. The demand appeared in the local party organ, National Socialist Kurier. The governor argued that by not voting Bishop Sproll was guilty of a breach of the German-Vatican concordat.

The secret political police informed Bishop Sproll the day after the plebiscite that if he remained in Württemberg they could not "be responsible for his security." This was equivalent to expulsion.

The bishop left Rottenburg immediately, explaining through his coadjutor that he had not voted because he could not support Reichsfuehrer Hitler's reichstag list, which "contained the names of open enemies of the Christian church."

GAG YOURSELF! BRITISH PRESS IS TOLD BY PREMIER

Foreign Governments Are Complaining, He Says.

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, mindful of German and Italian sensibilities, tonight asked members of the newspaper society representing the British press to "abstain from personalities" in commenting on foreign affairs.

H. G. Clarke, the society's president, while echoing the prime minister's wish, countered with a request for assurance that the government is not planning to curtail freedom of the press.

Chamberlain suddenly turned serious after making the usual jests as honor guest of the society's annual dinner.

"It is a fact that foreign governments cannot and will not believe that criticism and comments by papers of this country are not subject of at least tacit acquiescence on the part of the [British] government, if not of their active entire approval," he said.

Insists Press Is Free.

"There has been an increasing tendency for foreign governments to become increasingly sensible to press comments."

He asked the editors to "bear in mind that what they are writing or passing for publication may come under the eye of the man they are criticizing." He added that British press freedom was "a reality which we never at all questioned."

Observers recalled that British press comment on Germany was a burning issue of the abortive Anglo-German conversations among Chamberlain, Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax, and Joachin von Ribbentrop, former German ambassador to London, before Hitler seized Austria.

At that time several semi-official hints were dropped to British newspapers that moderation in foreign affairs commentaries would be helpful. The hints raised some alarm among opposition members in the house of commons.

Ban Story of Duce's Loves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 3.—Because it quoted extracts from a book asserting that Premier Mussolini is the father of at least two illegitimate children and that "as long as Mussolini lives as head of the Italian state the world will know no peace," an issue of News Review, a weekly news magazine, has been banned by the Federation of London Wholesalers under pressure from W. H. Smith & Son, Ltd., booksellers.

There can be no doubt that this action is an act of censorship and has a basic political reason, the Daily Worker charged.

"As has already been revealed, moves to institute a rigid political censorship which shall clamp down on all news, however correct, which places the Fascist dictators in a bad light have been on foot for a considerable time," the Daily Worker said.

Denied by Officials.

"This has been denied by government circles and by those who accept government assurances a little too readily. As the present case indicates, however, there is no reason for a formal government censorship to be introduced when such bodies as W. H. Smith & Son, Ltd., do the necessary work."

"It is well known that W. H. Smith & Son, Ltd., are closely linked with the most reactionary, antidemocratic circles in this country as well as, through Lady Hambleden, with official palace circles."

The extracts for which News Review was banned were from the book entitled, "Mussolini in the Making," by Gaudens Megaro, published by George Allen and Unwin. Megaro is an American citizen, born in New Jersey, a graduate of London university, and now teaching at Harvard university.

EX-KAISER WELCOMES HIS GRANDSON AND PRINCESS TO DOORN

DOORN, The Netherlands, May 3.—(AP)—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II. of Germany smilingly welcomed his grandson, Prince Louis Ferdinand, and the Grand Duchess Kira on the steps of his Doorn house today when the royal couple arrived for their third wedding ceremony.

The prince, a son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Prussia, and his bride, a daughter of Grand Duke Cyril, pretender to the lost throne of old Russia, already have been united by a civil and a Russian Orthodox service.

At Doorn they will be married again in a Protestant ceremony tomorrow.

7 U. S. WOMEN WILL BOW BEFORE BRITISH ROYALTY

Two of Envoy Kennedy's Daughters on List.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 3.—American debutantes and their socially ambitious mammas learned the worst today. They may weep and wail and even gnash their teeth, but nothing will help now.

American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy announced that Mrs. Kennedy would present only seven American women to their Britannic majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, at the first court to be held in Buckingham palace on May 11. Two of these women will be Mrs. Kennedy's own daughters, Rosemary and Kathleen.

List Smallest in History.

Hitherto thirty or forty American women got a chance to bend the knee to British royalty through the offices of the American embassy. Ambassador Kennedy decided to abolish this practice as an undemocratic one.

The list announced today is the smallest one in history, and is very vexing to the British. Besides Kennedy's daughters, all the others except one are wives or daughters of American officials.

The only exception is Miss Rosamond Harris Seidel of Providence, R. I. Her father, Harry G. Seidel, is vice president of an American oil company. Miss Seidel qualifies under Kennedy's ruling in that her father has lived for many years in London.

Others Are Listed.

The others to be presented are:

Mrs. Douglas Jenkins of Charleston, S. C., wife of the American consul general in London.

Mrs. Leslie A. Davis of Port Jefferson, N. Y., wife of the American consul general in Glasgow, Scotland.

Mrs. Warren Lockwood of Washington, D. C., wife of the assistant trade commissioner in the American embassy in London.

Recall Kennedy's Ruling.

On April 6 Kennedy wrote Senator Henry Cabot Lodge [Rep., Mass.] expressing the opinion that court presentations made through the American embassy should be limited to "families of American officials resident in this country and to members of the immediate families of those Americans who are not merely visiting England, but are domiciled here for reasons which would justify the American ambassador in supporting their applications."

Kennedy's ruling, however, seemingly would not bar wives or daughters of other American officials from fawning before royalty.

SUPT. JOHNSON TO MEET UNION TEACHERS JUNE 7

Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson said yesterday that he has arranged a meeting for June 7 with representatives of the Chicago Teachers' union to discuss matters they wish to bring before him. Kermit Eby, executive secretary of the union, said in a letter to the superintendent that the union wants to dicuss reorganization of junior colleges; the report of the union vocational education committee, and a proposal of sick leave with full pay for teachers.

Lion Claws Flyer

Roscoe Turner, speed flyer, and his lion Gilmore, eight years ago when the animal was still a cub.

Roscoe Turner, who in ten years never so much as scratched a finger while setting a score of transcontinental flying records or winning speed races, is in the Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey, recovering from—of all things—a lion bite.

Turner explained last night how his pet African lion, Gilmore, now 8 years old and weighing 400 pounds, bit him while they were playing together two weeks ago at Union Air terminal, Los Angeles.

"Gilmore loves me," he said. "But he's grown pretty big so I can't take him around with me. I keep him in a chromium plated cage out there and every time I get to town I go in and play with him, usually for half an hour or more. But the last time I could only stay ten minutes. When I started to leave Gilmore tried to keep me there. He accidentally tore my shoulder with teeth and claw. He was awfully sorry. I had the wound dressed and came back to Chicago."

By the time Turner arrived here the arm was seriously infected. Dr. Charles B. Alexander, his physician, said it was feared at one time the arm might be lost. Turner is on his way to recovery now, however.

3 OFFER TO SELL HIM AUTO WHEEL; IT'S HIS WHEEL!

James Grimes called the police yesterday when three men tried to sell him the automobile wheel they were rolling down the street. He was on his way home to 6249 Kenwood avenue at the time from the Woodlawn police station, where he had gone to report his car stolen. The wheel belonged to his car.

The men were arrested. They identified themselves as Joseph Sammons, 6247 Harper avenue; Michael Freeley, 6543 Kenwood avenue, and Thomas Faulkner, 6122 Kenwood avenue. The wheel had been given to them, they said, by Arthur Merrick, 6117 Kenwood avenue, in an alley near 63d street and Kenwood avenue. Grimes found the rest of his car there. The police arrested Merrick, who confessed taking it.

TRIBUNE'S MAP OF CHICAGOLAND FOR 1938 ON SALE

The 1938 TRIBUNE map of Chicagoland for motorists is now on sale. It shows all surfaced, improved, and unimproved public roads in the area from Muskegon, Mich., and Madison, Wis., on the north to Lafayette, Ind., on the south, and from White Pigeon, Mich., on the east to Peoria on the west.

The map clearly indicates road symbols, schools, cemeteries, and other landmarks, and includes all forest preserves, golf courses, lakes, airports, and points of interest.

The maps are sold for 25 cents at THE TRIBUNE Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby. By mail, the cost is 30 cents.

SENATORS PUT OVER A $222,000 MILEAGE GRAB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—With a mighty chorus of "ayes," but no tell-tale record vote, the United States senate this afternoon put over a $222,000 congressional mileage grab. By another voice vote, the senate refused to restrict the payment of the mileage [20 cents a mile] to members who actually went to and from their homes between the special session ending Dec. 21 and the regular session beginning Jan. 3.

Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] moved to strike out the entire appropriation for mileage for the present session, arguing that the special session and the present one constituted, for all practical purposes, only one session. Senator Borah supported the amendment, killed today, which would have forbidden payments except for actual travel. This amendment would have cost Borah $1,000, because he did not go home for Christmas. He denounced the mileage grab as a disgrace to the senate and the allowance of 20 cents a mile for traveling expenses, to and from home, as outrageous.

THOMAS FILES KIDNAP CHARGES AGAINST TWO N. J. POLICE OFFICIALS

Newark, N. J., May 3.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, national leader of the Socialist party, today swore out complaints charging two Jersey City police officers with having violated the federal kidnap law in connection with his ejection from Jersey City Saturday night.

The complaints named John J. Underwood, deputy chief inspector, and Henry Gautier, chief of detectives. They charged violation of the kidnap law, conspiracy to violate the law and violation of constitutional liberties.

The complaints charge that Thomas was unlawfully seized, kidnaped, and abducted when police prevented him from speaking at a meeting in Jersey City. He was taken from Journal Square in the heart of the city and placed on a ferry for New York.

KIN OF PIONEER DIES.

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—John J. Hoek, 66 years old, retired postal clerk and descendant of a family of original Dutch settlers in Michigan, died today. His grandfather was John Hoek a member of the party of 27 from the Netherlands, who came in 1850 under the leadership of Paulas Denbleyker.

PEPPER WINNER IN FLORIDA VOTE; WILCOX SECOND

Has Majority of 39,000 Over Four Opponents.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 4 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Florida Democrats renominated United States Senator Claude Pepper in yesterday's primary, approving his pro-Roosevelt policies in the face of opponents' charges that he was the President's "rubber stamp."

Representative J. Mark Wilcox, frequent opponent of administration measures, ran second in the five man contest, but conceded defeat when Pepper ran up a safe majority over the field.

Vote Tops 4 Opponents.

Pepper had a lead of 39,000 over the combined vote of his four opponents. This definitly assured him the Democratic nomination without a runoff May 24. Florida law requires a majority vote for nomination.

Florida Republicans chose between Thomas Swanson of Fort Lauderdale and Allen Walker of Winter Haven for their United States senate nominee. Twelve precincts in Pinellas county, the first reports received, gave Walker 199 and Swanson 124.

Five Way Alabama Race.

Birmingham, Ala., May 3.—(AP)—Early returns tonight gave Frank M. Dixon, Birmingham attorney and world war aviator, a commanding lead over four opponents for the Alabama governorship, in today's Democratic primary. He was leading his nearest opponent by 2 to 1.

Vote forecasts ran as high as 350,000, a record figure for Alabama. The lengthy ticket made counting slow, with most large city boxes likely to require at least 24 hours.

Former United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin attempted a political comeback as a candidate against Representative Joe Starnes in the 5th congressional district. Heflin was trailing Starnes on first returns. The vote was 700 to 292.

HORNER MEMBERS ACT TO ORGANIZE NEW COMMITTEE

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Horner members of the new Democratic state central committee have taken the initiative in organizing the committee, although in the minority.

It was learned tonight that twelve downstate committeemen, all identified with the governor's faction, have issued a call for the organization of the committee at a meeting here on May 12. They took this action in the belief that the retiring chairman of the committee, Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville, was allowing the 20 day limit after the primary for issuing the call to pass without doing so. Last midnight, May 2, was the final day for Campbell to act, the Horner committeemen believe.

It is understood that Chairman Campbell's interpretation of the law is that the period extends from the issuance of the election certificates of the committeemen, which have not been issued.

There was some question here tonight whether the Cook county committeemen, who have a majority vote on the committee, will participate in the meeting called by the Hornerites.

DEMOCRATS PICK HORNER'S CHOICE FOR JUDGESHIP

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—On the fourth ballot and with the reputed support of Gov. Henry Horner, Joseph Lyons McLaughlin of Sullivan, a Circuit court judge, tonight was nominated by the Democratic convention of the third Supreme court district to succeed to the late Justice Lott R. Herrick of Farmer City.

Republicans of the 3d district will hold their nominating convention in Decatur on Friday, and apparently will make a choice between two men—Frank K. Lemon of Clinton, former United States attorney, and Walter T. Gunn of Danville. The election will be held on June 27.

TODAY IS TENTH LILAC TIME FOR CITY'S SHUT-INS

clad workers visit 1,000 poor homes a day, "and asking if it were true that the frost had killed the lilacs this year. I assured them it was not.

"Our people look forward from year to year for just this time," she continued. "They have very little that is bright unless it is taken to them. They have no flowers, nor any way to get to them. Our old people," she sighed, "they so love the purple lilac shades."

Even a Few Would Help.

Said Sister Janina at St. Joseph's Home for the Aged and Crippled: "If we can just have a few, to put here and there in the hall, that will be a plenty if they are scarce this year, but everybody does love them so."

And Superintendent Edna H. Nelson at Women and Children's hospital: "They've been talking about the lilacs for a week now. Some were afraid they'd be dismissed before the lilacs came. Many times, you know, they are their only flowers."

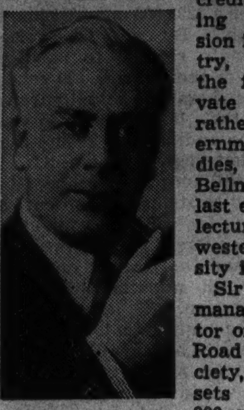
And Warden Michael Zimmer at Cook county hospital: "We have 3,000 people waiting for your lilacs. Our patients rarely see anything very pretty, and they really appreciate these."

Before the week is over an estimated 20,000 persons will have lilacs. in the two days spoke yesterday. For their people, these officials said, are waiting—and eagerly—for the lilacs.

"Our people have been worrying for weeks," declared Miss Mary Westphall, superintendent of the Visiting Nurses' association, whose quiet, gray-

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE CREDITED WITH BOOM IN BRITISH BUILDING

Great Britain's home building boom between 1931 and 1937, which is given credit for breaking the depression in that country, was largely the fruit of private enterprise rather than government subsidies, Sir Harold Bellman declared last evening in a lecture at Northwestern university in Evanston.



Sir Harold Bellman.

Sir Harold is managing director of the Abbey Road Building society, whose assets of $250,000,000 make it the second largest building and loan organization in the world.

Since 1920, he said, Great Britain has built three and a third million homes. About a million were provided by local authorities, usually with state subsidies, while of 2,400,000 built by private enterprise, only about 400,000 were subsidized.

While subsidies were justified within limits, Sir Harold said, they were always expensive and always wasteful.

RECORD BALLOT SLOWS TALLY IN INDIANA PRIMARY

Sullivan Leads Race for Indianapolis Mayor.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—[Special.]—Reginald H. Sullivan, the state Democratic machine's candidate for mayor of Indianapolis, was leading his opponents tonight in early returns from a record vote cast today in Indiana primaries.

The extremely heavy vote and ponderous ballots that contained the names of hundreds of candidates slowed the count so much that poll officials expressed doubt that any substantial returns would be available before morning.

Reports from scattered precincts in Indianapolis showed Sullivan, sponsored by the McNutt-Townsend-Minton machine, leading his nearest rival two to one in his fight for the job he once held. Twenty-five precincts gave him 3,812 votes and his closest opponent, Sherif Otto Ray, 1,647. Herman Wolff led the Republican race.

71,000 Vote in Lake County.

Hot local contests brought out swarms of voters throughout Indiana, especially in Lake county, where it was estimated a record of 71,000 votes were cast. About half of those ballots were marked in Gary, a record for that city by about 10,000 votes over the 25,928 ballots cast in the 1934 primary.

The large Gary vote was attributed to the mayoralty fight there. Five Republicans and three Democrats contested for the office of Mayor L. B. Clayton, a candidate for renomination.

On the enormous ballots today were hundreds of names of aspirants for nominations for congress, legislative and municipal offices, and candidates for delegates to state party conventions. The convention delegates will select the senatorial and major state office candidates, the Republicans June 28-29, and Democrats, July 11-12.

Van Nuys Still in Race.

Out of favor with the Democratic machine because he opposed President Roosevelt's court packing bill, Senator Frederick Van Nuys did not seek delegate support today. Previously he had announced that he would run as an independent in November if denied renomination by the convention.

Samuel D. Jackson, Fort Wayne lawyer, and Alex Gordon, Indianapolis labor leader, are avowed candidates for the Democratic nomination for senator.

Tonight there were reports here that the McNutt-Townsend-Minton statehouse machine was giving thought to a proposal to renominate McNutt and thus avoid a factional fight in the party with a possibility of losing thousands of votes and perhaps permitting Republican congressional candidates to slip in.

The veteran James E. Watson, now 73 years old, whose long congressional career was broken by the 1932 Democratic landslide, and Walter Bossert, Liberty lawyer and former Ku Klux Klan official, are campaigning actively for the Republican senatorial nomination.

Congressional Contests.

Representatives William T. Schulte, 1st district; Glenn Griswold, 5th district, and Virginia Jenckes, 6th district, all Democrats, got away to early leads over their opponents for renomination. All are supporters of the Roosevelt administration.

Of the three, the state's only congresswoman appeared to be in for the closest race. First returns put Paul Sturm of Dana ahead, but Mrs. Jenckes overcame his lead as later returns were received from her home county, Vigo. Griswold appeared certain of renomination, having nearly a 3 to 1 lead over Marvin D. Myers of Michigantown, but Schulte's margin over two opponents was not so decisive.

Other congressional incumbents seeking reëlection, including the state's only Republican congressman, Representative Charles E. Halleck of the 2d district, were unopposed.

In the 3d district, where Representative Samuel B. Pettengill did not seek a fourth term, George N. Beamer, St. Joseph county prosecutor, was off to a big lead over four opponents for the Democratic nomination. Robert Grant, South Bend lawyer, who campaigned against the New Deal, was leading for the 3d district's Republican nomination.

Richard T. James of Portland and Forest A. Harness, Kokomo lawyer, who was a federal prosecutor in the Insull case, were running neck and neck for the Republican nomination in the 5th district.

Former Governor Ahead.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 3.—(AP)—Former Gov. Tom Berry established an early lead of more than two to one in the Democratic senatorial contest in unofficial tabulations of returns from today's primary, while Gov. Leslie Jensen was locked in a tight struggle with Chan Gurney for the Republican nomination, with Gurney leading.

Aids Death Inquiry

Miss Lois Nash, friend of Paul Maclean, University of Chicago writer, who is helping police in hunt for his murderers.

Miss Lois Nash, sweetheart of Paul Davidson Maclean, sports writer on the press relations staf of the University of Chicago, who was slain early Monday morning, and Norman Maclean, brother of the victim, coöperated yesterday with police in trying to trace the events preceding the murder. Investigators admitted they were still without a tangible clew or motive in the mysterious crime.

Norman Maclean.

Miss Nash, who is 29 years old and lives at 5143 Kenwood avenue, said she had known Maclean for two months and they planned to marry. She and Maclean spent Sunday afternoon and evening together and he left her at her apartment at 10:15 that night, telling her he was going to his room at 6234 Ingleside avenue. At 5:30 Monday morning he was found fatally beaten in the alley between Eberhart and Rhodes avenue, just south of 62d street.

Norman Maclean, an instructor on the Midway, said he had not seen his brother since last Tuesday, but knew he had been with Miss Nash on Sunday. The inquest was continued to May 24.

HOUSE CREATES 24 ADDITIONAL U. S. JUDGESHIPS

Only 16 Are Needed for Lifetime Jobs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—A bill giving President Roosevelt power to appoint twenty-four additional federal judges was approved by the house today, despite charges that at least eight of the judgeships were unnecessary and created for political reasons. The vote was 117 to 37.

A similar measure has passed the senate and minor differences are expected to be straightened out quickly and the bill sent to the White House.

Members sought vainly during the debate for information concerning the number of vacancies on the federal bench which the President has not filled. Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, said information was not immediately available.

Only Five Vacancies.

At the department of justice it was learned that only five vacancies now exist; one in Delaware, one in Alabama, one in Kentucky, one in Louisiana, and one in South Carolina.

Representative Earl C. Michener [R., Mich.] led the opposition to the bill. He said a law was passed in 1922 providing that a judicial conference, consisting of the senior circuit judge of each judicial circuit, should convene each year and consider the needs of each circuit.

This conference met last September and concluded that 16 additional judges were advisable, Michener said. No more than 16 additional judges were required, the judges reported.

Seven $12,500 Jobs.

The bill authorizes the President to appoint six additional circuit judges at a salary of $12,500 each and a new associate justice of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia at $12,500. The remaining district judges received $10,000 a year.

"After these new judges take the oath of office they will serve during good behavior, which means for life unless removed by impeachment," Michener said.

New Black Angus Hefers

Ten black Angus hefers are now residents of the Tribune's DuPage county farm. Frank Ridgway's article on page 11 of today's Tribune tells about these frisky youngsters, the 80 spring lambs on the farm, and the prospects for a fruit crop.

On this page also are the farm lands want ads which each week day appear adjacent to the farm article.

POSSE CAPTURES FOUR FUGITIVE INDIANA FELONS

Authorities said they would compare the convicts' stories with those of Steffler and two others seized with Steffler. They are John Huellett, another ex-convict, and Dorothy Postan, a red headed friend of Steffler.

Breining was overpowered as he waited in his car to meet a young woman friend six blocks from the prison. Fearful that he would give the alarm, the convicts, who had made a hole in the bottom of a freight car and hidden in the car until it was shunted out of the prison yard, forced Breining to accompany them as they fled. They held him prisoner for six hours as they drove over little traveled roads of Indiana and Illinois, and finally forced him from the car near Kankakee.

Radio System Aids Capture.

Breining's delay in reaching the police with the alarm enabled the convicts to get away before roads could be blockaded by the radio system now ready for such emergencies. The radio system, nevertheless, was credited with an important part in the capture since it forced the convicts to keep off the main highways and enabled the authorities to locate them.

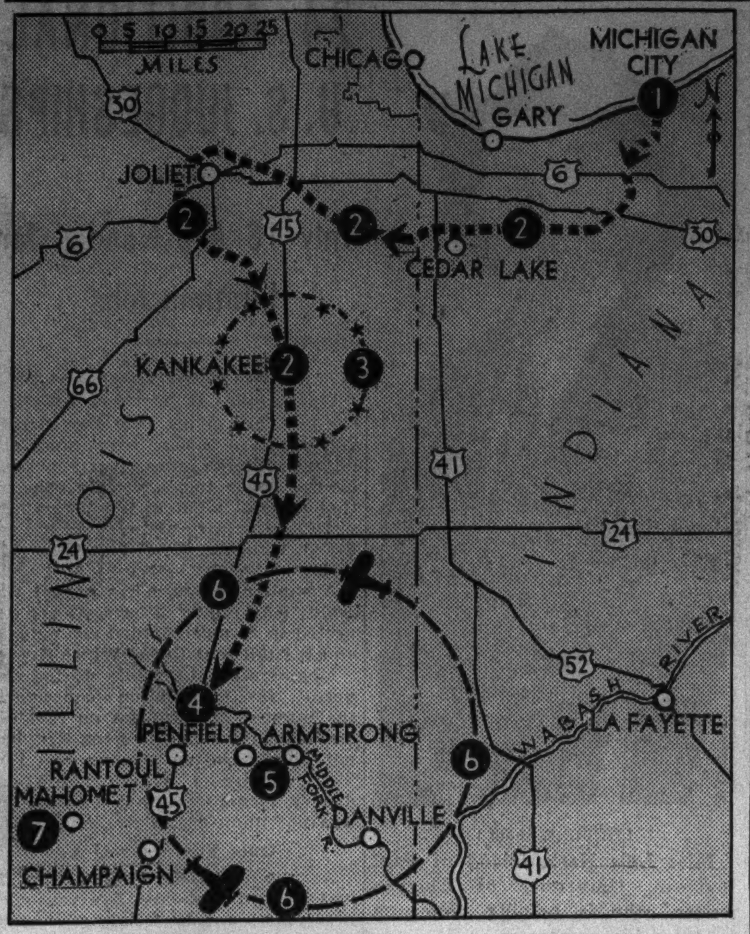
Even after the active search was halted by darkness tonight 500 farmers who had been apprised that the convicts were in the vicinity were keeping vigilant guard until the capture was made.

Sherif Roth said Warden Louis E. Kunkel of the Michigan City prison had advised him by telephone of plans to come to Champaign tomorrow night to pick up the prisoners.

Before the search ended an investigation of the escape was started by Warden Kunkel and Deputy Warden L. C. Schmuhl. They said they wanted to know why the absence of the men was not detected for over three hours.

All except Powell were detailed to work in the prison soap shop. Officer Jack Cunningham has the supervision of thirty men there and Warden Kunkel said he should have noticed that three were missing.

Capture Four Escaped Convicts



1—Four prisoners escape at Michigan City and kidnap Melvin Breining in his auto. 2—Convicts free Breining two miles west of Kankakee. 3—Illinois state police radio puts blockade around Kankakee. 4—Abandoned car of convicts found five miles north of Rantoul, Ill. 5—Federal Agent William Ramsey and suspected bank bandit fatally shot in gun battle in hideout in river bank home on Middle Fork river. One of bank robber suspects found to be brother-in-law of one escaped convict, Frank Mears. 6—Plane with state police thrown into the search over seventy-five mile radius. 7—Four are captured near Mahomet, Ill.

Why Wait A Year to Save on Car Insurance?

This Man Saves Deserving Drivers Up to 25% and Gives Them Their Saving IN ADVANCE!

HE IS YOUR AMERICAN AUTO AGENT OR BROKER!

Equally important, he offers ironclad protection, backed by the oldest and largest insurers of automobiles exclusively

THERE'S no need to wait—to save on car insurance! There's no need to pay high rates now—and hope that the end of the year will bring you a possible "dividend" or "reward." If you are a careful driver and entitled to lower insurance cost under American Auto's Selective Underwriting Plan, you can save immediately, when you pay your premium. And through your American Auto Agent or Broker you get unexcelled protection, besides.

You save, because our selected careful drivers have fewer accidents. Therefore our losses are smaller, our costs lower, our rates lower to you.

What's more, you get more complete, personalized protection and service than many other insurers provide. Your American Auto Agent or Broker considers your individual insurance needs carefully, recommends coverage without oversights or loopholes, and uses his expert knowledge to protect you from costly uninsured losses. And you get the extra advantage of American Auto's nationwide claims organization, ready to give you speedy aid wherever accident strikes.

So why go on paying the high rates required to cover reckless drivers' crashes? Why wait for a possible year-end "dividend" or refund—when you can have a sure cash saving now? Why not get this saving, by insuring with deserving drivers only through your American Auto Agent or Broker today?

But here's a note of warning! Don't expect this saving, this personal care, or this extra protection if you "deal direct" with an insurance company. You may get "just a policy," without the coverage you need to protect you from possible losses. For immediate saving—with safety—see your American Auto Agent or Broker today.

Deal With Accredited Agents and Brokers to Protect Your Insurance Investment

To be sure of proper coverage, complete safety, and experienced personal service, place your insurance through an Accredited Agent or Broker. He can recommend insurance—stock insurance, of course—exactly fitted to your individual needs. And in case of accident, he is your representative, ready to relieve you of troublesome details. So why take the risk of "dealing direct" with a non-agency company? Because we know how important the personal service of your Broker or Agent can be to you, American Auto deals only through these accredited representatives.

MADRID SHELLED 3 TIMES IN DAY; 50 CIVILIANS DIE

British Embassy Struck by Projectiles.

MADRID, May 3.—(AP)—At least fifty persons were killed and many injured today when rebel artillery bombarded the city three times. It was estimated that more than 600 shells fell during the attacks.

Streets were crowded with home-going workers when an attack was made at 5:30 p. m. A married couple hurrying home to take their children to the basement were killed at their doorstep. Two shells hit the British embassy building and the British consul's home was struck three times, but no one was hurt.

Rain Puts Out Fires.

The third shelling began while subways were jammed with persons eager to get home before the curfew hour. After nightfall fires started in several ruins, but were extinguished by rain.

Shells fell in all parts of the city, but the central and northwestern sections were hardest hit. Ambulances dashed about the streets from the time the first shells fell. Victims were taken to emergency hospitals, while rescue workers with flashlights searched the ruins far into the night.

Rebels Gain Three Villages.

HENDAYE, France.—[At the Spanish Frontier], May 3.—(AP)—Mechanized Spanish rebel units slashed deep into government territory east of Teruel today, capturing three villages and advancing within striking distance of the highway to the sea. By seizing Allepuz, which is fifteen miles south of Aliaga, the rebels gained control of a highway network traversing the mountains east of Teruel.

POLICE JUDGE DIES.

Anna, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Andrew J. Pickrell, 84 years old, city police magistrate, died here today. He was an active Republican, a former postmaster here, and a Mason.

FRANCE DECREES A BIGGER ARMY, NAVY, AIR FORCE

Also Orders Building of New Warships.

PARIS, May 3.—(AP)—France today met a new show of Italian-German solidarity by ordering a bigger army, navy, and air force. The national defense cabinet of Premier Edouard Daladier issued a decree calling for more sailors, soldiers, and aviators.

Daladier also opened a new credit of $141,375,000 for national defense and said it would be used to strengthen the nation's military and naval man power. This was in addition to the previous 1938 defense budget of $750,000,000.

Authorize New Warships.

The step was part of a series of decrees which boosted France's annual tax bill by $120,000,000 through a flat 8 per cent increase in all direct and hidden taxes.

In addition the naval ministry was authorized to begin construction before Dec. 31, 1939, of two battleships, one cruiser, seven submarines, five oil tankers, and a number of auxiliary craft. The navy was empowered to spend, from 1938 to 1942, a total of $150,000,000 on ship construction and purchase of war stocks.

Plan New Merchant Ships.

War man power would be increased by incorporating an unstated number of reserve officers into the regular army, boosting the navy from 69,500 to 72,500 men and the air force from 44,000 to 52,500 noncommissioned officers and men. Two new battalions of Senegalese sharpshooters, among the best of colonial troops, would be created.

A new decree which will be published tomorrow opens the way for construction of merchant ships totaling 500,000 tons in the next five years. The government decided such a measure was essential to assure adequate shipping facilities in time of war.

League Group Urges Safety Zones for Children in War

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, May 3.—The league of nations advisory committee on social questions today proposed neutral zones to protect children in time of war. It suggested that every belligerent country have three zones where "children might be brought together, maintained and provided with necessary medical attention by their respective governments, and be immune from bombardment, gas, and all other war perils."

FRANCE TO WAR ON SPIES; PLANS DEATH PENALTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 3.—France, following the example of some of its neighbors, plans to make death the penalty for espionage even in peacetime.

Its lenient policy and the present political tension have resulted in thousands of spies of various nationalities swarming over its territory.

Under the law of 1935, treason was considered in France merely a crime to be treated by the criminal courts. It was divided into minor and major crimes. Punishment rarely exceeded five years in jail.

For instance, today Mme. Suzanne Linder, a secretary in the foreign office until she was arrested in December, 1936, was sentenced to eight months in prison for forging identification papers for a Lithuanian, Michael Rosenfeld.

WIFE SOUGHT IN SLAYING.

Mrs. Marie Smith, colored, 38 years old, was being sought by the police yesterday as the slayer of her husband, George, who was found fatally stabbed Sunday in their home at 4608 Indiana avenue.

Fast Wasted Preacher Is Regaining His Health

Beaufort, N. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The Very Rev. Israel Harding Noe gradually is regaining the weight he lost during the religious fast that caused him to be removed from the deanship of St. Mary's cathedral in Memphis last January. He came to Beaufort, his native town, to regain his health. He has gained sixty-five pounds and now weighs 171. His mother, Mrs. Susannah C. Noe, 87 years old, rolls to church in her wheelchair to hear him preach as a guest minister.

SECOND JAP DRIVE NEAR COLLAPSE, CHINESE ASSERT

Begin General Offensive of Their Own.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, May 4 [Wednesday].—(AP)—A general Chinese offensive all along the south Shantung front was declared by the Chinese command to have smashed through the center of the Japanese lines at Taierchwang today and to have advanced 12 miles.

SHANGHAI, May 4 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Chinese asserted today the second Japanese offensive in southern Shantung province, the pivotal front of the war, was on the verge of collapse.

Crushing of the first drive last month was the most disastrous defeat of a modern Japanese army. Now, Chinese declare they are ready to send 800,000 troops against the reenforced Japanese legions which, they say, are wearied to exhaustion and again running short of munitions.

Reports from Hankow said sensational Chinese lunges had broken the Shantung stalemate and the great offensive already had been launched to take advantage of the gains. War dispatches said Japanese lines had been pierced for a distance of seven miles between Taierchwang, where the first Japanese offensive came to grief, and Pihsien, which is fifteen miles to the southeast in Kiangsu province.

1,000 Die in Close Fighting.

Chinese declared Japanese suffered heavy casualties and were fighting a rearguard action to cover a northward retreat from their salient aimed at the vital east-west Lunghai railroad.

In the Tancheng sector, twenty-two miles north of the Lunghai on the eastern side of the narrow Japanese salient, Chinese declared 1,000 Japanese had died in fierce hand to hand encounters.

Matowchen, six miles to the northwest, they said, was being beseiged and Tancheng itself was completely encircled, blocking the Japanese from any attempt to sidestep to the east to escape a frontal attack on their broken central lines.

Ends Bloody Deadlock.

The reported Chinese gains indicated the end of a bloody deadlock on the central front. They also met a new obstacle against an apparent shift of Japanese strength toward the west. Indications of major warfare in the vicinity of Hanchwang, where the north-south Tientsin-Pukow railroad crosses the Grand canal, had been seen in the movement of reinforcements of both sides in that direction.

New friction between Japanese and British broke out in Shanghai. The Domei [Japanese] News agency said Japan would protest to Great Britain against the alleged interference of six British soldiers with fixed bayonets who prevented Japanese gendarmes from searching a truck carrying munitions.

American Aviator Detained by Japanese Sails for Home

YOKOHAMA, Japan, May 3.—(AP)—Elwyn Gibbon, American aviator who recently was held for six days in a Japanese jail, sailed on the liner President Taft today for San Francisco. Gibbon, while en route from China to his home in Seattle, was taken off the liner Empress of Asia here for questioning concerning his service with China's foreign "flying legion."

Boy Swimmer Is Taken Ill in Lagoon; Drowns

Martin Walsh, 15 years old, 2546 West Marquette road, was drowned last night when he became ill while swimming in the Marquette park lagoon at 70th street and Spaulding avenue. Four other boys who had accompanied him notified police, who began dragging for the body, which was recovered early today.

Chinese troops on the Lunghai railway front yesterday pierced Japanese lines between Taierchwang and Pihsien (1) and advanced seven miles northward. Matowchen was reported besieged (2) and 1,000 Japanese killed in Tancheng fighting. Both sides moved reinforcements to Hanchwang sector (3).

TOKIO ORDERS REGISTRATION OF ALL CITIZENS

TOKIO, May 3.—(AP) — All adults must register with police under a section of the national mobilization law which the government is ready to invoke on Thursday.

Yielding to the cry of the military for use of the war measure during the Chinese conflict, it was announced today that eleven of the thirty articles and three of the twenty provisions for punishment of offenders would be promulgated.

The registration requires details of business, bank accounts and experience in various lines of work. Another section empowers the government to examine records of any commercial enterprise. The multi-powered law gives the government sweeping control of private life and industry in time of war.

COUNCIL TO GET 4 BUILDING CODE CHAPTERS TODAY

Four new chapters in Chicago's revised building code will be submitted to the city council today with the recommendation by the building and zoning committee that they be passed to spur construction of dwellings and small multiple apartment houses. These cover floor and roof construction, trussed steel joists, materials, and various types of buildings.

The code has been in the process of revision for more than a decade. Nine chapters dealing with factories and large buildings have been passed. There are 58 chapters, covering 1,500 pages, in the complete code.

LABOR M. P. ASKS IF WINDSOR GETS PAY AS ADMIRAL

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—The duke of Windsor's name was heard in parliament today for the first time in eleven months when a labor member asked if the former king was receiving a salary from the British armed forces.

J. R. Leslie, the questioner, said he would ask Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, tomorrow "What position the duke of Windsor holds in the navy, army, or air force and the amount of any emoluments he receives from those positions."

The duke, it was understood, still ranks as an admiral of the fleet, field marshal and air marshal, but he lost special seniority, which was his as king, when he abdicated. Windsor's name had not been mentioned in the house of commons since last June 3, when a laborite asked—without getting a reply—if the government was congratulating the duke on his wedding.

GREAT BRITAIN OFFERS A 21 YEAR TERM FOR ARMY 'CAREER MEN'

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—Leslie Hore-Belisha, Great Britain's innovation loving war secretary, today announced a new twenty-one year term for British army "career men."

It will be open to men between the ages of 18 and 24. Pensions of at least $3.50 a week will follow a regular twelve year enlistment, with an optional nine year reënlistment.

Hore-Belisha estimated that the plan, which also offers increased pay and better family allowances, would cost 10 million dollars a year.

FARMER KILLS HIMSELF.

Coldwater, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—Lewis Russell, 55 years old, a farmer of this community, killed himself at his home today with a shot gun. Despondency over the recent death of his wife was said to have prompted the act.

HAPPINESS POSTPONED

By CALEB

A LITTLE girl that we know spends a good deal of her time living in the future. She is fascinated, somehow, by the prospect of doing and being the things older girls and grownups are. Sometimes in her preoccupation she loses sight of the many pleasant things a little girl can do that no one else can.

Perhaps the mistake we see her making is common to a good many of us. Sometimes we surrender the bird of today, in hand, for the gaudier plumage of two for tomorrow—in a far off bush.

Tomorrow we will have more money—we'll be able to travel a lot. Later we'll have our own house—then we can really live. Next year we'll have a new car—and get rid of this old "jalopy." All very well—for these things are well worth while, and the intelligent effort used in getting them is a wholesome exercise.

Meanwhile, let us live. "Life," says an ancient Greek adage, "is the gift of nature; but beautiful living is the gift of wisdom." Therefore, successful living is an art, dependent upon inward qualities and not upon outward things. This is not to speak lightly of troubles, or to belittle the economic problems that beset so many of us today. Rather, it is to help build them carefully as small stones into the bigger mosaic pattern of life.

To the possessor of some great artistic concept things are unimportant. The artist or the philosopher instinctively moves himself away from things. To him they represent distracting, if unimportant, elements. Again, note how intensely he lives each day—for itself alone. Of course he anticipates the completion of the painting, book, treatise on philosophy, design, or whatever his project may be but each day he lives for itself.

It is not given to all of us to be great artists. It is given us to observe and profit by the example of those who create concepts or things of lasting value. If we cannot be so disdainful as they are of life's common comforts and possessions, we can at least observe that these things are not essential to happiness or lasting achievement.

We can live today to the fullest without losing sight of responsibility for tomorrow. The man who through worry for tomorrow neglects today, already gives a hostage which he must reclaim tomorrow, perhaps at an exorbitant price.

DEMANDS LABOR BOARD OUSTER FOR UNFAIRNESS

Senator Burke Blames Abuses for Slump.

phia today that the board show cause why it should not file the complete record in its case against the Republic Steel corporation.

The board has petitioned the court for leave to withdraw its charge that the Republic company violated the Wagner act in order to reopen the case and give the employer a fair hearing, as construed by the Supreme court last week in the Kansas City stockyards case. In this and similar action in the Ford case the board has thus confessed the injustice to employers of the procedure it has followed.

Cites Loss of Confidence.

"Impartial observers," said Senator Burke in his address, "have reached the conclusion that this breakdown in the relationship between employers and employés is chief among the causes of the fear, confusion, and loss of confidence which led to the precipitous drop in production and trade and employment.

"If this is so we are addressing ourselves now to Public Enemy No. One. It is shocking to even suggest that a prominent agency of the federal government, vested with unprecedented powers in the enforcement of a federal statute, has either sponsored or recorded its approval of acts that have caused savage strife and inflicted on the country the horrors of an appalling depression.

"Fear of the inquisitorial activities of this agency has spread like a blight over management, workers, and investors of capital. The administration of the national labor relations act has been such as to snuff out the fires of industry and send millions of workers into the line of the unemployed.

Points to Organized Strife.

"In the name of a law that was heralded as the workers' Magna Charta, there has been open encouragement to professionally organized strife. This has driven a wedge between workmen and managers in industry and has resulted in the exploitation of wage earners for the advancement of a selfish and mistaken minority.

"As the law is being administered there is no chance for the development of that friendly feeling of mutual interest between workers and management that must prevail if any business venture is to have a chance of real success.

"How can you hope for such friendly relationship when it is decreed that the employer must not talk to the men in the shop concerning their problems. If he does he may find himself guilty of an unfair labor practice or a holding that he has attempted to interfere with the freedom of his employés. He must be careful not to grant a voluntary wage increase or a vacation with pay. For this has been held by the labor board to be a subtle means of discouraging unionization.

Denounces Board's Purpose.

"Here we have the key to the policy of the labor board. It considers itself an agency whose chief aims it must be to bring about as quickly as possible compulsory unionization. Its purpose in life is to accomplish a national closed shop. The very fact that not more than 7 or 8 million workers out of a total of 35 or 40 million have seen fit to become dues paying members of trade unions is proof conclusive to this federal agency that employers are intimidating and coercing their employés.

"They close their eyes to the truth that among the workers of the nation there is every shade of opinion, from the millions who are stanch union men by conviction and as the result of experience, to other millions who are indifferent, and still others who are bitterly opposed to both the theory and the practice of unionism.

Defends Right of Free Choice.

"In this democratic nation each group has a right to its own ideas and should be protected in the exercise of that right. To join or not to join should be the free choice of the [illegible] worker. Liberty loving American workmen will not long countenance any other policy."

In the case of the sitdown strike at the plant of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation at North Chicago, the board, said the senator, was guilty of ignoring the Supreme court's denunciation of resort to mob rule.

"What do you think," he asked, "the board has done in this case? Ordered the company to put back on the job every one of the men who, in clear and open violation of law, seized company property, held it illegally, damaged and destroyed it to the tune of thousands of dollars, and were convicted and served sentences as law breakers."

Calls for Resignations.

"What is the country going to do about this deplorable situation?" he concluded. "The first thing that would greatly help would be to secure a new board to administer the law. There is such a lack of confidence in the board as now constituted that its members should present their resignation, effective at once. If they have not the good sense to do that they should be asked to step aside.

"A new board should be created composed of outstanding men who understand the problems of labor and of management. Above all, the new members should be without bias, strong in their determination to restore friendly relations between workers and management, while protecting in the fullest degree the right of employés to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, free from intimidation or coercion from any source."

But not only the board but the act must be changed, the senator argued, as he proceeded to explain the amendments essential to placing employers on the same footing as employés with regard to unfair labor practices.

James A. Farrell, former chairman og the United States Steel corporation, told the convention that what business needs now is an atmosphere of quiet and calm in which to concentrate on the task of rehabilitation.

BIG FISH ELUDE ROOSEVELT; OFF TO NEW WATERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Charleston, S. C., May 3.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was off the coast of Puerto Rico tonight en route to Sombrero Island where he hopes for better fishing luck.

The President had a poor day with the rod at Samana Bay, according to a radio message received here from his secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre. The presidential party of six caught a small string of which two red snappers were the outstanding items.

The U. S. S. Philadelphia moved into the lee of Cape Rafael and in Samana bay where small boats were lowered for fishing. The party fished for several hours. Shortly after noon Mr. Roosevelt returned to the cruiser and started for Sombrero where he expects to arrive tomorrow morning.

Rear Admiral William H. Allen, commander of the Charleston navy yard, today was preparing estimates of the cost of restoring the S. S. Hartford, flagship of Admiral Farragut, civil war hero, with WPA money. President Roosevelt told him last Saturday the moldering craft was in bad shape and should be repaired. Allen replied there was no money and Roosevelt said send the bill to him and he would put it through.

VINCENNES RAID ON PRESS STIRS CITIZENS' WRATH

Discuss Possibilities of Federal Action.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—[Special.] —As a sample of press censorship of which Senator Sherman Minton has become exponent in Washington, events in Vincennes today centered in the question whether a counter-attack would be made. Printer Walter A. Ewing, whose shop was raided and his type confiscated Saturday night on orders of Mayor Joseph W. Kimmel, said he did not plan to bring any prosecution.

Some lawyers here mulled over the question of whether Ewing might be able to prosecute under the kidnaping statute. Others held there was ground for court action on the charge of confiscation of private property, entry without search warant, and violation of constitutional rights.

Agrees to Drop Matter.

In Vincennes, however, Mr. Ewing said he had made a "gentlemen's agreement" with Mayor Kimmel yesterday that charges would be dropped by both sides and the matter forgotten.

Ewing, it was explained by indignant Vincennes citizens, is somewhat a victim of circumstances, as the prosperity of his plant depends considerably upon contracts for public printing, such as ballots. Ewing said he would be bound by the agreement, and it would stand unless the mayor's side violated it. He is wrathful over his treatment.

"They forcibly entered my place of business, as I said, on Sunday," he said, "although I had posted on the gate it was not to be entered, as ballots were being printed.

"This action was against the constitutional rights of freedom of the press and the right of a citizen to security in his home and business place against search and seizure without warants and due process of law. I am resting on my oars and am carrying out my part of the agreement that all charges be dropped by both sides."

Discuss Federal Action.

Both in Indianapolis and Vincennes there was explosive comment that the raid ordered by Mayor Kimmel upon Ewing's print shop for printing a campaign circular criticizing the mayor, who was a candidate for state senator in today's primaries, was a symptom of dictatorship.

Dr. J. H. Hammon of Vincennes expressed the belief that court action could be brought against the mayor and Chief of Police Noel Swayze under the federal laws. There was no question of whether an action in federal courts would stand. Some advanced the theory that as candidates for the house in congress were on the primary ballots, a federal office, the federal statutes would apply.

"This raid in Vincennes," said Dr. Hammon in Vincennes, "is an exhibition of dictatorship."

"In Europe, Hitler and Mussolini as their first steps towards dictatorship muzzled the press and destroyed freedom of the press."

Meanwhile Melvin Ferguson and Paul Massey, the two pamphlet distributors arrested in Vincennes, were awaiting a hearing in City court Monday morning by a special judge. They are to be defended by John M. Grayson and John Ramsey. Grayson is a candidate for county chairman on the Republican ticket. The $1,000 bonds for each man were signed by members of the group known as the "Kimmel machine busters." The two men are ordinary handbill passers, having city licenses for that sort of employment.

The type which the police confiscated from the Ewing plant has been returned. Ewing has said there was no physical violence in the raid and that he was served with notice to appear in court, but that the whole procedure was political "hi-jacking" aimed at freedom of the press.

In Indianapolis the events in Vincennes served to sharpen up the old shouts against the McNutt-Minton-Townsend statehouse machine as a "dictatorship." Among supporters of Senator Frederick Van Nuys, who has been slated for political banishment by the machine because he opposed the Roosevelt court packing bill, dictatorship is to be an issue in the coming campaign in which Van Nuys has said he will run as an independent.

Birthday for Bing

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Leading lady Ellen Drew of Chicago watches Bing Crosby blow out candles on his birthday cake at Hollywood studio party.

Hollywood, Cal., May 3.—[Special.] —Bing Crosby—whose right name, if you don't know it, is Harry L. instead of Bing—was Tacoma's gift thirty-four years ago to the world's listeners of film and record and radio music.

Paramount studio, where Bing is currently starring in "Sing You Sinners," took advantage of the anniversary and staged a double birthday party. Not only was the Crosby day made the point of a celebration but also as an added feature to the festive occasion was the anniversary of Stanton Griffis of New York, chairman of the executive committee of Paramount Pictures, Inc., who's in Hollywood.

The whole thing centered in a gigantic luncheon for more than 350 guests in the studio commissary. From the "Sing You Sinners" cast were among others both Fred MacMurray and Miss Ellen Drew of Chicago. Miss Drew, incidentally, has been in Hollywood two years but this picture constitutes the first big break for her; she's playing the feminine rôle.

Strangers in Woods.

THERE was a great stir over the week-end among the squirrels, rabbits, and birds that live in the woods at the Du Page county farm when the new coal black Angus hefers were turned into the pasture to graze under the trees. Snorts and neighs and plops of hoofs of horses are familiar sounds to the foxtails, cottontails, and fantails of the timber, but the ten black shadows of the hefers moving among the trees were mysterious creatures to the wild families of the woods.

Innocent of the scare they had given the animals and birds, the cattle rushed into the woods to nip off the fresh blades of bluegrass as they picked their way around the patches of blooming wild flowers. Red squirrels scampered into the tree tops and rabbits hopped away to the underbrush when the frisky hefers kicked up their heels and wobbled to a new sunny spot.

The cattle caretakers say the Angus apparently come from a long line of bluegrass eaters. Since coming to the farm about ten days ago they have been living almost entirely on grass, although tempting rations of grain mixtures and bright alfalfa hay have been kept before them all the time.

Eighty Spring Lambs.

The flock master's count of the new spring lambs today revealed that eighty of the main crop already have arrived. He is not sure of the number because some of the older lambs were quick enough to jump through the talley gate or run between the flock master's legs, upsetting the count. New lambs are being born almost every hour. The workers are kept busy day and night caring for the young woolly backs, making new pens for the mothers and seeing that feed and water are kept near at all times.

Fruit Trees in Bloom.

Apple, pear, and peach trees have been in full bloom at the farm during the last few days. The gardeners say the crop of blossoms is the heaviest they have seen in many years, especially on the apple trees.

The head gardener's examination made in the orchard today revealed that the recent blizzard and frosts apparently have done little damage to the pears and apples. There are more blossoms on the trees than will be needed to produce a big crop of fruit.

The trees have been pruned and sprayed and a good crop of fruit is expected unless the blossoms or young fruits are damaged by late killing frosts which may appear in this region any time within the next two weeks.

MOCK JUSTICE.

The National Labor Relations board was not a party to the Kansas City stockyards case, but only a few days after that case was decided in the Supreme court the labor board ran for cover. By that act the board confessed that it had been as unfair to the Republic Steel company and the Ford Motor company as Secretary Wallace had been to the live stock commission men. Rather than give the judges another opportunity to expose the denial to citizens of the elementary right to a fair trial, the labor board retreated. Its orders in the Republic and Ford cases were withdrawn.

In the Kansas City case the court was called upon again to decide what rights a citizen has before an administrative tribunal. The question was not a new one, but, as Chief Justice Hughes said, its importance, in view of present trends in government, is growing from year to year. Where there were only a few of these quasi-judicial organizations and functionaries a few years ago, today there are dozens of them, and their number is growing.

Most of them have the power to ruin the citizens with whom they deal. Thus the communications commission has the power to destroy the investment of hundreds of thousands of dollars spent to create good will for a radio station. The owner's license runs for only six months, and if it is not renewed all the money spent on programs to attract a large audience is confiscated as certainly as if the government had sent its agents to seize the property. The Kansas City case disclosed Mr. Wallace in a position to ruin live stock brokers by fixing their fees at an impossibly low figure. In much the same way the interstate commerce commission has contributed to the bankruptcy of numerous railroads. The labor board can issue orders which impose so heavy a burden on employers that their businesses cannot survive. The Guffey coal commission fixed coal prices in a fashion to ruin Illinois mines and miners if the order had been allowed to stand. These illustrations could be extended over columns.

If this relatively new kind of government by commissions and administrative officials can break some men it can also make others. The National Labor Relations board has made John Lewis and his C. I. O.; what they are today they owe largely to it. The maritime commission has millions to apportion in grants, loans, and subsidies. In recent years the commission which supervises radio saw fit to take a broadcasting license from its Chicago owners and give the wave length to a station in northern Indiana on the ground that Indiana had too few and Illinois too many stations. The so-called Indiana station is still within the metropolitan area of Chicago, presumably finds the bulk of its audience in Illinois, and maintains a studio in Chicago. A property of value was taken from one set of men and given to another for reasons which made little sense [except political sense] at the time, and make less today.

Sometimes the power to hear the evidence and make the decision rests in one functionary [and he a political appointee] and sometimes in a board or commission [likewise composed of political appointees]. One of the original purposes of the executive reorganization act, recently defeated in congress, was to destroy whatever independence the commissions still enjoyed by making them more directly subservient to the executive.

The Kansas City case and the labor board's retreat disclosed that decisions are reached by administrative tribunals without the victim's having had half a chance to defend his conduct and his property. In this denial of elementary rights the Kansas City case was flagrant, but not particularly flagrant. The administrative tribunals are not required to observe the rules of evidence and procedure which are the product of centuries of effort to achieve fairness in litigation. And it is a routine matter in these mock judicial proceedings to find the rôles of complainant, prosecutor, judge, jury, and executioner combined in one bureau or one official. To expect fairness in these circumstances is to expect the impossible.

Even the right of appeal to the courts has been abridged. The courts are directed by statute to accept the facts as found by the administrative official or officials provided that the facts are supported by evidence, a requirement so vague and so tenuous are to be almost meaningless.

In face of these practices it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that the real purpose of these administrative agencies is to subject all business to the politicians. It is significant that those who have been most active in recent years in establishing the administrative tribunals and endowing them with arbitrary powers have been precisely the same men who were most eager to discredit and ruin business and force it into the hands of the politicians.

As matters stand, only the Supreme court can certainly prevent the realization of these aims. Readers need not be reminded of the recent effort to gain control of the court itself. The meaning of that struggle is all too plain.

FOR THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF BUILDING.

Within the last few weeks the city council building code subcommittee has given some promise that ordinances amending the code may be shortly made operative. One proposal is that a separate code for small dwellings be drafted as a temporary measure pending the adoption of the entire ordinance. This, it is hoped, will stimulate small housing projects.

The delay and uncertainty in the revision of building laws has been one important cause of the lag in the Chicago building industry. Recovery could be stimulated if house building costs could be reduced, permitting cheaper construction and lower priced investments and rentals. A year ago the resumption in building was stopped by increased material and labor costs.

Governmental housing schemes have been illusions, frauds deluding people into thinking that politics could do what private enterprise had failed to do. In spite of the obstacles which have prevented a recovery in the building trades and industry, it has been proved that private enterprise is the only method which can produce the low rental houses needed to serve the people requiring new construction.

Apparently the best chance of breaking the high cost blockade will be offered by the use of new materials and new construction methods, which have progressed far beyond the provision of the old Chicago building code. If labor costs cannot be lowered the economies must be effected through a wider range of materials and in architectural improvements. Material men and architects have been working upon these problems and many innovations in housing will come when the builders have greater freedom.

The difficulty in revising the code is apparent. There is a conflict of material producers and there is the necessity of liberalizing the ordinance without allowing defects in construction or unsafe experiments. Modern housing will get many developments in the near future, some of which probably cannot now be anticipated. The ingeniousness which has operated to modernize and revolutionize many industries has not penetrated deep into housing construction. That field is waiting for it and the new houses will not only be better but they will be cheaper. The heavy hand of tradition and conservatism has been on the home building industry and much of it has been implanted in law. A new building code would revitalize a very sick industry in this locality.

MORE DELAY AT THE AIRPORT.

The latest news from the Municipal airport is of more trouble and delay. It is now announced that certain owners of reversionary rights are out of reach and it is asserted that until they can be found and their claims quieted the plans for an enlarged airport cannot be proceeded with unless some sort of enabling legislation is procured at Springfield.

Why this situation was not foreseen by the legal advisers of the city and the necessary steps taken at an earlier stage of this extraordinary proceeding seems to us remarkable. The whole project seems to have been boggled from the start and it is time for competent action. The enlarged airport is urgently needed to accommodate the large planes now being constructed. If Chicago is to take its place as the main center of the continental system, which it is fitted by location to be, it must have adequate terminals and it must have them as soon as possible. If we go on blundering other more alert cities will thrust us aside, for the permanent strategic airways are being determined and will not wait for our leisure.

GOOD, BUT NOT SUFFICIENT.

Quick relief is certainly needed for west side highway trafic and the plans of President Dunham of the park district for one way boulevards will be welcomed by the community and we hope will not suffer the delays which retard or paralyze so much of our effort for adequate highway service. The proposal can and should be put into prompt operation, but it should not be permitted to relax attention upon the major requirement, which is elevated highways. Partial reforms sometimes result in slowing down more thorough and efficient improvements. The one way boulevards are only a stopgap. The essential thing is to get on with the elevated highways.

Editorial of the Day

AN ATTACK ON THE PRESS.

[New York Times.]

Senator Minton of Indiana—successor to Mr. Justice Black as chairman of the senate lobby committee—has introduced a bill which would subject to a heavy fine and a compulsory prison sentence the publisher of any newspaper, magazine, or other periodical circulating in interstate commerce, "in which is published as a fact anything known to said publisher or his responsible agent to be false."

To some observers this proposal may seem at first glance to be innocent enough, since it proposes to punish only the publication of statements "known" to be false by the person who publishes them. But a quite different face is put on the matter by the address which Mr. Minton himself made on the floor of the senate in support of his bill. What he is seeking to stop through the adoption of his measure is, by his own definition, the publication of "propaganda." And as examples of what he means by "propaganda" he cited several headlines from the Washington Post of recent date. One of them read "HOLC aid is accused of franking 1,000,000 letters to help friend." Another read: "Priming foes 'softened' by PWA grants, Taber says" [Taber being a Republican member of congress from New York]. It was Senator Minton's argument that the news behind these headlines must have been known by the publisher to be false; since it would be impossible for a single aid of the HOLC to frank 1,000,000 letters and since no evidence convincing to Mr. Minton was introduced by Representative Taber in support of his charge against PWA.

The great dangers inherent in the Minton bill are graphically illuminated by its author's own speech in behalf of it. For it becomes clear that the intent of his bill is to set up a censorship of the press; a censorship to be imposed by publishers themselves, under the threat of a heavy federal penalty, upon the publication of controversial news and allegations arising in the course of political disputes.

Hampered in this manner, the press would cease to be a free press, accurately reflecting the criticism and the charges and the countercharges of the day.

There are on the statute books of every state in this country libel laws which hold the press to account for the publication of false statements, by providing ample recourse to damages for any person injured by the publication of such statements. In these circumstances there is no occasion and no possible justification for the passage of the bill which Senator Minton has introduced. The people of a free country ought to be particularly on guard against its passage because experience has shown that in every totalitarian state the attack on a free press has invariably begun not as an attack on the press itself but as an attack on "falsity" in the news.

THERE IS STILL an important survivor with intimate knowledge of the Haymarket riot, which occurred fifty-two years ago today. She is Lucy Parsons, widow of Albert Parsons, Chicago anarchist who was hanged for participation in the Haymarket riot. Forty years ago Lucy Parsons was considered one of the most dangerous characters in America and one of her old boasts was that she had been in more jails than any woman in America. Now she lives quietly in a cottage on the northwest side of Cicero, a mild-mannered, alert little body whose chief interest seems to be the chickens she fondly tends. Her other interest is listening to Father Coughlin on the radio. From anarchy to Father Coughlin.

MORE BANK NOTES.

In our fair village—Elmwood Park—which hugs Chicago's western boundary, our two banks have long been havens for those with a long thirst. The Westwood bank has been a saloon since prohibition was repealed. HEPATICAS.

Were you a country child who knew
Where every little wild flower grew?
Did you love grass flowers blue and small?
Wild roses by an old stone wall?
And did you seek the maiden-hair,
Because you knew that hiding there
The lady slipper's fragrant gold
Had lifted from the leafy mold?

Then you have treasures time endears.
The hot house blooms of after years
Are never half so sweet as these
Frail blossoms of your memories.

You say, when spring creeps through your room:
"Hepaticas will be in bloom
Back home . . . just at the brooklet's mouth . . .
Beneath that tall bluff . . . sloping south . . ."
You see again their pastel hues,
Pale lavenders and dainty blues,
If you were a country child who knew
Where every little wild flower grew.

Just a few times a year I buy it (Wall Street Journal) out at Roslyn, N. Y., and catch the Bankers' Special, which actually has two club cars, the Nassau and the Oyster Bay, and sit reading in the smoker, pretending I'm a business man. It's a delicious feeling. No one has ever described the difference of feeling between a business man and a writer. A business man has things to worry him, but a writer worries about things. . . . P. S. THE TOPICAL LINES of the opening song in the new Cole Porter show, "You Never Know," current at the Grand, are still unpublished. Sung by Clifton Webb, who introduces himself as Gaston:

That in the swell set,
The hotter-than-hell set,
Nobody's ever heard my family name.
You mention Tom,
They know it's Lamont;
You speak of Henry,
It's Henry du Pont;
You're painted by Neysa,
Of course McMein.
You rave about Dizzy,
They don't say "Who is he?"
You borrow from Barney,
It must be Baruch.
You hula with Doris,
It's got to be Duke.
And what's the name of Cordell?
It's Hull.
And of Gaston? Well, there's a lull . . .

A FAMED STAGE MOTHER is Mrs. Mabel Webb, mother of Clifton Webb, who is with her son during the Chicago run of "You Never Know." Mrs. Webb always is with her son, and has been ever since he has been in the show business. She is a shrewd business woman and handles all his finances. Held in affectionate esteem by his friends, she is always the life of the party. He calls her Mabel—so do all her friends. Illustration of her business acumen: When he wanted to buy a New York coöperative apartment some years ago she dissuaded him. Other buyers of coöps wish they had been so well advised. And when Clifton went to Hollywood she handled his contract. He never made a picture but came off well financially in the deal.

YOUR WATER NEEDS.

WE are told to drink pure water and plenty of it. What do we mean by "pure"? Certainly not distilled, as that would taste so flat as to be unpalatable. Natural fluid used for drinking contains many minerals—salts of calcium, sulphur, iron, magnesium, etc. In fact, some sources are so heavily charged with chemicals as to render them undesirable. What we require is clean water—in contradistinction to "pure"—that harbors no dangerous bacteria such as typhoid germs and no organic matter. When the supply of a city becomes contaminated with sewage, we may confidently expect much illness.

Everybody needs water, as every cell must be bathed with it. In fact, all chemical reactions within the body take place in its presence. I well recall the strict admonition given the members of a class of medical students by a revered teacher to the effect that liquids should not be used at meal time, as they served to dilute the gastric juice and destroy its solvent power. This belief was current for many generations until a clever physiologist discovered that semi-solid food actually retarded the production of gastric secretions. Food materials demand a substantial dilution as a means of stimulating the stomach glands.

If all the fluid taken by mouth were retained we would not require a very large quantity each day. But the fact is that we throw off so much with the expired air and evaporate so much from the skin that we must imbibe enough to keep the tissues well irrigated and, at the same time, take care of the outgo. Of course, in warmer weather more is called for as more is lost from the external surface.

But we can meet these orders without flooding the system. All the fluid ingested is absorbed into the circulation and goes through the heart. Some patients who follow too literally the dictum "take plenty of water," load their tissues almost to a bursting pressure. Furthermore, they increase the labor of both heart and blood vessels, and if these structures are weakened even slightly, symptoms of breathlessness, of undue fatigue, or of edema in the tissues may appear.

Just the other day a fair lady remarked, "I drink almost no water because it is so fattening." I really had a hard time convincing her to the contrary. True enough, the tissues can be saturated to the point where the outgo is retarded and weight will actually increase. But a million gallons cannot in and of themselves manufacture a grain of fat. I think I know what my friend meant, that water was fattening because it enabled her to wash foods into the digestive tract long after she had enough.

Should the body become waterlogged we have a relatively simple method of reducing the burden. For example, the administration of magnesium sulfate [epsom salts] by mouth or rectum will abstract fluids from the blood stream. If this procedure is followed by a reduction in the amount of liquid taken by mouth, a substantial lessening of the swelling [edema] will be accomplished. Nevertheless the patient's thirst, followed by copious libations, can nullify the good accomplished. The cells may cry out for water, and if the maneuver is carried to an extreme, thirst may become intolerable. As soon as the instinct is gratified the muscles and organs may fill up, sometimes to their former state of puffiness.

Every one should take as much water as is essential, and thirst, in the absence of disease, is a safe guide. On the other hand, thousands are going about their daily tasks carrying 10 to 25 useless pounds. Reducing the daily ration of common salt will aid in elimination.

USED FOR SINUSES.

M. C. writes: What is positive and negative galvanism? Is it good for infected sinuses? What is the short wave treatment?

REPLY.

The constant or galvanic current is a constant flow in one direction. Its action depends on polarity; the negative pole liberates hydrogen and stimulates; the positive pole has a hardening and sedative action. It is employed by some physicians for its presumed antiseptic action on the lining of the sinuses. Short waves possess the property of producing heat.

CAUSE IS UNKNOWN.

T. J. J. writes: What can be done to eradicate the red veins [directly beneath the surface of the skin] on nose and cheeks? Must they be removed surgically or is there a simpler remedy?

REPLY.

These are small varicose veins and are only of cosmetic significance. The cause is as yet unknown. In some cases the injection treatment is employed.

BE SURE OF SKILL.

J. M. writes: Would you advise a young man 21 years of age with a misshapen nose to have it attended to by a surgeon? Is there any danger involved?

REPLY.

Yes, if badly out of joint. But make sure that you are in skilled hands. A highly trained expert can perform the operation without danger.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

ROOF GUTTERS.

Chicago, April 28.—[Friend of the People.]—We have been living here one year and seven months. In all that time the people south of us have had no gutters. We have water in our gangway every time it rains and ice in the winter. We can't use our gangway at such times. The people told us they would put the gutters up, but they haven't kept their promise. I don't think they intend to put any up. Could something be done about this? W. S.

Our inspector reported that nuisance resulted from lack of drainage for the roof of the adjoining building; therefore the owner was notified to remedy conditions. This matter was followed up until a reinspection made last week indicated compliance with our order.

CALLS IT PLAIN DICTATORSHIP.

Solon Springs, Wis., May 2.—A prominent New Dealer is reported in the press as saying, in comment upon the corn rebellion of Illinois farmers, that their objection to the "dictatorship" of the farm bill is without justification, for the alleged reason that no farmer is obliged to sign up with the Agricultural administration unless he is willing.

I have before me a copy of the farm act. Sec. 8 [a] reads as follows: "There shall be established for each farm of any farmer [whether or not a coöperator] producing wheat or corn for market, a soil-depleting base acreage and a normal yield per acre for each such commodity."

Sec. 22 [a], entitled "Excess-Marketing Penalty," reads as follows: "It shall be an unfair agricultural practice for any farmer [whether or not a coöperator] to market wheat or corn in excess of his farm marketing quota established for the commodity unless prior to such marketing [1] the secretary shall have," etc.

It is provided immediately following that any farmer who [coöperator or not] sells more grain than his allotment allows shall pay to the national government "an excess-marketing penalty at the following rate: 25 per centum of the parity price," etc.

It is further provided that the attorney general of the United States shall institute action against such farmer for recovery of the penalty, that all persons engaged in buying wheat or corn from farmers shall keep such records [open for the inspection of government officials] as shall enable such officials to determine whether any farmer [coöperator or not] is selling wheat or corn in excess of his allotment.

This is definite dictatorship, and apologists for the New Deal who deny these facts are denying the truth.

JOHN A. SIMPSON.

THE BIRDS STILL SINGING.

Chicago, April 30.—The United States of America has some big jobs to be done, keeping peace and effecting a sort of amalgamation of races and creeds. And as I see it the job is being done as well and quickly as possible. The Republicans are making another attack on the Democratic fortress, which promises to yield pretty soon now.

After all the jackass has us pretty well under control and the elephant has had quite a long rest, or has he been hibernating? The birds are singing, the bees are buzzin', the sun still rises, and the moon still sets. Mothers' day nears and even dad has his day. There's enough for ample "relief" and it's gonna be a good summer for leaning. Housewives can reduce and the outside crews can get a little fatter.

Ah, well, I hope I ain't wasted too much lead offen this pencil.

LUCKY LUKE.

BUT F. D. R. IS OFTEN ON THE AIR.

Chicago, April 30.—I notice the newspapers are for freedom of the air waves—for every one except the present national administration. How come? Don't they want the public to be apprised of their deliberate distortion of the news—or are they only in favor of an air censorship against the President? The effectiveness of your press censorship will be demonstrated anew when this little epistle hits the waste basket. You have proved you can dish it out but your good old hide is evidently made of pulp—for you can't take it—as your mail contributors have long ago discovered. CURIOUS.

HAND BOOKS AND OLD AGE PENSIONS.

Chicago, April 30.—While strolling about my ward today I chanced to drop into a "bookie joint" [I thought Tom Courtney had closed up those joints, or was it, mayhaps, Mayor Kelly that closed them?] and to say I was surprised at what I saw there would be putting it mildly. Suffice to say that if Courtney or Kelly ever closed this particular joint they should go and close it again—I mean really close it.

I had no trouble getting in the joint and there I saw men and women, young and old, scanning form sheets, scratch sheets, special wires, and what have you? The recipients of old age pensions are permitted to frequent these places and make "bets." Actually, I saw several of these old timers shuffle up to the sheet writers' windows and lay their pennies on the line with the hope of "winning." One of these, an old lady in her 70th year or better, I am told, loses her entire pension check within less than two days after the postman delivers it to her. Another couple, an old man and his wife, both of whom are recipients of the old age pension, set aside a goodly share of their pensions for the purpose of "playing the horses."

Dear editor, in the interests of the taxpayers from whom this old age pension money is extracted, may I say that if Courtney or Kelly cannot or will not close up these blood sucking dens, then we, the taxpayers, will close them—yes, we'll close them in the manner that will positively insure they will stay closed.

JOHN H. HARPER.

A PLEA FOR TOLERANCE.

Chicago, May 2.—Listening to a group of men discussing WPA, I would have liked to tell them not to be too severe on WPA employés. They were strongly against government-made work. Do these smug employed men think they may never need government help? How foolish!

I, too, thought I would never need aid. I was in the upper salary brackets, too, and when depression hit it struck me, too, and I am thankful I was able to get a job at $15 a week. Had I not been so fortunate I would have been mighty glad to be a WPA man.

Now for the WPA men's conversation. They are thankful for subsistence [that is all it amounts to], but they don't want this type of a living longer than necessary. Some are hoping business will open up and some have lost all hope and are discouraged to the point of illness. Let's try to see for ourselves how we could exist on $55 a month. This may give us the spirit of tolerance.

GOLDEN RULE.

WHY WOMEN HOLD TO JOBS.

Casey, Ill., May 2.—I see comments on the married woman's status and on how she is on pay rolls to the detriment of unmarried women and out of work men. Why is no stress laid on what seems to me to be a probable cause of so many women's entering into "industry"—the attitude of so many men that all the money earned by them is theirs and the wife who stays at home and works there as hard as, or harder than, the husband, is not entitled to any of the money. After they have assured a woman for a long time that life is not worth living without her, they render her life wretched by telling her that she owns nothing, and she cannot get any money from them, so is it any wonder that she gets a job if she can? I am one woman who thinks every woman with children should stay at home with them, even when they are pretty well grown, but when she knows that she could earn considerable outside it is galling to remain where her hard work goes for naught.

Of course many women have talents that deserve use, but I do believe that many would never have thought of outside working if they had not been so meanly dealt with by husbands.

Some letters say that women with brothers or fathers able to support them should not have jobs. Let me say that many brothers, and I suppose fathers, are great railers at having to pay for the support of faithful sisters or daughters. E. G. G.

SPEAKS UP FOR THE WEST SIDE.

Chicago, April 30.—So the Chicago park board intends to spend ten million dollars for additional improvements in Lincoln park in order to speed up automobile trafic for the north side, according to your editorial of April 28.

How long will it take the west side to protest against this shameless disregard for our needs? Trafic conditions on our main arteries, Jackson and Washington boulevards, reaching to the great west side, are outrageous to say the least. The powers that be were planning to synchronize trafic lights and what has been done to date? Absolutely nothing. It exasperates me to apoplexy when, for instance, I drive down Jackson and I have to stop at Canal, Clinton, Jefferson, and Halsted. These lights are spaced a block apart and all one can do is two lights at a time and sometimes not even that.

Wake up, west siders, and flood the Chicago park board with letters of protest against constant discrimination in favor of the north and south sides, which have had express service along the shore for a number of years. MATHEW SLAMA.

The wonderful thing about these dresses is not only their design (which you can see is very good) but their interesting new fabric—a mixture of linen and spun rayon that looks for all the world like fine imported linen. It's sheer like salt-sacking, with a dull, dry texture like wool. It looks cool, it feels cool, and it resists wrinkling surprisingly well. Moreover, it washes as easily as the salt-sack for which it is named. You'll want at least one of these dresses.

SEEK STATE LAW TO UNRAVEL CITY AIRPORT TANGLE

Kelly Asks Condemnation Right for Railroad.

Mayor Kelly yesterday sent a letter to Gov. Horner at Springfield asking that proposals relating to Chicago's airport enlargement problems be considered at the special session of the legislature expected to be called soon. The mayor also explained for the first time yesterday the nature of the tangle which, temporarily at least, has halted progress on the airport program.

The plan hinges on the shifting of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks from a right of way which now bisects the airport area to a new location parallel to the Indiana Harbor Belt Line tracks a block and a half north of 55th street, which then would become the northern boundary of the field. The C. & W. I. has agreed to make the transfer if the city provides the new right of way in exchange for the old.

Railroads to Exchange Land.

With the new site provided, the C. & W. I. and the I. H. B. were to make an exchange of strips of land along their rights of way which would have been mutually satisfactory. The exchange could have been effected only if each side held clear title to the land involved. Primary investigations showed that Raymond E. Herman, owner of the largest parcel across which the rights of way would lie, held reversionary rights to some of the I. H. B. land.

"Up to Monday," said the mayor, "the city had relied on representations of the I. H. B. lawyers that Herman's was the only block of land on which reversionary rights were retained.

"Our own lawyers, who raised the point, were told that Herman's was the only land condemned for that right of way. The rest of the I. H. B. strip, they were told, had been obtained by purchase and was held in fee simple—or without reservation.

Reversionary Rights Remain.

"But the title and trust company researches now show that the I. H. B. did purchase the rest of its strip, but the transactions were such that they left reversionary rights to the owners similar to those held by Herman. We found that we were up against a hopeless job of tracing down the heirs to these rights."

Then it was that the suggestion was made to appeal to the legislature, the mayor explained. The city does not want permission to condemn in the name of the railroad, but passage of a statute which will authorize the railroad to condemn for a new right of way.

"The city would be able to condemn land for itself, but could not act for a railroad," said Arthur Sullivan, assistant corporation counsel. "And the railroad knows that it never would be allowed to condemn a new right of way, because it already is located.

Want New Legislation.

"We want a bill passed giving to any railroad in Illinois located across public lands the power to condemn a new right of way and get off these public lands. Here the airport is on school property. If the measure was passed the railroad—the C. & W. I.—would condemn it in its own name and the city would pay the costs."

This method, Sullivan said, would be no more expensive than the procedure already contemplated. The bill could be a very simple one, quickly passed, if Gov. Horner gives it his approval.

Sullivan also explained that no delay would be necessary in proceeding with the removal of the tracks from the airport and construction of the new right of way in virtually the same location as had been previously considered. The city merely would furnish bond to insure that the court findings in the condemnation suits would be paid, and the land could be utilized immediately.

PRESS FREEDOM MUST BE KEPT, GREEN ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said tonight freedom of the press should be maintained at any cost. He was commenting on the Washington Central Labor union's decision to exclude from its meetings reporters belonging to the C. I. O.

"Personally I would be opposed to exclusion of any newspaper men because of affiliation or nonaffiliation with a union," Green said. "That involves freedom of the press, which must be maintained."

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Senator and Mrs. Pat Harrison of Mississippi learned today that their daughter, Catherine, had been married in an elopement to Frederick, Md., to Dr. Irvin T. Miller of Colton, Cal. They sped the couple on their wedding trip today with their blessing.

Announcement of his daughter's marriage was made by Senator Harrison, coupled with the statement that he had been "delightfully flabbergasted" by the sudden climax of the whirlwind courtship of his daughter by the Californian, who met her here for the first time a few weeks ago.

Dr. and Mrs. Miller are now on their way west. They will make their home in Colton, where Dr. Miller has been a physician for seven years. En route they plan to stop for a visit in Gulfport, Miss., the home town of Senator Harrison.

CHICAGO GIRL, 24, WINS PERFECT WAITRESS TITLE

A girl who claims men customers like sensible conversation, a calm manner, and a restful quality in their waitresses was chosen as the "perfect waitress" yesterday by a committee of the National Restaurant association. The association is observing National Restaurant week.

"We have to be salesmen," said Miss Virginia Stark, 24 years old, of 1051 West 104th street, daughter of William Stark, plumbing contractor. "I find men like to be told what's good for them. Most of them eat the same breakfast day after day and let me pick their dinners for them. It's good training for being a wife, which I hope to be some day."

She considered being well groomed, poised, and free from nervousness her important points, but admitted being pretty helped. She takes care of her own hair and nails and gets only two facials a year. Whatever her methods of beauty culture, her skin is the peaches and cream kind, her hair dark, her eyes large and blue.

Atty. Samuel A. Ettelson Undergoes an Operation

Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, former corporation counsel, underwent an operation for a gall bladder ailment in the Michael Reese hospital yesterday. Dr. Alfred A. Strauss, who performed the operation, and Dr. Jacob Meyer, diagnostician, said his condition was serious, but that he was resting easily last evening. At the hospital early today it was said he was "resting comfortably." He is 64 years old.

DEMANDS FREE HAND TO SPEND FIVE BILLIONS

Roosevelt Wants to Prime Pump Personally.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Plans to whip the 5 billion dollar pump priming bill through the house by May 12 were made today by administration leaders. Barring undue delay in the senate, this accomplishment would make possible the adjournment before June 1 that a large majority in congress desires.

The spending bill was being pounded into shape for presentation in bill form to the house and the appropriations committee hopes to complete the task this week.

Roosevelt Wants the Money.

The committee was advised today by a White House spokesman that the President was against any move to restrict his discretionary powers in distributing the huge fund. A move was on to send part of the fund to the spending agencies and not to the President. This would have ended the practice of sending virtual blank checks to the President for relief expeditures.

If the spending bill is disposed of by May 21 congress will be ready to quit immediately, according to all indications. This would leave the wage and hour bill high and dry. Sponsors of the legislation can get the bill before the house only by May 23 if they obtain the signatures of a majority of members to a petition to discharge the rules committee from consideration of the measure.

Need Republican Votes.

The petition will be filed Friday and a steering committee has been appointed to urge members to sign it quickly. It appeared probable that success of the petition will depend upon Republican votes. Needing 218 signers, the petition appears to be assured of only 170 Democratic indorsers.

Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] made a slashing attack today upon President Roosevelt for his intervention in the congressional wage-hour dispute.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the list of winning candidates for the Democratic nominations for Municipal court judges, published yesterday, the last two of twelve names were omitted. They are Frank E. Donoghue, who polled 448,323 votes, and Victor A. Kula, 431,664 votes.

Ordered at 74 to Pay $25 a Month to Aid Wife, 65

Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday ordered Henry Auer, 74 years old, to pay $25 monthly alimony to Mrs. Emma Auer, 65, of 7711 South Morgan street, after he had spurned his wife's offers of a reconciliation. Through her attorney, Norman Becker, Mrs. Auer charged that Auer, a pensioned utility company employé, had squandered life savings of $65,000 and refused to permit her to save anything toward their old age.

ROSENWALD FUND OFFERS $125,000 TO NEGRO HOSPITAL

The Julius Rosenwald fund has offered $125,000 to the Provident hospital providing the hospital development committee raises the balance of a $500,000 five year operating fund for Chicago's only all Negro hospital.

Graham Aldis, real estate dealer, made this announcement yesterday at a meeting in the Chicago club attended by business and professional men and Negro leaders of the south side community. Mr. Aldis is chairman of the fund raising committee.

Claude A. Barnett, president of the hospital, said operating expenses have become heavy due to the vast amount of free work the hospital has provided. He declared the health problem of the Negro is one in which the entire community should be interested.

False Teeth Wearers Are Worst Breath Offenders!
"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities . . . Recommend Polident

Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.

Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and dentists everywhere.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

"MY HUSBAND TELLS ME HOME ELECTRIC COOKING CAN'T BE BEAT!"
Says Mrs. Todd of Mason Avenue

Read this authorized interview with Mrs. Todd

Q. Mrs. Todd, how much do you use your electric range?
A. Oh, a lot! You see, my husband works for the Surface Lines and his schedule is arranged so that he has to eat dinner at about 4:30. My boy, two girls and I have our dinner later. So that means I cook dinner twice every evening. In the morning I fix breakfast three times. My son is a patrol boy, and he has to leave for school first. Then there's breakfast to get for the girls and again for my husband.

Q. Is your oven used very much?
A. Yes, indeed, I bake bread and cake and cookies. And are they good! You just come around later today and I'll give you a taste of my baking. Then you'll know why my family says that with my electric range oven I'm about the best baker in the city. And here's something special I'd like to tell you about the speed of electric cooking.

Q. What is that, Mrs. Todd?
A. Well, last Fall I canned two bushels of peaches and half a bushel of plums in one day. I put as much as sixteen quarts in my oven at one time. And every quart was perfect.

Q. Do you find that electric cooking saves you time?
A. It certainly does. First of all, with the automatic controls I don't have to worry about the food in my oven. All I do is set the controls and forget all about it until it's time to eat. Sometimes I leave the house for an afternoon and everything is ready when I return. Second, electric cooking is so clean that there is no soot on my pans to be scrubbed off. Third, food doesn't cake and burn in the bottoms of my pans so that I have to scrape it out.

Q. And, Mrs. Todd, what about the cost of electric cooking?
A. Well, it's hard to believe, but electric cooking costs me only a little over $2 a month. That includes everything—my baking and the two dinners every night.

"My husband says that home-cooked meals are the best. And now that we have our electric range, he tells me they taste better than ever!"

● Thank you, Mrs. Todd. We understand your enthusiasm—because electric range owners all over Chicago tell us the same things. They have found—just as you have—that electric cooking is fast . . . it is clean . . . it is cheap . . . and meals taste better!

SENATE PASSES EXPANSION BILL FOR NAVY, 56-28

Bigger Battleships Held to Rival Building.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—By a vote of 56 to 28 the senate today passed President Roosevelt's $1,156,546,000 naval expansion bill which authorizes but does not appropriate the money for forty-six additional combat ships, twenty-six naval auxiliaries, and 950 naval airplanes.

Senator W. H. King lashes navy bill.

The bill now goes to conference with the house of representatives because of various senate amendments. Most important of these are amendments increasing the authorized tonnage of two additional aircraft carriers from 15,000 tons each, as in the house bill, to 20,000 tons, and conditionally increasing the authorized tonnage of three additional battleships from 35,000 tons each, as in the house bill, to 45,000 tons each.

Bigger Battleships Contingent.

Under the latter senate amendment, however, the President must find that nonsignatories of the 1936 London naval treaty are exceeding 35,000 tons in capital ship construction before 45,000 ton battleships can be laid down.

Besides the three additional battleships and two aircraft carriers, the bill authorizes nine cruisers, twenty-three destroyers, and nine submarines. It permits a 20 per cent increase in all navy categories beyond the limits of the Vinson-Trammell act of 1934, which was predicated on the now defunct Washington treaty of 1922 establishing a 5-5-3 naval ratio for Great Britain, the United States, and Japan.

Forty-nine Democrats and seven Republicans voted for the big navy bill, while seventeen Democrats, seven Republicans, and four Radicals—Norris of Nebraska, La Follette of Wisconsin, Shipstead and Lundeen of Minnesota—voted against it.

Meets Unusual Opposition.

While the measure carried 2 to 1, the twenty-eight votes against it represented a much stronger opposition than a national defense bill ordinarily encountered. The bi-partisan opposition was based upon suspicions of Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy, the fear having been expressed that he wanted a huge navy to implement his Chicago speech of last October advocating concerted action by the democracies to quarantine aggressor nations.

In the two weeks of debate the President was accused among others by his hitherto fervent supporter, Senator La Follette, of emulating the dictators of Europe in rattling the sword and promoting a war scare to divert attention from the failure of his economic policies at home.

In final asault upon the measure today, Senator William H. King [D., Utah] said this country was in no danger from without, and that any danger which it may experience in the future "will come from within, from confused thinking, from disordered minds, from conditions which are brought about by unwise legislation, and by dangerous and destructive executive policies."

Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] also warned of the danger of internal collapse, which he called far greater than the possibility of any "fanciful combination coming over to attack and subjugate the United States."

Asks More Building Funds.

President Roosevelt last week requested funds with which to begin construction of two more battleships under authority of existing law. With two now building and two others appropriated for, to be laid down in the next fiscal year, the United States will have six battleships under construction by the close of 1938.

The three authorized by the bill passed by the senate today would make a total of nine under construction, if laid down within the next few years, while in the next five years three more replacement battleships may be laid down under the Vinson-Trammell act, making a possible total of twelve.

The United States has 15 capital ships and the limit will be increased to eighteen by the naval expansion bill. The six that will be under construction by the end of the year are designated as replacements for six of the existing fifteen that will soon be deemed over-age. As our old ships reach the 26 year age limit they may be replaced under the 1936 London treaty, but they are not taken out of commission.

Not Yet Up to Parity.

The naval expansion bill, however, will not bring the navy up to parity with Great Britain nor maintain a 5-3 ratio with Japan, according to testimony of the navy officers. Existing ratios in the number of under-age vessels, including those in commission, appropriated for, building or projected at the present time, are shown by the following table supplied by the navy department:

Types—	British.	U.S.	Japan.
Capital ships	5	3.8	2.8
Aircraft carriers	5	2.7	4.5
Heavy cruisers	5	6	4
Light cruisers	5	2.3	2.3
Destroyers	5	3	4.1
Submarines	5	3.2	3.9

The following table shows the relative under age strength of the principal powers as of Feb. 16, 1938:

Types—	United States.	Brit. emp.	Japan.	France.	Italy.	Germany.
Cap. ships	15	15	10	6	4	8

Total	102	188	158	169	166	67

The United States also has two light [B] cruisers, one aircraft carrier, fourteen destroyers, and one submarine.

Proposed Naval Expansion

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The following table shows the under-age combatant strength of the United States fleet as authorized by the Vinson-Trammell act of 1934 and as increased by authorizations of the pending naval expansion bill:

AUTO MASSACRE CLAIMS 2 LITTLE CHILDREN AT PLAY

2 Others Injured; Each Victim 6 Years Old.

Four children, each 6 years old, became the tragic central figures yesterday in Cook county motor accidents. A boy and a girl, struck down as they played happily under summerlike skies, are dead; a boy and a girl were injured when they were run over by trucks.

The dead were Paul R. Gabrielsen, 2828 North Neva avenue, and Jeanette McIntosh, 3438 McCormick avenue. The injured are William Vidler, 5645 Wayne avenue, and Dolores Edwards, 609 Drummond avenue.

Young Gabrielsen was standing with a companion at Neva and Diversey avenues yesterday afternoon when a surface lines bus, having reached the western terminus of its run, was backed into Neva avenue to make the turn for the eastward trip.

One Boy Escapes.

The driver, Stanley Peterson of route 1, Bensenville, miscalculated the distance. The rear end of the bus climbed onto the curbing. The second boy, Robert Quirk, 9 years old, 2826 North Neva avenue, was brushed aside by the huge vehicle and suffered no serious injury. But Paul fell to the street and a wheel passed over his head.

His father, Thomas R. Gabrielsen, a captain of the Salvation army, heard of the accident and ran out of his home, only a few steps away. While Petersen and volunteer helpers were extricating the boy's body from the wheels, Capt. Gabrielsen knelt beside the bus and prayed in silent agony. Spectators, understanding his grief, removed their hats.

The police learned that the two boys had gone to the bus terminal to wait for a friendly driver who presented them with used transfers, which they used in their make-believe games. Petersen, who said he did not see the boys when he was making his turn, was questioned and released.

Girl Dies of Injuries.

Jeanette McIntosh died in the Berwyn hospital of injuries incurred Monday evening when she ran into the side of an automobile while playing at Washington avenue and Arden street, Brookfield. John Ondresky, 9426 Jefferson avenue, Brookfield, was the driver.

The Vidler boy, running through an alley in the rear of 1301 Hollywood avenue, saw his toy airplane float under the wheels of a truck and crawled under to retrieve it. Before he could get out the truck was started and a rear wheel passed over his body. At the Edgewater hospital it was said his condition last night was serious. Edwin Allen, 21 years old, 5342 Byron street, was the driver.

Most fortunate of the small victims was Dolores. Playing hide and seek with some friends, she concealed herself under a pile of paper in the alley behind her home. A truck driven by Reuben Larson, 3619 Lakewood avenue, passed over her. The wheels missed the child, but she was severely bruised when the truck's bumper struck her head and right thigh.

Driver, 14, Questioned.

William De Franz, 14 years old, 5820 Melrose street, who was driving a car which struck two small children Monday, was questioned by juvenile authorities yesterday. He will be given a court hearing on Monday. The injured youngsters are Marie Carlino, 5 years old, 2101 Clifton avenue, and Vincent Geraci, 4, of 1041 Dickens street.

One Chicagoan was killed and another was injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding left the road and overturned three miles south of Lake Geneva, Wis. The dead man was Bert Graff, 35 years old. Arthur E. Jolivette, 32 years old, 8209 South Marshfield avenue, who was driving, was slightly injured.

Up to 4 p. m. 292 persons had been killed in Cook county auto accidents since Jan. 1. Of these 229 were killed in Chicago. The city's toll of injured in 1938 stands now at 5,733.

PROSPECTOR DIGS DOWN FOR $100 IN SAFETY COURT

Thomas Boal, 701 Sheridan road, Winnetka, who said he was a gold prospector, was fined $100 by Judge J. M. Braude in the Safety court yesterday after he admitted having had a few drinks before he drove 70 miles an hour down Lake Shore drive on April 27. Boal paid the fine rather than go to jail, which would have interfered with a planned prospecting trip to Alaska.

Charles Johnson, 1300 South Troy street, a cab driver, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail for reckless driving. He reported his cab stolen after it had struck another car. Robert Hewlett of 428 South Campbell avenue was sentenced to five days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident, but was given credit for four days he had spent in jail.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty of the Municipal jury court yesterday placed Mrs. Mae Kurz, 4115 Broadway, a beauty operator, on probation for ninety days for driving while intoxicated. Miss Mildred Miller, 863 Buena terrace, her companion, was fined $1 for disorderly conduct. Policemen testified they became abusive after Mrs. Kurz's automobile struck a safety island at Stockton drive and North State parkway on April 14.

Old Model Telephones Feature Electric Exhibit

Telephones of all the years went on exhibit at the Western Electric Hawthorne works yesterday. A 1904 model sat beside a streamlined 1938 version. Each step in the process of manufacturing a modern telephone will be demonstrated for the 40,000 visitors who are expected at the two weeks' showing.

RAPID PROGRESS IS MADE TOWARD TRACTION UNITY

Shaw Reports Tomorrow on Negotiations.

Walter A. Shaw, who is acting as the Chicago traction coördinator under federal court appointment, is expected to report to Judge James H. Wilkerson tomorrow that rapid progress has been made in the formulation of a transit modernization plan which meets the approval of representatives of the operating companies and the city.

It was learned yesterday that Shaw has about completed his work on the physical program necessary for a traction settlement and is now ready to go ahead with the second important half of the problem—getting agreement of the operating companies to a plan for unification of all local transportation facilities in the city.

Work More Than 2 Months.

The traction representatives have been working under Shaw's supervision for more than two months. The agreed physical program, it is understood, will not vary greatly from the plan proposed by city engineers last fall. Shaw has used the city plan as the basis for drawing up the new program. The city plan provides for downtown subways, modernization of equipment and substitution of a substantial part of the existing street railway system with bus operations.

One phase of the city plan, that dealing with the conversion of certain west side elevated railway lines into superhighways for private cars and rapid transit buses, may not be dealt with as an integral part of the Shaw plan.

Controversy Could Be Put Off.

On the ground that such conversion is a controversial problem which might delay a settlement, it was said, this part of the city program would be left in the hands of a Chicago transit commission which would be set up under a new ordinance.

Transit experts explained that this would not necessarily delay conversions, but would simply eliminate that proposition from the involved task before the negotiators. The conversion problem could be settled quickly after a settlement ordinance was adopted, they said.

Requires Unified Operation.

The physical plan on which Shaw is to report requires unified operation of all facilities—street car, elevated, and bus. His next step will be to attempt to work out an agreement for financial merger of the systems. If that does not prove possible, he can still reach a settlement through an agreement providing for operation under a single management with universal transfers.

If he cannot get the owners of the properties to agree to either proposition, he is under instructions from Judge Wilkerson to recommend his own plan which the court could use in determining the disposition of the long receiverships of the elevated and street car companies.

HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGES.

Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court yesterday held Sydney Arkin, 4407 North Clark street, to the grand jury on two of twenty-nine charges of robbery.

LIGGETT WIDOW WINS $25,000 IN LIBEL DAMAGES

New York, May 3.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Meier Steinbrink today awarded $25,000 damages to Mrs. Edith Liggett of Brooklyn, widow of Walter Liggett, editor of the Midwest American, who was shot to death in Minneapolis Dec. 29, 1935.

The verdict was directed against the Daily Worker, New York communist newspaper; Clarence Hathaway, and Hyman Colodny, both unidentified, and "John Doe," described as the writer of the article published in the Daily Worker in February, 1936. Mrs. Liggett charged the articles were libelous.

$5,000 DAMAGE IN FIRE.

Fire starting in a rubbish heap at the rear of a four story building at 1537-43 East 63d street early yesterday raced up an air shaft and caused $5,000 damage on the fourth floor and roof.

MALONE DENIED PROBATION; LAST HOPE ROOSEVELT

Will Make Pardon Plea to President.

William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission, last night based his last hope of freedom from a federal penitentiary on executive clemency by President Roosevelt. Earlier in the day he had been denied probation on his sentence to two years for violation of the income tax laws.

Malone, a former Republican leader, pleaded in vain before Federal Judge William H. Holly. The courtroom was packed with business friends and his Park Ridge neighbors.

Ordered to Prison.

After listening for nearly two hours to Malone and his lawyers, Judge Holly denied the motion for probation and ordered Malone to serve his sentence in the Northeastern federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. He was granted a ten day stay to arrange his business affairs before beginning his sentence and allowed to remain at liberty on the $25,000 bond posted for his appeal. Malone also was fined $5,000.

As he left the courtroom, downcast and exhausted after his lengthy speech, Malone, who is 62 years old, said he would present his case in a petition to President Roosevelt with a request for an executive pardon or probation.

Indicted While Abroad.

He was indicted on Oct. 13, 1933, while traveling in Europe with his wife. The government charged that he withheld $59,574 in taxes on his income for 1929 and 1930, which the prosecution contended had been paid to him as bribes by corporation attorneys while he was chairman of the tax commission.

In December, 1936, Malone returned. He went on trial the following May. A jury found him guilty on both counts of the indictment, and Judge Holly pronounced sentence last July 29. Recently the United States Supreme court refused to review the Appellate court decision which affirmed the conviction.

Yesterday his attorney, S. J. Konenkamp, presented a voluminous petition recommending probation. It had been signed by all the jurors who convicted Malone, his neighbors, and such prominent citizens as Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn and former Gov. Louis L. Emmerson.

Jurors Tell of Pressure.

Judge Holly commented that several of the jurors had told him privately they had been harassed into signing the petition and still believed the verdict was equitable. He said there was nothing the court could do to change the verdict or punishment, and that if he had heard the case in a bench trial it would have had the same outcome.

Malone asked permission for two witnesses to testify in support of his claim that the alleged bribes were money paid him in 1920 as a campaign fund for Gen. Leonard Wood, then seeking the Republican nomination for President. Malone said the witnesses, Miss Helen Rietz, 6426 Wayne avenue, his secretary, and J. J. Schulz, 7714 Sheridan road, would testify they entered his vault and counted the fund, more than $500,000. Judge Holly said it would be impossible to offer new evidence.

At one time during his address Malone shouted: "I want my friends to know that Malone is an honest man." At this the spectators responded as one: "We all know."

The Diesel fireboat Fred A. Busse was given a thorough test off Navy pier yesterday as it began its second year of service. The test included the throwing of water from various nozzle mounts on the deck and the raising of the 28 foot hydraulic extension water tower on the stern. The Busse has been repainted, but no major repairs were necessary after the first year's service.

STRONG MEN PUT 700 POUND WOMAN IN AN AMBULANCE

The combined services of the police and health departments were needed yesterday when Mrs. Sarah Dye, colored, of 6119 South May street, went to the County hospital. Although she weighed only 475 pounds the last time she stepped on the scales six years ago, Mrs. Dye admits she has been gaining steadily since. Her weight now was estimated at 700 pounds. Her husband, Adolphus, and two strong policemen helped her into a private ambulance, summoned when a police patrol proved too small. The husband, a WPA worker, weighs 135 pounds. His wife, he said, weighed 350 pounds when he married her 23 years ago in Troy, O. Mrs. Dye, who is 48 years old, is suffering from high blood pressure and a heart ailment.

ILLINOIS RELIEF COSTS IN MARCH REACH $6,024,440

Direct relief in Illinois cost $6,024,440 during March when 203,137 cases representing 650,141 persons were cared for in the state. The Illinois Emergency Relief commission reported these figures yesterday.

Chicago's share of the relief expenditures was $3,021,041, which cared for 92,749 cases representing 262,010 persons. During the month 11,375 new cases were opened by the Chicago Relief administration and 12,708 cases were closed, or denied further relief.

The Illinois State Employment service reported that it received 19,044 new applicants for jobs during February and that it found jobs for 11,680 of the more than 300,000 applicants on its books.

MICHIGAN MONEY WOES THREATEN ROAD PROJECTS

Six improvement projects on the tourist route in Michigan most popular with Chicago motorists are being blocked by the state's financial difficulties which are threatening its entire $10,000,000 construction program for 1938. These six betterments were scheduled for this year on the 553 miles of Michigan roads that are part of the 944 mile tour around Lake Michigan.

"Each year we have been spending about $1,000,000 on the modernization of this coastal highway around the lake," said Murray D. van Wagoner, highway commissioner.

"Unless Gov. Frank Murphy allots us $4,000,000 more of the $5,000,000 promised by the 1937 legislature, we'll be delayed a year on those improvements that mean much to the safety and convenience of visiting Chicago motorists. Without this $4,000,000, there are federal funds of $6,000,000 that we cannot use."

The six 1938 projects, covering a total of 51.7 miles and calling for an expenditure of $1,095,000, include one for 11.5 miles of widening on U. S. 12 south of St. Joseph, which would complete a four lane pavement for the entire 93 miles between Chicago and St. Joseph.

After two days of summer weather with temperatures in the high eighties, Chicago trafic policemen were thankful last night that they may put on their summer weight uniform coats today. It was swelteringly uncomfortable inside the heavy winter blouses on Monday and yesterday, they reported. It wasn't so bad for the park policemen, however. They donned their medium weight coats on Easter Monday and will go into summer weights on June 1.

Yesterday's maximum temperature was 87 degrees at 4 p. m., the same as that of the day before. The warmest May 3 on record here was in 1928, when the temperature rose to 90. Cooler weather is forecast for today, with showers probable.

FREEZE FIVE BANK ACCOUNTS IN QUIZ ON TIMBER DEAL

2 Million Fraud Charged to Company Head.

An injunction tying up five bank accounts said to contain more than half a million dollars in funds of the Resources Corporation International, which is under investigation by the Federal Securities and Exchange commission, was granted last evening by Judge Michael Feinberg in the Circuit court.

The injunction was issued on the petition of Magnus C. Brinkman and his wife, Anna, of Sheboygan, Wis., stockholders in the corporation. At the same time Judge Feinberg ordered a hearing on appointment of a receiver for the company, which was organized in 1931 to sell timber cutting contracts on 2 million acres of Mexican lands. The suit, filed by Attorneys William A. Rogan and William C. Burns, names twenty-one individuals and five subsidiary corporations.

Charge Conversion of Billions.

The Brinkmans, who own $2,000 in stock of the corporation, charge that its chairman, Harper S. Hoover, through fraud, has got more than 2 million dollars belonging to the company and has converted it to his own purposes.

When the corporation was formed, the petition states, Hoover owned or had under his control contracts for the Mexican tracts on which $1,650,000 was still owed. He signed these over to Resources International and received in return 735,000 shares of stock valued at $7,350,000.

The tracts were worth little more than the amount owed on them, the petition continues, adding that since the company was capitalized at a million shares of stock and Hoover took 735,000 of these the company had left only 265,000 shares, valued at $2,650,000, against which there was an obligation of $1,650,000.

Say Hoover Got It All.

It is charged that Hoover immediately launched a stock selling promotion and sold more than 2 million dollars' worth of the stock, which he had obtained in various ways without cost to himself. The general public was told that the stock was treasury shares of the corporation, but no part of the proceeds went to the company, the petition states.

To establish the value of the stock, the Brinkmans assert, Hoover organized several dummy corporations that signed timber cutting contracts with Resources International. For these contracts the dummy corporations paid several thousands of dollars in advance royalties with funds supplied by Hoover, it is charged.

These sums then were distributed as dividends, raising the sale value of the stock. Because of Hoover's large stock holdings, most of the money went back into his own pockets, the petition states.

All the funds of the corporation are controled by Hoover personally or through agents in five bank accounts, which he is at liberty to withdraw in whole or part at any time, the petition adds, asking that Hoover and the other officers be enjoined from withdrawing or from in any way encumbering other assets of the company.

Judge Feinberg's restraining order lists accounts in the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, the National Boulevard Bank of Chicago, the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank, the Northern Trust company, and the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank.

Three of the accounts are in Hoover's name, with authority to draw granted to Ray Soldwell, auditor and assistant treasurer of the company; George E. Howard, secretary, and Bruce L. Hoover, nephew and associate of H. S. Hoover. The other accounts are in the name of Arnold Joerns, vice president, and B. L. Hoover, with authority to draw granted to H. S. Hoover.

HALT EXECUTION OF MRS. HAHN, POISON SLAYER

Columbus, O., May 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, Cincinnati poison slayer, was saved late today from her scheduled electrocution tomorrow evening. Chief Justice Carl Weigandt of the Ohio Supreme court granted her an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Her attorneys pointed out this means an indefinite stay of execution. The high court probably will be on vacation by the time the lengthy record of the trial is ready, so it is likely to be autumn before the appeal is heard. The United States Supreme court will then have to set a new execution date if it overrules her appeal.

The German matron was convicted last November of poisoning Jacob Wagner, elderly Cincinnati gardener. She was also accused of poisoning nearly a dozen other elderly Germans with whom she made friends.

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Maher, confidence game, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary; Edward Bednarz, Harry Tima, and Walter Pasek, robbery, sentenced to one to ten years each by Judge Rudolph Desort.

Elisher Hughes, bigamy, sentenced to one to five years; Jacob Pincich, rape, sentenced to twenty years by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

A Criminal court jury before Judge John C. Lewe yesterday found Edward Manno, 23 years old, 4700 Fulton street, guilty of manslaughter as the slayer of Sebastien Casanto, 23, of 9321 South Green street. If denied a new trial on Monday, Manno faces a sentence of 1 to 14 years.

On March 29 at Jackson boulevard and Throop street, Manno swung his car out of the trafic lane and collided head on with Casanto, who was riding on a motorcycle.

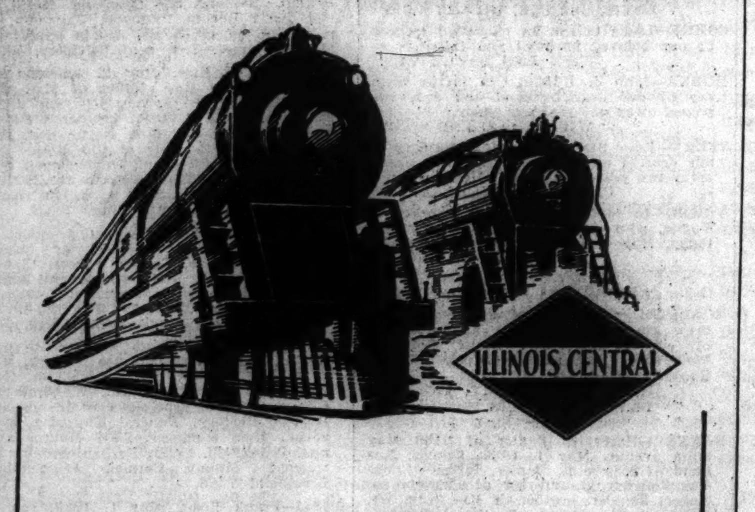
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE



... but trains must run...

Railroads must operate even when business as a whole turns sharply downward.

Facilities necessary to handle considerable traffic must be maintained.

Otherwise there could be no recovery.

Through more than a century of alternating periods of depression and recovery, our railroads have continued to sustain our nation's business—to render faster, better, safer transportation.

That record has earned and deserved public confidence. Railroads can never be a burden, but rather a staff upon which the nation may lean.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL SYSTEM

WHEN PACKARD SIX PRICES DROPPED $100
THESE THINGS BECAME TRUE . . .

1. Fewer actual dollars now separate the 1938 Packard Six from smaller cars than at any time since the introduction of this sensational model.

2. Because the Packard Six is the same identical car as before, with nothing cheapened, it offers you more fine car than has ever been available for the money.

3. Payments on a big, luxurious Packard Six now usually run not over $2 to $6 a month more than those on several smaller cars. And this is figuring on the popular 18-month basis, after minimum required down payment has been made.

Study the revealing figures at the right. Then come in—let us show you how amazingly little, if any, extra you need pay per month on a beautiful new Packard Six.

NOW you can buy a big, 100-horsepower Packard Six 4-door Touring Sedan, delivered in this city with standard equipment, for only $1137

If your present car is of average value, it will probably cover the low down payment of $395

Monthly payments on the balance may be arranged on attractive terms.

A BIG DIFFERENCE IN VALUE! A SMALL DIFFERENCE IN PRICE!

PACKARD SIX	122″	48	$ - - - - -
Car A	122″	24	$23 less
Car B	119″	28	$60 less
Car C	119″	28	$100 less
Car D	122″	30	$65 less
Car E	122″	30	$10 more
Car F	121″	28	$20 less
Car G	117″	38	$75 less
Car H	124″	38	$37 more
Car I	117″	34	$128 less
Car J	122″	34	$64 less
Car K	116½″	31	$30 less
Car L	115″	30	$160 less

The above comparison shows that price differences between the Packard Six and widely-sold lesser cars are now astonishingly small! And remember, to find quality comparable to a Packard Six, you would have to go to cars costing hundreds of dollars more!

HARRY A. LAIRD, TRIBUNE TRAFIC MANAGER, DIES

Heart Ailment Is Fatal to Transportation Expert.

Harry [Henry] A. Laird, trafic manager of THE TRIBUNE, widely known as an authority in all fields of transportation, died yesterday in his home, 2516 Lawndale avenue, Evanston. Mr. Laird, who was 54 years old, had been ill for six weeks with coronary thrombosis.

Harry A. Laird.

Primarily a railroad man, and known as one or the best informed men in the country on railroad rates, Mr. Laird's interests covered every branch of transportation.

He was born on Aug. 17, 1883, in Brantford, Ont. At the age of 18, after his graduation from high school, Mr. Laird went to work for the Grand Trunk railroad at Portland, Me., as a clerk in the freight office.

Employed by Tribune in 1920.

His employment continued with the Canadian Northern and Canadian National railways, all part of the same system, as passenger and freight agents at various towns in Canada and Nova Scotia. In 1920 THE TRIBUNE employed him to find freight cars for pulpwood needed at the paper mills when a car shortage developed in Canada.

Soon after this he came to Chicago in THE TRIBUNE'S trafic department, and in 1927 was appointed manager.

Virtually all of the editorials on railroad problems and other branches of the transportation industry for several years have been written by Mr. Laird. His news articles in the financial and Graphic sections of the paper also attracted wide attention.

Urged Car Ferry Across Lake.

For many years he urged railroads to speed their passenger service. Another interest, of which he often wrote, was the establishment of a Lake Michigan car ferry service between the western and eastern shores.

Mr. Laird also favored regional consolidation of railroads as productive of greater efficiency and economy. And in his writings he constantly urged less governmental restriction and a freer hand for railroads, aviation companies, truckers, and other divisions of the transportation industry.

Surviving Mr. Laird are his widow, Mrs. Janet G. Laird, and two sons, Robert W., a copywriter in THE TRIBUNE advertising department, and Murray A. Laird, a high school student. Funeral services will be held in the home at 3 p. m. tomorrow, with Dr. Robert Lee Logan of the Northminster Presbyterian church in Evanston officiating. The body will be cremated.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

If there was anything to question in W-G-N-Mutual's presentation of "Martha," first of the new condensed opera in English, with drama and sound effects, series, it was the narrator's descriptive phrase, "a cameo version." "Cameo" has a quaint, old fashioned ring to it. This new way of doing opera is bright and brisk; it's in the horizontal plane. You might call it "bullet opera"—whizz and it's gone.

In Europe opera usually is given in the language of the land; in America in the tongue in which it was originally presented. That may be one reason why opera on the air has been none too enthusiastically received by the great mass of listeners.

In the new W-G-N series Conductor Henry Weber and Production Director Lou Jackobson not only streamlined the ornate English librettos but gave the lines a thoroughly modern flavor. Note [below] the contrast to this nineteenth century translation of a bit of Martha's dialog:

Ah, forbear, no joy or pleasure
Hath my weariness beguiled,
Naught on earth that I can treasure,
Joy on me ne'er yet hath smiled.
All that wealth to me can render
Is annulled by grim ennui.

Ah, what spell of sorrow,
Ah, what weight of anguish
On my life fortune has laid.
Am I only born to languish,
Ah, is joy forever fled?

To which her girl friend counters:

Balls and tournaments invite thee,
Gallant knights thy colors wear.
Doth such glory not delight thee?

To which Martha continues to lament:

Everything my heart could pleasure
When 'tis mine I cast away,
All that other maidens treasure
Meets me only to betray.

Here's what Weber and Jackobson made of the above:

Martha [sighing]—Oh, Nancy, I'm so sick of all this . . .

Nancy—Sick of it? If I were in your place I'd be glad of it . . . dresses, jewels, and admirers!

Nancy—He is wealthy!

Martha—I don't care . . . I want excitement . . . not this eternal boredom . . . why can't I be like other women . . . do the things I want to do?

That gives you an idea. All recitative in the opera is eliminated and dialog of this flavor substituted. The musical numbers—arias, duets, quartets and choral numbers—are presented by one cast and the dialog by a dramatic cast, acting to a background of instrumental music as they portray the opera's story. Thus, Kathryn Witwer sang Martha's part and Rita Ascot spoke her lines.

"Martha," which has a pretty feeble story, was nevertheless a good one to introduce this series because of its extraordinary tunefulness.

Next to be given the reducing treatment is "Carmen." We can hardly wait until they put the Toreador song through the wringer!

OFFICIAL BRANDS MANY OF RADIO PROGRAMS SILLY

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—George Henry Payne, a member of the federal communications commission, assailed David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, tonight for his recent criticism of government control of the radio industry.

Speaking at the National Academy of Broadcasting, Payne said: "From the head of the company that was responsible for the Mae West broadcast, one might have expected a milder note.

"There is not a word of apology [in Sarnoff's speech] for the bloodcurdling programs that do harm to children nor for the character of the programs that have been described in so many places as moronic and fit only for the intellect of a child of 12.

"Of the many differences between the newspaper and the broadcaster, might mention the fact that no newspaper forces itself into a man's home, nor does it afflict his children without his wishes and consent. . . . They [broadcasters] are filling our homes with propaganda and the blare of advertising. The vast majority of programs are either silly or degrading."

FRED A. STOWE, EDITOR IN PEORIA, DIES AT 67 YEARS

Peoria, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—Frederick Arthur Stowe, 67 years old, editor in chief of the Peoria Journal Transcript, died of heart disease at his home late today. He was born in Chicago Aug. 29, 1870, and was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1892, where he was on the varsity baseball team. He did graduate work at Northwestern university and the University of Chicago.

Stowe started newspaper work in 1894 as a reporter for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and from 1896 until 1907 was a political writer on the Chicago Chronicle.

In 1907 Stowe left newspaper work and became assistant to the president of the Chicago City Railway company, a position he held until 1911. In that year he became affiliated with the Peoria Transcript.

Survivors include the widow, Marion; a daughter Mrs. Philip Sheridan of Cincinnati, and a son, Seymour F. Stowe, of Springfield.

Edwin C. Holston.

New York, May 3.—(AP)—Edwin C. Holston, 66 years old, an outstanding authority on 19th and 20th century French paintings, died tonight. Holston helped form many noted art collections, including the Havemeyer collection in the Metropolitan museum here and the Coburn collection in Chicago's Art institute.

SHOCK OF WIFE'S DEATH IS FATAL TO HER HUSBAND

Fred Wilder, 74 years old, who was for more than fifty years engaged in the steel business, died yesterday in his home in Blue Island only eight hours after his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Wilder, had died in the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, of an infection. Mrs. Wilder was 64 years old, and the couple had been married 47 years.

Members of the family said that Mr. Wilder suffered a severe shock several weeks ago when he learned his wife's illness was incurable and that the news of her death caused him to collapse. Five sons and two daughters survive. Joint funeral services will be held in St. Benedict's church, Blue Island, at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Loyola Students Hold Mass for Mrs. Elizabeth Cudahy

A solemn requiem high mass, attended by students and faculty members of Loyola university, was celebrated yesterday in St. Ignatius church for the late Elizabeth M. HIGHLAND PARK MAYOR'S WIFE DEAD AT AGE 73

Mrs. Mary Ann Dooley, 73 years old, wife of Mayor William M. Dooley of Highland Park, died last night in her home at 589 Elm place in the suburb after a long illness. She had suffered from leukemia, a rare blood disease which last December took the life of her grandnephew, Jackie Sheahan, 8 years old.

Mrs. Dooley had lived in Highland Park all her life. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sheahen, who settled on government land there in 1856. Mrs. Dooley was a charter member of the Highland Park Woman's club and was a past president of the North Shore Catholic Women's league.

She and her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last July. A brother, Charles Sheahen, and a sister, Mrs. Jane Mills of Highland Park, also survive.

MRS. EDW. HINES ESTATE VALUE IS PLACED AT $10,000

The estate of Mrs. Loretta Hines, widow of Edward Hines, wealthy lumber man and philanthropist, was valued at $10,000 yesterday in a petition for letters of administration filed by her son, Ralph, of Lake Bluff, with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. In addition, Mrs. Hines had a life interest in a million dollar trust created by Hines for his family and employés. She died on April 1.

Interpretations of the provisions of his will and the trust are being contested in the Appellate court to clarify division of the income and capital. Mr. Hines founded the Edward Hines Jr., Memorial hospital for war veterans, in memory of his son, killed in the world war.

Garden Lovers Leave Sunday for Convention

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE will be almost a general exodus of garden clubbers from this part of the country on Sunday when three carloads entrain for Philadelphia, where the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America will be held next week, from Monday through Friday.

Usually each club that belongs to the Garden Club of America is allowed to send a small quota to the annual meeting, but this year because the club is celebrating the 25th anniversary of its founding, any member of any of the clubs that make up the membership of the national club may attend the meeting. So Philadelphia is making plans to entertain about 2,000 women instead of the 500 who ordinarily attend the meeting each year.

Philadelphia is the meeting place this spring because it was there that the club was founded. The Bellevue-Stratford will be the headquarters of the visitors, who will register on Monday, attend the annual meeting Tuesday morning, and the annual dinner Wednesday night. Every spare moment will be spent visiting some of the 500 gardens that will be open in and near Philadelphia, and attending small luncheons and dinners.

The meeting will close on Friday night with a garden party at the Pierre du Ponts' in Wilmington. The famous colored fountains will play at the party, of course, and it is anticipated that the affair will be the highlight of the five day meeting.

Conservation Chairman Will Give Luncheon.

One of the many smaller parties will be a luncheon that Mrs. Robert T. Wright will give on Wednesday. She is conservation chairman, and among her guests will be the Illinois chairman, Mrs. Mark Cresap of Winnetka. Mrs. Cresap is going on to New York to visit her daughter after the Philadelphia meeting, but she will not be among the women sailing for Bermuda on May 20 to spend four days on the island as the guests of the Garden Club of Bermuda and Gov. Lieut. Gen. Sir Reginald J. T. Hildyard. The National Council of State Garden Clubs will meet in New York from May 16 through the 20th, and it is delegates to this meeting who have been invited to go to Bermuda.

On the day the guests arrive in Bermuda Sir Reginald and Lady Hildyard will give a garden party at Government house, and there are several other delightful affairs planned for the four days. Mrs. George Plamondon, newly elected president of the Garden Club of Illinois, will go to the New York meeting, but she is not going to Bermuda. Mrs. Warren W. Shoemaker is passing up the Philadelphia meeting, for she has seen most of the gardens there, but she is going to New York and then on to Bermuda.

So are Mrs. O. W. Dynes, Mrs. Raymond Knotts, and Mrs. Lillian Warren. Some of those who will be in Philadelphia are Mrs. John W. Gary and Mrs. Howard C. Phillips, who will motor east together; Mrs. John T. Pirie, Mrs. Roy Sturtevant, Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, Mrs. Albert D. Farwell, Mrs. Gordon Pirie, Mrs. Arch Shaw, Mrs. Frederick H. Scott, Mrs. Walter N. Gillette, Mrs. Hugh Foresman, Mrs. Grant Ridgway, Mrs. Bentley McCloud, Mrs. Charles H. Coffin, and Mrs. C. G. Littell.

Select Judges for Junior League Art Show.

Mrs. Richardson Dunham and Mrs. Richard Stearns, both famous as expert needlewomen, are to judge the entries in the hobby show that will be a part of the annual exhibition of fine arts the Junior League of Chicago will hold on Friday. John Storrs, Daniel Catton Rich, and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed will judge the art.

The exhibition will be held in the Tower room of the Drake hotel, and at 3:30 o'clock Thomas Hart Benton will talk about "Art and Internationalism." Members of the board will serve tea under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Silverthorne Jr. and Mrs. Sidney Waud.

Prenuptial Parties for Jane Hart.

The last weeks before the wedding on May 21 of Miss Jane Hare to John H. Harmon Jr. will be filled with

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Mary Carr and other young women whose mothers are members of the Ridge Service Guild of Beverly Hills will assist at a bridge tea the guild is giving this afternoon at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Albert Lucius is chairman of the party which is being given in the place of the guild's annual gala day parties, usually held at a country club. Proceeds go to the Martha Washington Home for Crippled Children and the Morgan Park Home for Dependent Children.

The Housewife

Every kitchen can use a few more hooks. We've found a clever gadget consisting of a slender metal rod on which were five small, movable hooks. You attach this rod, horizontally, to the under edge of a cupboard shelf or the walls or the window ledge and slide the hooks along to the most convenient position. They cannot slip off. And they'll hold cups or kitchen knives, spoons, etc. A set costs only a few cents.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Dr. John M. Wier Awarded Howard T. Ricketts Prize

The Howard Taylor Ricketts prize of the University of Chicago was awarded yesterday to Dr. John Marshall Weir for his researches on the reactions of the lungs to blood vessel injuries. Dr. Weir, an intern in the University of Chicago clinics, received his bachelor degree at the university in 1933 and his M. D. and Ph. D. in 1937. The Ricketts prize honors the University of Chicago bacteriologist who discovered the typhus germ and died a martyr to his discovery in Mexico.

Assurance Society.

The Cook county cabinet of the National Union Assurance society will give an entertainment and dance Saturday evening in the Skyline Athletic club, 188 West Randolph street. Funds obtained will be used in providing free hospitalization to needy members of the society.

Women Want Men to Lead Their Concerts

Apparently the women directors of the Woman's Symphony orchestra think that women play better when a man wields the baton. It was announced yesterday that Gladys Welge had been appointed conductor, but it also was announced that there would be men guest conductors at all of next season's concerts except one, or one-half a concert, when Miss Welge will conduct.

The new board met for the first time yesterday at the Woman's Athletic club and later had luncheon in the solarium at a gardenia decorated table. The flowers ornamented the shoulders of the thirty or forty guests when luncheon was over, for Mrs. Royden J. Keith, who is starting her second term as president, had arranged to have as many flowers as there were guests.

The other new officers are: Vice presidents, Mrs. Clifford J. Caldwell, Mrs. Clarence W. Schaaf, Mrs. H. Comer Winter; recording secretary, Mrs. Henry B. Vanzwoll; corresponding secretary, Miss Alice Barler; treasurer, Mrs. Ewald H. Siebel, and assistant treasurer, Mrs. Hugo Dalmar.

This morning at 11 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club Mrs. Byfield [Helen Abbott] will give a program entitled "French Songs and French Sauces" at a meeting of the Kemper Hall alumnæ.

New Play Togs Gay Mixtures of Fast Colors

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Country or play clothes with unusually effective color schemes and snappy tailoring are colorfast. You're assured by this name that you can, if you can "take it," loll about in the sun for hours on end without any fadeout fatalities to the colors.

The stuff is printed cotton, sturdy and crisp. The design is called Hungarian print; it's small, precise, and peasant-ish.

Another whimsical idea is a long sleeved Gibson girl shirtwaist teamed with the newest and dizziest pair of shorts to date, the shorts being made with cuffs. These outfits mix coral and blue print in the shirtwaist with shorts of orange plain material and orange flat buttons down the prim undecorated shirtwaist. Other colors for shorts are light blue, pink, and brown, with the same colors predominating in the shirtwaists. All of which sounds utterly mad, but the outfits are sane against a country scene or tumbling out of vacation baggage.

Good looking dirndl dresses [the darn things bob up serenely again this summer] are grand buys for the sylphlike figures, but short, plump souls should avoid them. They come in the same fetching Hungarian printed cottons. Streaking down the front are dozens of small buttons painted with naive flower designs, single bloom, and stiff little green leaves.

St. Joseph's College to Celebrate 75th Anniversary Today

The 75th anniversary of St. Joseph's college will be observed today and tomorrow with religious ceremonies on the campus three miles northwest of Hinsdale.

St. Joseph's is now exclusively an institution for the training of the priesthood of the Franciscan order, but formerly had lay students. Its original site was at Teutopolis, Ill. Among its graduates are 650 priests and two bishops. Its quarters are now on the former Mayslake estate of Stuyvesant Peabody.

Club Delegates Hear Pleas to Defend Liberty

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Americans should be thankful for their democratic government and should work to preserve it, 1,500 members of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs were told at the opening of their forty-third annual convention yesterday at the Hotel Sherman.

"Be it ever so 'grumble' there's no place like home," declared Mrs. William Dick Sporborg of Port Chester, N. Y., chairman of legislation for the General Federation of Women's Clubs. This, she said, was her reaction on returning recently from her fourteenth trip abroad. She told of talking with Pastor Niemoeller in Berlin just before he was sent to a concentration camp, of rising at dawn with workers on a collective farm in Russia, and of discussing rearmament with British labor leaders.

"Let's not knock our country—it's too dangerous. That's how dissatisfied people were misled to support dictatorships in other countries," Mrs. Sporborg averred.

Democracy must be translated into terms of everyday life if it is to be worth anything, Mrs. Sporborg said, adding that "it is up to us women to lend a helping hand—we women are so blessed with leisure provided for us by our men."

Democracy is in competition with planned economy in the world today, but in the end democracy will win, predicted Barclay Acheson, associate editor of the Reader's Digest.

"More progress toward social justice has been made in this country in the last century than in any previous period in human history," Mr. Acheson pointed out.

"Progress and liberty always have been linked because only when men are free can they develop the initiative to solve their problems intelligently," he summarized. "The enlightened minority is free to lead the way in a democracy—in a corporate state it is wiped out by a firing squad."

The Rogers Park Woman's club will receive a $50 prize for its safety work as winner of a nation-wide contest.

This afternoon the Illinois federation will dedicate a tree at the north end of the Field museum in celebration of the 150th anniversary of the constitution. The tree will be planted in earth from historic spots in the state.

Through the Looking Glass

One of the perfume houses has done something pretty smart with two new colognes. The vogue, of course, is for perfumed colognes. This house makes a whole flock of fine and well liked scents but has brought out colognes in just these two because they blended so beautifully with cologne—a point a lot of cologne makers often overlook.

These have the refreshing lightness of the good cologne; they make the flesh feel cooler and cleaner. And the perfumes are beautiful; both are on what we must, despite a growing loathing of the word, describe as the "glamorous" side. In cologne they make a perfect blend. One has a spicy sort of a tang but it isn't too blatantly a sport scent. It can be used by any woman who likes fresh but feminine fragrances. The other is much more on the romantic sides.

We like the fragrances, as we've said. And we certainly like the price! These are not too expensive—in fact, not at all expensive, which is one thing we think should be said of colognes. Colognes packaged and then priced like perfumes give us a huge pain. Cologne, to our mind, is something to be used to supplement perfume—and when it's too expensive it can't possibly work out this way.

We like the way these inexpensive colognes are bottled, too.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Columnist's Clock.

Hollywood, Cal., May 3.—9 a. m.—The sun finally makes the grade after three weeks of trying, and it's amazing how shafts of sunlight streaming into a room perk up your spirits. Telephone calls from Randy Scott, Jimmy Ritz, Bill Frawley, and George Von Elm. A memo that Kim Moran is in town. A note to call Jules Levey, at RKO, in for a quick trip. A letter from Joe Moore, who refuses to believe Broadway is dull. A thief broke in and swiped all of his clothes, and as Mister Moore is the well dressed man of the furious forties, the loss approaches a national calamity.

A letter from Etienne Giradot, in just the handwriting you'd imagine he'd use. Cary Grant calls; he's leaving for Honolulu. Yes, sir, whistle while you work. A report on Atlantic City from Anatole Friedland. Benny Fields calls and wants to know if he left his cigaret case the night before. He did.

10 a. m.—A round of golf at Bel Air with Randy Scott, Director Bill Seiter, and Fred Ackerman. Luckily your reporter gets the long hitting Scott for a partner, because the opposition is splitting the fairways with drives and Seiter is sinking putts all over the lot. Carolina's Scott is hot as a firecracker. Your west coast correspondent pockets $8 in winnings.

1 p. m.—Luncheon with Marcel Lamaze, the restaurateur. He has compiled a list of Hollywood preferences in food for me for a story. Joan Crawford never eats dessert; Irving Berlin insists on charcoal broiled steaks, blackened on the outside; Martha Raye asks for bowls of seafood; Alice Faye's favorite dish is chicken sauté, with mushrooms, pineapple, and wild rice; W. C. Fields sticks to corned beef and cabbage and drinks a dry sherry; Cary Grant orders oysters Rockefeller, prepared with strips of tongue and bacon, flavored with grated cheese and spinach.

"Don't tell me that John D. Sr. ever ate those," I protested to M. Lamaze.

"That's what they call 'em," he insisted.

Fernand Gravet, he says, is the Hollywood connoisseur of wines, and drinks three wines with a meal. . . . Jerome Kern is not so particular about food, but very particular about getting bottled water. . . . L. B. Mayer eats T-bone steaks; Alan Jones orders baby steaks with mustard sauce; Groucho Marx likes chopped liver and marinated herring; Danielle Darrieux has crêpe Monte Carlo, a crêpe suzette with strawberries and chopped almonds. . . . Heartiest eater of the glamor girls is Loretta Young, who orders two desserts.

2 p. m.—An interview with Basil Rathbone, which you'll read later. Then to Paramount to see George Raft and Fred MacMurray.

4 p. m.—Driving home, the car radio brings a familiar voice, that of Grover A. Whalen, who is speaking of the late George Gershwin. "Before his death the great genius was commissioned to compose a theme song for the World's Fair," he says, "and you are about to hear it." It's a curious sensation to hear, in a car on a California road, the theme song of your home town's World Fair.

5 p. m.—Banging out a daily column. It is the 200th column I've written about Hollywood, approximately. Seven a week for seven months and a half. It doesn't seem so long ago that I was writing about the Indian braves at Albuquerque, on the trip west. Since then, 200,000 words, about celebs of Glamorville-on-the-Pacific. A regular chatterbox.

7 p. m.—A buffet dinner given by Arthur Lyons at the mansion which Cole Porter leased from King Vidor. Porter couldn't come west, so he turned it over to Lyons. Myrna Loy, Arthur Hornblow Jr., Hedy La Marr, Reggie Gardiner, Benny Fields, Blossom Seeley, Mary Carlisle, Phyllis Welch, Jack Dunn, Eleanor Whitney, the Jack Haleys, the Jack Bennys, Burns and Allen, the George Murphys, the Rufus LeMaires, General Foods' butler and a score of others were there.

11 p. m.—The real thrill of the evening came late. Blossom Seeley asked Ira Gershwin if he recalled the night that she and Benny had sung at Carnegie hall in George's opera, "135th Street." He nodded. "Indeed I do. By the way, Blossom, have you heard the records Tibbets made of Porgy and Bess?"

So there in King Vidor's home on the hills above Beverly, Ira Gershwin played the records of George Gershwin's greatest work, to which Ira had contributed the lyrics. Forgetting us completely, Ira stood staring into the fireplace, pipe in hand, as Lawrence Tibbet's voice rang out in "It Ain't Necessarily So." We played the entire score, and when we said good night, at the door, Ira Gershwin's face was wet with tears.

SYNOPSIS.

Elizabeth Sandal inherits an unexpected fortune on the death of her husband. A will made early in their marriage makes no mention of their children, Dorothea and Oliver. Elizabeth is distressed when Dorothea expresses a desire to have her own London flat.

INSTALMENT III.

THE WORLD FOR THE YOUNG.

"The children work very hard and why shouldn't they have a little fun when it offers?" Mrs. Sandal exclaimed. "Dorothea has gone to a theater, but Oliver is working late."

Mrs. Lawrence laughed.

"I accept your correction, 'in principle,' as the nations say when they mean to do as they please but won't admit it," she said. "Nevertheless I hate the little monsters, yours and mine and all the rest of them.

"I want to cry with rage, Elizabeth, and there's no satisfaction in crying alone. That's why I am here, in case you are feeling grateful for this visit."

"What has happened?" asked Mrs. Sandal, smiling.

"Why, Muriel has sent the child and dog to me again and gone off to Paris with Harry to enjoy herself. I am positively a dumping ground for my grandchildren. The nurse conveniently developed a sick father, so I must take her place, it seems. And the dog will dig up the tulips, and the baby will get croup or set the house on fire if I leave them for five minutes. Such a good opportunity for Muriel to shut up the flat and economize! The world must have changed considerably if a trip to Paris has become an economy, I must say," finished Mrs. Lawrence indignantly.

"You've only just had Edith's two boys," recalled her friend. "Why weren't you firm with Muriel?"

"Ah, they are too clever for me. She simply wired an hour beforehand and sent them by the wretched nurse with a note."

Mrs. Lawrence sighed and leaned back in her easy chair, feeling a little better. Though some of her irritation was assumed to make a story, there was reality behind it, which was general as well as particular. She thought her daughter's ruse not merely tiresome but symptomatic.

"The fact is the world has made a cult of the young and it has gone to their heads," she said. "Everything has been made too easy for them, even cleverness. We had to acquire our knowledge of life by hard experience; theirs has been given to them in six easy lessons, and the result is that they say everything and know nothing, want everything and give nothing. It is high time a little sympathy was given to the middle-aged instead—people like you and me, my dear, who because our children are grown up, are expected to be put aside and used as supernumeraries to suit their occasional convenience."

"If they are as bad as that," said Elizabeth, "we must be partly to blame. We brought them up."

"Not we. They brought each other up, the times brought them up, the newspapers brought them up, Freud brought them up, post-war sentimentality brought them up. O, a liberal education! Patriotism is wrong, reticence a crime, the great of the earth were frauds and actuated only by sex—we'll show them up, however many centuries they may have been dead. . . ."

She paused, looked expectantly at Elizabeth.

"You are too tired even to argue," she said with sudden compunction.

"No, but generalizations are never quite fair, and the young are not to blame for all this," answered her friend.

"Bless you, I am not blaming them. I am making excuses for them after the foolish manner of mothers, to assure myself they are not really bad at heart," said Mrs. Lawrence, assuming a lighter tone.

She had been trying to divert Elizabeth, who was looking, she thought, more spent than she had ever seen her. But it flashed into her mind that perhaps she had touched delicate ground and she retreated.

"I suppose I should be thankful Muriel didn't send the baby by parcel post," she finished, bringing the dissertation neatly back to her own grievance and leaving it there.

Before she left she remarked in a casual tone:

"As soon as you get all the business settled up you ought to go right away for a change. Why not go abroad? I always think it such a relief not to see any familiar faces just now and again."

"Paris," said Elizabeth. "I haven't been there for years, Sarah. . . . I am not sleeping. That's why you find me so dull."

The last words seemed to be an apology and Mrs. Lawrence returned briskly.

"No."

Elizabeth, going back into the house after seeing her friend depart, was more convinced by her simple statement than by any protestations of concern. Sarah, after all, had been through it and must know.

"I must get away," she thought. "None of this will be important; when I am in my right mind."

Next morning the change seemed less easy to accomplish and even to put into words. Oliver was wanted by Sir Michael for the week-end in the country, and his dependence upon her as she packed his bag and hurried him off made her feel that she could not possibly get away.

"Spoilt brat," Dorothea called him as he opened drawers, flinging the contents about the room and announced with a tragic face that this or that indispensable article was missing.

The country week-end at which Sir Michael Bryce required his presence, was not likely to be arduous, though Oliver chose to range it under the heading of business. Prissy Bryce, who liked her immediate world to be well populated, had ordered her father to bring him and then telephoned Oliver to make sure there should be no mistake.

"Oliver, my pet, you simply must come or Daddy will be foaming at the mouth. You know how he leans on you. And think of me, stranded with a foaming father! You see the point, don't you?"

Though he proposed to see any point Prissy Bryce might desire, he did not say so, but assured her he would manage it somehow, giving the impression that it would be difficult but accomplished for her sake. Presentable and unattached young men being always "in good demand" like Scotch beef or Jersey new potatoes, soon learn their own value, and Oliver's suddenly acquired financial stability was fortifying if not actually heady.

The future looked bright and promising. He could take his place with confidence among Prissy's more affluent attendants, no longer hampered by a certainty that she was a luxury he could not hope to afford.

It was a pity his father had not troubled to make a more suitable will, he thought, for his mother, who knew absolutely nothing about finance, ought not to be burdened with the care of the money. That should be his affair.

Meanwhile it was pleasing to realize that Sir Michael and Lady Bryce already treated him as a son and that Prissy desired his presence in Sussex in no sisterly manner.

Until Sunday afternoon the week-end was an unqualified success, as far as Oliver was concerned. Everybody loved him and he was at his brightest. Then the half dozen young people whom Prissy had invited were joined by Basil Halliday, one of those tiresome men who love to hold the floor and pretend to know everything and everybody.

"Hullo Sandal, old boy. What have you been up to, getting cut off with a shilling? Own up now, and tell us all about it. Was it, wine, woman, or song?" demanded the newcomer.

Chicagoans Named in Fellowship Lists of Rosenwald Fund

Four Chicagoans are among the recipients of fellowships for 1938 awarded yesterday to thirty-four Negroes by the Julius Rosenwald fund. The awards average $1,600.

The Chicagoans are: Arna Bontemps, principal of Shiloh academy, novelist, playwright, and poet, for creative writing; Shirley Graham, supervisor of the Negro unit of the federal theater project in Chicago, for studies in the theater and music at the Yale school of fine arts; Dewey Jones, newspaper man and associate adviser on Negro affairs in the department of the interior, to continue sociological studies at Hull house, and Horace Clayton, to continue studies in sociology and statistics at the University of Chicago.

Win SKIN-BEAUTY AND YOU Win ROMANCE

To make your dreams of romance come true, first make your complexion dreams come true. Your skin, to become clean, clear and naturally lovely, needs the aid of highly effective Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Cuticura Ointment corrects and helps clear away externally caused blemishes. Fragrant Cuticura Soap deep-cleanses pores and aids in refining skin-texture. Used regularly, this combination does much to promote complexion loveliness.

Start using Cuticura today. Approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Ointment 25¢, Soap 25¢. Sold at all druggists. For FREE sample, write to Cuticura, Dept. 92, Malden, Mass.

Discontent of Youngster May Lie Very Deep

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Comments here and there: "Such a discontented little face as Gloria has—and everything in the world she wants."

"Really, he's not a happy boy, and with all the loving attention he gets! Why, the whole family adores him and they read to him and entertain him, and get down on the floor and play with him. Their lives center about that child—he's mighty lucky."

"Such a fretful, whining runabout as Myra has! I was in there yesterday in the morning and the poor girl could hardly get her work done—she was frantic. She kept putting the baby back in that lovely sunny playroom she and Jim decorated with such pains, but he just tagged her every room she was in."

Three discontented children—discontented in spite of apparently having everything to make them happy. The first was in a sense a "poor little rich girl"—satiated, surfeited with too many toys, too much of everything.

The second discontented because everything that was play or amusement came from without. He was the passive one, receiving from his adoring family, looking on, when as a child he should have been active—doing things himself, creating play and amusement, trying, experimenting, failing, succeeding, concentrating, losing himself in the big business of his life.

The third, the walking and talking baby-child, was discontented because she was neglected. O, immaculately clean, vitamined, and sunbathed to the queen's taste, but neglected, nevertheless. Her mother was the perfect housekeeper, worked by schedule; but she was without real interest in this curious, inquiring, learning, cozy, companionable little daughter who was already a person to be reckoned with, to be listened to, to be thought worthy of a mother's time and attention.

Here are three discontented children and as many causes. In each case, if you think a minute you can see the way to a cure.

N. U. Alumni Hold Annual Candle Lighting Service

A giant purple candle in the tower of Old College, first building erected on the Evanston campus of Northwestern university, last night signaled the beginning of the school's annual ritual of loyalty. Approximately 1,000 alumni met in Thorne hall on the Chicago campus, and the candle lighting service was repeated by alumni groups throughout the world.

DU PAGE GEORGE BRENT OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND "GOLD IS WHERE YOU FIND IT"

parties for them. Miss Welthyan Harmon, a cousin of the bridegroom, is entertaining the bridal party Saturday night, May 14, and on Sunday noon, the 15th, Miss Jean Williams, who is to be a bridesmaid, will give a breakfast at home in Highland Park. Miss Virginia Jeffries, another bridesmaid, is entertaining at cocktails that afternoon.

Mr. and Henry J. Anderson will give a dinner for the bridal party Wednesday, the 18th, at home in Highland Park, and the following night Mr. Harmon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Harmon, will give a dinner for their son and his fiancée. Mrs. George B. Hart, mother of the bride, will give the bridal dinner at the Exmoor Country club on the eve of the wedding.

The wedding is to take place at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park, the Rev. Christoph Keller officiating. A reception will follow at the Exmoor club. The bride, who is a granddaughter of Mrs. James A. Hart and the late Mr. Hart, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Jenkins, long time Chicago residents, will have her fiancé's sister, Miss Emily Harmon, for her maid of honor. Miss Harmon, a debutante of last season, is interrupting her studies at Smith to come home for the wedding. The other feminine attendants will be Miss Mary Morgan, Miss Lucy Jane Hedberg, Miss Ruth Harvey, and Miss Martha Jane Forman.

Henry W. Boyd of Nashville, Tenn., formerly of Highland Park, will be best man. Ushering will be Gerrit Van Schaick, a cousin of Mr. Harmon; Charles Mullery of Minneapolis, former roommate at Princeton of Mr. Harmon; John H. Gardner, Roger Taylor, Everett Millard Jr., and Donald Harby.

Mr. Harmon and his bride will live in Minneapolis, where he is engaged in business.

Mrs. James R. Offield Is Guest at Pittsfield.

From Pittsfield in the Berkshires comes word that Mrs. James R. Offield is expected there today for a short visit with Mrs. Thomas H. Blodgett at Great Pine farm in Great Barrington, Mass. Later in the week both will leave for Philadelphia for the Garden club convention.

Mrs. Louis S. Taylor recently took a trip to Lenox to inspect her garden at Plumstead, but she will not go east for the summer until the middle of this month.

Count and Countess Ruggero Visconti of Lombardo, Italy, are in this country for a vacation, and just now are at the Red Lion Inn at Stockbridge. It is uncertain whether they will come to Chicago to visit or whether her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, will go east to see the Viscontis. If the Fairbankses do go east, it is probable that their other daughter, Mrs. Frederick A. Poole Jr., will accompany them.

Mrs. Lagorio Injured in Fall on Ship.

The delightful trip to Italy that Mrs. Frank A. Lagorio and her daughter, Miss Carlotta Lagorio, had planned, ended disastrously almost before it began for Mrs. Lagorio. She fell on shipboard and broke a knee and had to spend four weeks in a hospital in Naples. Her son, Dr. Frank A. Lagorio Jr., who was in England, went to Naples to be with his mother. After she was installed in the hospital he took his sister for a short tour through Italy.

As soon as Mrs. Lagorio was well enough to travel she and her daughter boarded the Count di Savoia and returned to America, arriving in Chicago last Saturday. Mrs. Lagorio is getting along nicely, but it will be another month or six weeks before she will be out.

Healthy Scalp Helps General Skin Condition

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A certain highly reputable beautician is following the wise tactics of including scalp treatments where incipient acne is developing. Her claim is that many an acne case begins in the scalp and that stimulating the scalp has a most beneficial effect on the skin. She observes that where there is acne one finds invariably a poor scalp.

No eruptions may appear on the scalp, but stringy, oily, and dead-appearing hair is the giveaway. In extreme cases, there may be an unpleasant, oily odor.

To be on the safe side, therefore, where one is suffering the acne disturbance, the scalp had better be included in the treatment. It certainly will do no harm. On the contrary, along with a blemish-free face you may eventually emerge with a lovely new head of hair. And the fact that your hair is beginning to take on a new life will give you a lift and encouragement to keep on with the acne treatments.

It never did a lady any harm to perfect the beauty of her hair, regardless of the condition of her skin. And another important argument to present is that the better condition the hair is in, the better the face will look.

Greeks Will Give Dinner for Head of City Schools

About 500 Chicago Greeks will honor William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, at a dinner on May 15 at the Hotel Sherman. Paul Demos, attorney, is chairman of the affair. Demetrios Benetatos, Greek consul general for Chicago, and Bishop Callistos of San Francisco, of the Greek church, will be speakers. Mr. Demos said that Superintendent Johnson was the first school leader in Chicago to have modern Greek taught in the high schools. It is taught at Austin and Amundsen High schools.

Dainty Dress for Graduation

MISS' GRADUATION AND PARTY FROCK.

In about a month or so the schools will be pouring forth the annual bevy of sweet girl graduates. On the day of days when she receives her diploma, every young woman likes to be as pretty as a picture, and no frock in the world can seem half as important as her graduation dress. We are offering a distinctly girlish and pretty one today, a double-duty frock that can march before the dean at the solemn exercises and be a formal gown at the festivities afterward. The secret lies in the bolero, which makes the frock discreet for the graduation rites. Without the jacket the frock is a regular formal, but one in which the décolletage is not too low. Girls in their teens seldom wear severely cut formals.

Dotted sheers, plain sheers in all pastels, but usually white, are the prescription. If your school avoids the principle of having all dresses alike, you could have a dainty pastel print in chiffon, organza or cotton voile.

Style No. 2947 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years.

SCISSORS BEGIN SWISHING, needles start to hum and new clothes blossom as soon as Clotilde's big new 32 page Summer Fashion Book comes out. Its 130-odd sketches, photos of movie star styles and patterns are irresistible to any woman interested in new things to wear. Get a copy today at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents, or 20 cents for the book and one Clotilde pattern, if ordered at the same time.

Food markets are fascinating places these days, for fresh fruits and vegetables of all descriptions are crowding windows and overflowing onto sidewalks. There's nothing I'd rather do than wander with my little basket from market to market, picking up a fresh looking, green bunch of watercress here, a honeydew melon or box of lusciously ripe strawberries there.

Every housewife who does her own cooking should, somehow, find time to do her marketing in person, I think, for she will not only save herself money, but prepare more interesting meals, as well. Week-end buying may be all that the home and office wife can work into her schedule, but that should be enough to make a deal of difference.

Included in this busy woman's easy to prepare dinner menu are some of the fresh foods now available generally in all good markets.

SHORT CUT DINNER
Stuffed Pork Chops
Endive in Butter
Creamed New Potatoes with Chives
Watercress, Tomato, and Sliced Radish Salad with French Dressing
Cinnamon Bread [Grocery or Bakery]
Chilled Honeydew Melon with Lemon or Old Fashioned Strawberry Shortcake

STUFFED PORK CHOPS

Have the chops cut double thick, one for each person to be served. Ask the butcher to cut a pocket in each. Season the inside of each pocket by sprinkling lightly with salt and pepper, and fill with any bread dressing. I often use only soft bread-crums, a little chopped onion, melted butter, salt, pepper, and sage. A fruit stuffing including chopped prunes is good, also. Brown the chops on each side in a frying pan, reduce the heat, cover and cook slowly on top of the stove, or in the oven, until the chops are tender.

When the chops have been started to cook, wash the new potatoes and start them to boil, in their jackets. Wash and drain the greens for the salad, clean the radishes and peel the tomato. Chill these ingredients until just before serving time.

The endive is pre-cooked before it is sautéed. Allow a head for each person and tie it about with a string to prevent the leaves from separating. Drop into boiling, salted water and cook until barely tender, about 20 minutes. Drain. Remove string and reheat in butter, allowing about a tablespoon of butter for each portion.

Most shortcake addicts agree that the old fashioned kind is best. The biscuits should be light and fluffy and spread generously with butter. I like to crush the berries somewhat for shortcake, as a dessert oozing red strawberry juice is much more attractive in appearance than one in which whole berries only are used. The sugar used on the berries is more readily absorbed, too, if the fruit is crushed slightly.

Shortcake.

[Four or more servings.]

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
⅓ cup butter
¾ cup milk

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Work in the butter with the pastry blender, a fork or the finger tips. Add the milk gradually. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead very gently for no more than half a minute. Pat or roll out and cut into biscuits, using two sizes of cutter. Place the larger rounds on a baking sheet, brush with butter and top with the smaller rounds. Bake for 12 minutes in a 450 degree oven. Split apart and fill with crushed and sweetened strawberries. Top with more berries and serve with cream.

Young Pianist Makes Music Bit Too Sweet

BY CECIL SMITH.

A number of pleasant things may be said about Evelyn White, young Chicago pianist, who gave an account of her talents in Kimball hall last night, in a program by Bach-Liszt, Brahms, Schumann, Chopin, Stravinsky, and Liszt.

There is a comfortable solidity about her tone, so that loud passages are full without being forced and soft passages stay lucid and well defined. Her fingers are agile and accurate, and she is able to control all the mechanical means of piano playing with confident assurance.

Thus you will see that Miss White ought to be a good pianist. The Schumann G minor sonata, a troublesome piece at best, showed her deficiencies with great clarity. I have always thought that a god required to subsist on nectar and ambrosia would develop a profound craving for beefsteak. There is a parallel in music, for gods and men alike begin to lose their appetites when they are faced with a diet of unalloyed sweetness.

Schumann's music is not honeyed, and it has a great deal of sinew. Miss White, with a remarkable appetite for musical sweetness, kept disregarding this fact, using every device at her command to give the music a nearly continuous quality of sententious sentimentality. This is not good musicianship with Schumann—or with Bach or Brahms or any other composer of vigor and force—and it is not good showmanship.

If she will depersonalize her playing to the extent of letting the style of each composer shine through her playing, and give her interpretations outline and solidarity by respecting the underlying structure of each piece, she will be able successfully to capitalize an unusually promising technique.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Arthur Whisler of 9810 Vanderpool avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Millie, to the Rev. Oscar Raymond Lowry of West Orange, N. J., son of the Rev. Oscar Lowry of Chicago.

Miss Whisler was graduated from Wheaton college and the Moody Bible institute. The Rev. Mr. Lowry was graduated from Wheaton college, the Moody Bible institute and the Princeton Theological seminary. The wedding will take place June 17.

National Conference to Seek Revival of Gifts to Charities

Plans were laid yesterday for a national conference of 5,000 church and welfare leaders in the fall to discuss ways to increase charitable contributions. The meeting, held at the Union League club, was under auspices of the Chicago committee of the Religion and Welfare Recovery movement.

Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court and co-chairman of the national committee of the movement was appointed chairman of the conference committee by Dr. Orrin W. Auman of the Methodist world service board, chairman of yesterday's meeting.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Superior court, Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist area of Chicago, and John D. Allen, chairman of the Episcopal Church club, were also made members of the conference committee.

According to CULBERTSON

A KIBITZER ALMOST WRECKS THE APPLE CART.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

That bridge players are creatures of habit is almost axiomatic. This is unfortunate, because I know no game that demands greater versatility. In a recent rubber bridge game, a kibitzer was honoring me with his attention when I made a certain lead against a slam contract. It always will be a source of amazement to me that the declarer did not fulfill the slam, after the jerk of horror that went through said kibitzer's body.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 spades	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

I sat West, on lead. Needless to say, I had not doubled. I was by no means certain that my ace and queen of spades would produce two tricks, even in my position over declarer. As a matter of fact, I was quite prepared to see the spade king go down in dummy and my opening lead was carefully calculated against that possibility. I laid down the spade ace. As mentioned above, my kibitzer twitched as though he had been electrocuted. Of course, it was easy to read his mind. He probably said to himself: "Holy smoke! How can Mr. C. lead away from his major tenace in trumps?" I remained quite calm on the surface [although cursing the whole tribe of kibitzers under my breath] and continued with the deuce of spades. Fortunately for me, the declarer had not noticed my kibitzer's histrionics. After a long huddle he went up with dummy's king, his obvious feeling being that his only chance was to drop the queen from East's hand. Having preserved my spade queen from annihilation, I turned my attention to the kibitzer. First, I delivered a short, but snappy, lecture on the subject of correct, noninformative kibitzing.

Then I took up the matter of that particular lead. I pointed out quite gently that if the spade king were on my right, in declarer's hand where I hoped it was, the lead of the ace could cost me nothing, since I hardly would continue with the suit, but would preserve my queen-deuce for future use. If, however, the spade king were to show up in dummy, I pointed out that the lead of the ace could do no harm but might do a lot of good in a psychological way. Had I led a side suit declarer certainly would have let the spade jack ride through my hand and, of course, this would have held his loss to one trick. Even after my lead, declarer's act of putting up dummy's king was highly questionable. But the fact remained that I had given him something to think about, which is always a good idea!

CUBS BEAT PHILS, 5-2; DEAN'S THIRD VICTORY

THE CHIEF WINS DERBY TRIAL; STAGEHAND IS THIRD

HOWARD HORSE EQUALS RECORD; LAWRIN SECOND

Favorite Restrained in Stretch Run.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—The turf's miracle man, Earl Sande, saddled the winner of the Kentucky Derby Trial stakes on the Churchill Downs track this afternoon but it wasn't Stagehand, the Derby favorite.

The Chief, Maxwell Howard's other Derby card, carried away the honors. Under a confident but hustling ride by George Woolf, The Chief trimmed Herbert G. Woolf's Kansas City colt, Lawrin, by the length of his nose.

Stagehand finished third, but that doesn't mean anything. He put on his usual burst of speed rounding the lower bend and raced up almost on even terms with The Chief and Lawrin, which were out in front. Jocky Jack Westrope took him in hand after it was evident The Chief was master of Lawrin.

Equals Track Record.

The Chief's time for the mile—1:35 4-5—equals the Churchill Downs track record established by Peace Chance in 1935.

Stagehand didn't lose a backer as a result of his race. It was evident he could have won if Sande had declared with him instead of The Chief.

Once past the line of finish Stagehand flew on past the leaders. He continued to fly until he had run a mile and a furlong in 1:51 4-5. The Chief was right with him at the end of the workout.

In the mutuels The Chief paid $3 to win, $2.20 to place, and $2.40 to show.

The showing of Elooto, owned by William O'Toole of Chicago, was remarkable. He finished fourth and showed good speed all the way but was more than seven lengths back of The Chief and Lawrin.

Elooto, is the colt on which O'Toole and a group of his Chicago friends have a chance to win a quarter of a million dollars from the future book operators.

Then Came the Battle.

At the start, Stagehand, apparently full of pep, broke on top, but immediately was taken in hand by Westrope to let The Chief race into a lead of a length and a half. Co-Sport was second and Lawrin was running third. Stagehand was back in fifth place by this time.

It was a ding dong affair heading to the last turn. The Chief was in front by a head with Lawrin second. Westrope moved Stagehand into third place to see if The Chief was safely home. When he found he was, he took Stagehand back and held him in until after the race had ended.

The first quarter was run in 23 seconds, the half in the brilliant time of :46 1-5, and the three-quarters in 1:10 3-5.

Wise Fox, the Louisiana Derby winner, was next to last in the seven horse field. Redbreast was last, but he was away in a tangle and had a legitimate excuse.

Bull Lea Puts on a Show.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Mountain Ridge was disgracefully beaten, as was Co-Sport.

Even the Derby trial could not push Warren Wright's colt, Bull Lea, and William Woodward's great eastern standard bearer, Fighting Fox, out of the spotlight.

The railbirds who had hopped out of bed at the crack of dawn were thrilled by Bull Lea as he engaged in his last serious rehersal before he goes to the post in the Derby. It was a corker.

His trainer, Frank Kearns, a likeable Irishman from New York, issued orders for the splendid Chicago colt to work a mile and an eighth easily in 1:56 or thereabouts. Bull Lea wasn't taking orders from anybody on this blistering Kentucky summer morning.

This Colt Can Step.

He wound up his mile and an eighth in 1:54 2-5, then galloped on out the Derby route of a mile and a quarter in 2:08 2-5. It was the fastest mile and a quarter run by a Derby candidate in Kentucky this spring, with one exception. It came to light today that after Bull Lea had won the mile and an eighth Blue Grass Stakes on last Thursday he was worked on out a mile and a quarter in 2:03 4-5.

Bull Lea raced evenly all the way. He was playful when it ended and apparently could have run the distance in much faster time.

Fighting Fox caught the eye of the railbirds four hours later when he arrived in an express car attached to a fast passenger train from New York.

Fighting Fox stood the trip well. He's a better looker than his full brother, Gallant Fox, was when the latter won the Derby in 1930. He was accompanied by two traveling companions. One was Myron Selznick's colt, Can't Wait, and the other was Fighting Fox's own stable companion, Madero.

European Boxers Sail Tonight; Golden Glovers Gather Today

Begin Drills on Board Queen Mary Tomorrow.

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 3.—The gentlemen responsible for the development of the European boxing team for its match with Chicago's Golden Gloves champions in the Chicago Stadium on May 18 will have a difficult time deciding which flyweight to use. Ollie Lehtinen of Finland and Gido Nardecchia of Italy are outstanding disciples of different schools of instruction.

Lehtinen is strictly a boxer. He likes to stand off and pepper his opponent at long range. His punches land cleanly and carry enough steam to stop any foe. Nardecchia is a more rugged type. He prefers to come in close and pound his opponent's body. He never takes a backward step. He won his way to the Chicago Stadium contests by remarkable aggressiveness against Edmund Sobkowiak, Poland's champion, in the finals of the European tournament in Berlin last Friday night.

He's Been Here Before.

This will be Nardecchia's second trip to the United States. Last year, as a member of the Italian team, he defeated William Speary, New York Golden Gloves champion, who last March whipped Chicago's Kenny Lottman and later won the National A. A. U. championship.

Nardecchia's nickname is Topolino, which in Italian means Mickey Mouse. Although he is only 18 years old, he has had 65 bouts, winning 61 and losing only four. He has had 25 consecutive victories in international competition. It was Nardecchia who checked the supremacy of Gavino Matta as the Italian flyweight. He fought Matta, who twice has appeared in Chicago Golden Gloves matches, to a draw two years ago.

Nardecchia was born in Rome where he works for his father in a milk bar. He has three brothers and one sister. This may disappoint Chicago signorinas, but he has a girl friend in Rome with whom he is deeply in love. Her name is Yola de Santis, a 16 year old dressmaker, and they plan to be married after Nardecchia wins the flyweight title in the Olympic games at Tokio in 1940. He is not interested in a professional career.

Lehtinens are Fighters.

Lehtinen lives in Helsingfors and works in the same factory where Gunnar Barlund, now fighting as a professional in the United States, formerly was employed. The Lehtinens are a fighting tribe. Ollie has a cousin who is the lightweight champion of Finland.

This is the Finn's first visit to America and he is anxious to see

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Jesse Salzar, Omaha, Neb., flyweight champion, was the first of the Golden Gloves boxers to report in Chicago to begin training for the international matches with the champions of Europe which will be held in the Stadium May 18. Salzar came in a day earlier to take part in a national radio broadcast. He will check in this morning in the Illinois Athletic club.

Sixteen amateur boxers, eight of whom won their intercity bouts in New York's Madison Square Garden last March, have accepted invitations to join the International Golden Gloves squad. All of these boys will arrive today or early tomorrow morning except Marvin Liddell, Golden Gloves champion from Oklahoma City, Okla. Liddell is a student at Murray college, Tishomingo, Okla., and he will arrive Friday. He delayed leaving college until he had completed his term examinations.

Here Is Personnel.

Six Runs in Third Inning Highlight Sad Story.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 3.—Merritt Cain, who is boarding and rooming with Lou Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, again this year, was placed in the torture chamber today by the disciples of his one-time employer, Mr. Connie Mack. The Athletics put the screws on Sugar, as he is known by his pals, for an even half dozen runs, which was pretty important, seeing as the final score was Athletics, 7; White Sox, 2.

The Sox pounded out five hits, the same total they had in their last home game. They have made a grand total of twenty-four hits in their last four games. Joe Kuhel made two singles, Mike Kreevich wasted a triple, Henry Steinbacher made a double, and Marv Owen a single.

Hasson Spills the Beans.

The real jolt to Cain was a triple by Gene Hasson with the bases loaded, two out, and two runs home in the third. Hasson got home on a single by Dario Lodigiani for the sixth run, whereupon Cain gave way to Johnny Rigney, who allowed only one run the rest of the way, a homer by Bill Werber in the seventh inning. Rigney yielded only six hits and struck out six.

The Sox now are two games under the .500 mark and cannot topple into the cellar if they win here tomorrow and Thursday.

Each side put on its first scoring inning in a blaze of mediocrity on the part of the opposition. Kuhel led off the second inning with a single past Lodigiani. Owen tapped to Ross and the A's had a double play until Hasson dropped a relay at first causing a reversal of the decision to make Owen safe on first. Lodigiani tossed out Dykes, Owen stopping at second. Sewell's grounder went between Lodigiani's heels for the second error of the inning, Owen scoring and when Finney recovered the ball and threw it away in the general direction of the plate Sewell got to third. Cain tapped to Ambler.

This Is Very Sad.

GROVE FANS SIX TO SEND MAJOR TOTAL OVER 2,000

Boston, Mass., May 3.—(AP)—Bob [Lefty] Grove, the Boston Red Sox's 38 year old ace, became the eighth Major league pitcher in history to pass the 2,000 strikeout mark today when he fanned six Detroit Tigers while gaining the 260th victory of his fifteen year American league career.

Grove, before starting what became his third straight triumph of the 1938 season, had fanned 1,996 previous batters during his years with the Philadelphia Athletics and Red Sox. Walter Johnson, in his twenty-one years with Washington, had 3,497 strikeouts. The others to reach the 2,000 mark were Cy Young, the late Christy Mathewson, Dazzy Vance, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Eddie Plank, and Rube Waddell.

First Teeitis All in Mind, Mr. Golfer!

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

First Teeitis, No. 1 terror of would-be golfers, is the major malady the doctor's of THE TRIBUNE'S sixth annual free golf school will attempt to cure when the largest system of group instruction in the game's history begins next Tuesday night on the four courses of the Chicago park district.

This ailment was one of the principal reasons for the founding of the school in 1933. First Teeitis has frustrated the golfing careers of many a man and woman. It sets in with the realization that the moment that first club is swung on that first tee there will be loud guffaws from the onlookers. This fear of embarrassment has prevented thousands of people interested in the game from actually participating in it.

No Need to Be Afraid.

In its first five years, the school, by its very makeup, has aided in curing an army of victims of first teeitis. The members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association who form the staf of the school learned early that their most effective method of attack against the malady was the simple task of pointing out that there need be no fear about being alone on a first tee.

All sufferers from first teeitis, therefore, are invited to take part in the four lessons opening at Jackson, Marquette, and Columbus parks and the Diversey course in Lincoln park next Tuesday night. If you have wanted to play golf and have been afraid to start because you have a horror of trying your first swing before a crowd, THE TRIBUNE school is the perfect solution.

No Entry Fee.

Enrollment in the school is simple. Merely go to the course most conveniently to you, bringing a club, and appear shortly before 7 p. m. on each of the four nights. You will not only conquer your fear of the first tee, but you will be grounded in the fundamentals of a sound game by members of the Illinois P. G. A., rated the best teaching unit in the country.

Classes for men, women, boys, and girls will be held simultaneously. All lessons will begin promptly at 7 p. m. and will last for an hour. The first lesson will be held next Tuesday night, the second on May 12, the third on May 17 and the fourth on May 19.

DIZZY WEARIES AFTER SEVENTH; ROOT GOES IN

Marty and Hartnett Hit Homers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Great Diz Dean with his $185,000 worth of pitching arm, did another fadeout yesterday, but the happening was of no consequence. Diz merely grew tired and after he had gone his Cub mates experienced no difficulty taking care of the business at hand. They took care of it in the proper fashion by slapping down the itinerant Phillies, 5 to 2, in the opener of a three game series.

Diz, who now has made four starts as a Cub and finished only once, went seven innings this time without showing much more than the same sort of slow stuff he has adopted as the main item in his 1938 repertoire. Toward the finish of his limited appearance even the slow stuff was losing its reception, so Manager Charley Grimm didn't delay exercising his authority.

Root Comes to Rescue.

The sudden yanking, done both to save the Diz arm and at the same time stave off a possible last minute blowup for which the Cubs have become suckers, worked out perfectly. Rescuer Charley Root didn't permit the Phils to get a hit in the last two innings.

While in there pitching his third victory, one of which he finished, Diz got by splendidly so far as runs were concerned. The first inning was a bit tough on him, but thereafter he encountered no real complications until the sixth when the Phillies, getting started on an error by Stanley Hack, smacked the two tying runs across the plate. That was the tipoff on the fact that he was wilting and he wouldn't even have been permitted to go through the seventh if a second hit had followed a bunt which Mueller beat with one out.

Diz Grows Weary.

As soon as his work was over for the day, Diz went to the clubhouse to await the customary callers. He explained that he grew weary; that he wasn't in shape for a nine inning struggle. Yes, the arm soreness which forced him to quit in 3 and 2-3 innings last Friday but which turned into a charley horse twenty-four hours later, developed again yesterday. Not badly, however. Diz insisted that until he felt the tired feeling coming over him he thought he had better stuff than in any of his three previous 1938 efforts.

Diz might have fought off the attack of feebleness if it hadn't been necessary for him to bear down most of the time. He never had more than a two run lead and didn't get this until the third, when Hack, Billy Herman, and Joe Marty conspired against Bucky Walters. Diz lost this lead in the sixth and the inning might have been worse if Augie Galan hadn't assisted with a spectacular catch of a robust wallop.

Marty Breaks Tie.

Marty, whose single drove in one of the two runs in the third, also was responsible for shattering the 2 to 2 deadlock shortly after it was established. The ex-Coast leaguer saved the decision for Dean by sailing his season's third homer over the left field barrier in the home portion of the sixth. Gabby Hartnett can be thanked for the remainder of the Cubs' winning margin. By way of atoning for rolling into two double plays, Gabby blew a homer over the same wall with a mate on base in the eighth.

Dean experienced a somewhat rough voyage in the first inning, although he landed safely eventually. The Phils' leadoff batter, Mueller, hoisted a foul to Hartnett. Klein smacked the first pitch for a single through short. Martin splashed a high powered single off Collins' glove. Then Browne launched a real liner into Herman's territory, but Billy speared it and stepped on second for a double play.

Phils Work Double Play.

Collins, who spanked a single into right, was the only Cub to reach base in the home first. In the second Galan singled to left after Marty had flied out. As Lazzeri was taking a swing at a pitched ball Catcher Atwood inadvertently tipped the bat, so Tony was awarded first base and Atwood charged with an error. This opportunity vanished hurriedly when Hartnett tapped to Walters for a double play.

Dean was tossed out to open the third and his mates immediately went into run production. Hack beat out a slow grounder to Whitney. On a hit and run Herman punched a drive past first base for a double, Hack stopping at third. An intentional pass to Collins loaded the bases. Demaree, whose run driven in performance is behind schedule, helped his total a bit by flying deep to Klein, Hack scoring after the catch. Marty singled to center and Herman went home. The third out was attained on Galan's grounder to Mueller.

A Smooth Stretch.

After Martin's single in the first inning Diz enjoyed a stretch of smooth sailing. The next Phil base runner didn't appear until after two were out in the fourth. Browne

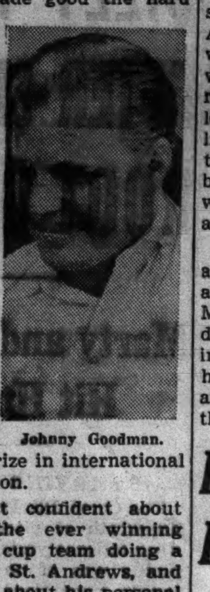
GOODMAN TELLS PLANS FOR BUSY BRITISH CAMPAIGN

Stops Off in Chicago on Way Overseas.

John Goodman, a firm chinned little party who made good the hard way in a hard game called golf, arrived in Chicago yesterday for a brief stay before going on to a couple of chores overseas. One of these will be an attempt to add the British amateur championship to the United States crown he already wears. The other will be a collaboration with several other young men in an effort to retain the Walker cup, top prize in international amateur competition.



Johnny Goodman.

Johnny is right confident about the chances of the ever winning American Walker cup team doing a biennial encore at St. Andrews, and he feels quite pert about his personal outlook in the British amateur at Troon. The latter course, he avers, has a yardage suitable to his type of game.

The Goodman golf of recent weeks has been of a caliber such as won him the national open of 1933 and last year's amateur. In fourteen rounds in his home town of Omaha, Johnny has been under 70 eleven times. Most of these rounds were played in a strong wind, so he feels primed for whatever Scottish breezes may blow when he lands on the other side. He is hitting his drives longer than last year, getting 235 and 240 yards now, where his 1937 average high was around 230.

Johnny's host today will be Municipal Judge John T. Zuris, who will guide him through a number of gatherings whereat he will be honored by Chicagoans of Lithuanian descent. John is of Lithuanian extraction himself. Tomorrow he will play golf with Tommy Armour of Medinah, who has done much in recent years to tone up the little champion's game.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE NINE DEFEATS LAKE FOREST, 15-10

Illinois college defeated Lake Forest college, 15 to 10, yesterday in Lake Forest. The visitors drove in four runs off Maiman in the first inning. Lake Forest tied the score at 7 to 7 in the sixth.

Four Lake Forest runs in the ninth drove Lambert from the mound. He was replaced by Amedia who retired the Foresters in order.

Home runs by Boyle, Roberts, and Towsley of the Foresters and Mangers of Illinois college featured the game: Score:

Lake Forest	120	012	004—10	11	4

Farr to Defend Empire Title Against Strickland

New York, May 3.—(AP)—Tommy Farr of Wales, loser to Joe Louis, Jim Braddock, and Max Baer in his three New York bouts, agreed to terms today to defend his British empire heavyweight title against Maurice Strickland of New Zealand in Toronto late in July or early in August. The bout was arranged by W. J. Galbraith, Toronto promoter, who said it would be held in Maple Leaf stadium, Toronto baseball park.

Berg Wins Eight Round Decision Over Napolitano

Any Extra Yarn About? Put It Out for the Orioles

BY BOB BECKER.

If a suburbanite or country resident is lucky enough to have a Baltimore oriole nesting near his home, this is the time for him to distribute small pieces of yarn or cord so that these expert feathered weavers will have plenty of material for their nests.

The oriole builds a pendulous or hanging nest. He fastens his home to branches in such a way that it is a secure but swinging shelter for the young. To build such a nest he needs yarn or string as well as other materials.

One of the most interesting experiments that a bird fan may conduct at this season of the year is to put out yarns of various colors and see if the orioles have a preference for a certain color.

The orioles reached our neighborhood several days ago during a spell of warm spring weather. We heard their notes shortly after the peppery little wrens began to broadcast around the house. Preceding both of these welcome songsters was the brown thrasher, a bird that sometimes has been called the mocking bird of the north. With both the brown thrashers and the catbirds now giving concerts, the woods and thickets around Chicago are filled with song.

The Baltimore oriole has such a rich orange color in its plumage to contrast with a deep black head, throat, and neck, that it looks like a bird of the tropics. When it comes north to stay for the summer it makes us think of the Amazon and the many richly colored birds that one associates with the heat and humid forests of Brazil.

New York's skyscrapers and the Chicago stockyards. He is 23 years old and married. In his four years as an amateur boxer he has engaged in 100 bouts, 95 of which he has won. In international competition he has won against Sweden three times, won one and lost one to Poland, won twice from Denmark, five times from Esthonia, twice from Norway, once from Russia and once from Hungary.

Walk in Forest.

This was another day of rest and sightseeing for Europe's champions. After breakfast they went for brisk walk in the Boise de Boulogne, last vestige of the ancient forest of Rouvray which during the reign of Napoleon III. was transferred into a delightful promenade. They hiked all the way to the Arc de Triumphe and back before reporting for lunch. They were taken on a tour of Paris in the afternoon.

The boat train leaves for Cherbourg at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the party will board the Queen Mary at 9 o'clock. Beginning Thursday morning, there will be no letup in daily drills until these champions have won or lost in the greatest amateur boxing show of all time in the Chicago Stadium May 18.

morrow morning for their first workout and will report at the I. A. C. gymnasium in the afternoon for their first drills.

Behr in Charge.

Head Coach John Behr and his assistants, Fred Caserio, Paddy Kane, and Issy Kline, will train the squad which will defend its perfect record of competition against the European squad which sails aboard the Queen Mary today from Cherbourg for New York. The European squad will arrive at Union station, Chicago, at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday, May 11.

Eight international bouts May 18 will determine the international championship. The other two European boys will appear on the program. Thus the Chicago boys in the flyweight and batamweight classes—Salzar, Cavalleri, Kainrath, and Lottman—are certain to fight, but who their opponents will be cannot be known until the Chicago team is determined and until the European coaches announce the order of their bouts.

Lottman Moves Up.

Unless Kenny Lottman should lose weight he will be classed as a 118 pounder by the Chicago coaches though he won the 112 pound title in March. Johnny Behr now is considering inviting other Golden Glovers to protect the flyweight and bantamweight classes from being short handed in event of training injury.

Last year Chicago and Europe fought to a 4 to 4 tie. Three of the Europeans who appeared in that international series will return. Two of them, Herbert Nurnberg, German lightweight, and Ulderico Serge, Italian bantamweight, won their bouts. Herbert Runge, German heavyweight, was knocked out by Lem Franklin of Cleveland. Either Lloyd Montgomery or Dan Merritt will receive the assignment to duplicate that victory. The choice, as in all weight classes, will rest on the showing of the boys in training.

Plans now are being formulated for a reception to the visitors when they arrive at Union station. Six nations, Germany, Poland, Hungary, Ireland, Finland, and Italy, have representatives on the international squad. Oscar Soderlund of Stockholm, Sweden, president of the International Boxing federation, is one of the officials with the squad.

Phagan Wins Decision Over Harold Rodie

Jimmy Phagan, amateur welterweight, won a three round decision over Harold Rodie in the feature bout of the fifth annual show sponsored by the Holy Name society of St. Hilary parish in St. Hilary auditorium last night. In the semi-windup Eddie Lander scored a three round decision over Pete Altizer.

Among the spectators were Red Grange, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears; Johnny Behr, Golden Gloves coach; Dr. William Rothman and Milt Aron. Other results:

Mills stadium promoters have postponed their opening in the west side arena from May 18 to May 25, because the original date would conflict with the annual International Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago Stadium. . . . Inability to obtain Nate Mann for a match with Harry Thomas on the new date has forced cancelation of the proposed meeting and a substitution involving Pedro Montanez and Al Nettlow is being sought.

Frank Stone, loop betting commissioner, has made Joe Louis an even bet to retain his title against Max Schmeling in Yankee Stadium June 22. He said Barney Ross is a 7 to 5 favorite to retain his welterweight crown against Henry Armstrong in Madison Square Garden bowl May 26 . . . Jimmy Adamick, Midland, Mich., heavyweight, may clash with Bob Nestell of Los Angeles in Chicago June 8.

Farmer Mack, who threw Rudy Kay Monday, will wrestle Jim McMillen in the windup bout in Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, tonight. Supporting matches include those between Fritz von Schacht and Jack [Bad Man] Brown, Roy Rickenbacher, and Walter Palmer, Milt Olson and Paul Durocher, and Buck O'Neil and Tony Moreno.

The body of Jack Fargo, 21 year old Winnetka heavyweight, last night was shipped to his parents in Hillsboro, Ill., for burial from the Brooks chapel in Hubbard Woods. Fargo, whose right name was John Ferkovich, died in Evanston hospital Monday night from injuries received in a motorcycle accident. He was scheduled to meet Max Marek in the Fronton May 13. . . . Dick Stahl, German heavyweight wrestler, is paired with George Wilson in a preliminary encounter to the Danno O'Mahoney-Benny Ginsburg mat headliner in Marigold arena tomorrow. . . . F. M.

Lake Forest Academy Wins Track Meet, 82½-39½

The Lake Forest academy track team defeated Lake Forest High school, 82½ to 39½ in Lake Forest yesterday. Anthony Graham of the academy team set a new school record in the 200 yard low hurdles event. He covered the distance in :23.6, clipping one and seven-tenths seconds off the mark established by John Simonson last year.

MERRY CAROLINE WINS BY HEAD IN AURORA FEATURE

The second bad spill in two days occurred shortly after a field of 2 year olds hit the head of the stretch on the Aurora track yesterday. Two of the youngsters went down, and one of them, Mad Duelist, suffered a broken left fore leg.

Mad Duelist struggled to his feet, but was taken to the infield and destroyed. The son of Duelist-Pearl Madeline was making his third start in the colors of Mrs. N. W. Burkhart.

Neither Jocky Charley Fields on Bonnie Wood, the first to go down, nor Paul Ryan on Mad Duelist was injured.

Master Mort Wins.

The winner of the race was the second choice, Master Mort, which held off the challenge of Oh Fudge to score by a length. Though Master Mort was in front all the way, he was all but collared in the stretch by Oh Fudge, making her first start. Master Mort, ridden by Jack Richard, drew out slightly and was going well at the wire. Tell finished third. The four and a half furlongs were run in :55 and the winner paid $9.60.

Paul Kelley's Merry Caroline, not the fleetest of mares but a consistent one in her own company, won the fifth race, best offering of the card. It was her fifth victory of the year, having recently rolled up four in a row at Hot Springs after a campaign at Santa Anita.

Up on Outside.

She was made the favorite for the six furlong sprint. Shortly after the start Gold Mesh, former stake performer, was taken into the lead, followed by Star Bess. Only Pundit trailed in the closely bunched field.

Gold Mesh clung to the lead going into the stretch where Bristle came fast on the rail and Merry Caroline moved up on the outside. Merry Caroline had her head in front at the wire with Bristle second and Pundit, coming from last place, third. The race was run in 1:12 2-5 and the winner paid $5.60. Jocky J. G. Wilson was up on the winner for his second victory of the afternoon.

Longshot Upsets Double.

The favorites tried hard to account for the daily double to make up for the pay off of opening day. They were only partially successful. Money Getter, the veteran which once carried the silks of the Waggoner Brothers in stake events, scored in the first half and paid $4.20. But along came a maiden, High Josie, at odds of 47 to 1, to capture the last half. Tickets on the double were worth $268 when High Josie checked in.

REDS END GIANTS' 11 GAME WINNING STREAK, 10 TO 2

Cincinnati, O., May 3.—(AP)—The New York Giants' hope of opening the first western trip with their twelfth straight victory was blasted today as the Cincinnati Reds, running their own winning streak to four straight, routed the National league champions, 10 to 2.

While his mates were slugging Hal Schumacher, Hy Vandenberg and Clydell Castleman, Paul Derringer tamed the Giants with eight hits for his third victory of the season. It was the New Yorkers' first defeat since April 20, when they dropped a 6 to 4 decision to Boston.

Schumacher, given a two run lead in the fourth, saw that wiped out by Ernie Lombardi's homer with a man on base in the last half of the inning, and was chased in the fifth.

DODGERS, 7; PIRATES, 2.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 3.—(AP)—Five hits and errors by Arky Vaughan and Paul Waner gave the Brooklyn Dodgers six runs in a big seventh inning today and a 7 to 2 victory over the Pirates. The defeat was the fifth in a row for the Pirates, who were leading the league just a week ago.

While the Dodgers were making their seven hits off Jim Tobin and Rip Sewell good for as many runs, Rookie Forest Pressnell went the full game for Brooklyn and gave up ten hits. Score:

CARDS BEAT BEES.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—(AP)—Two home run balls cost Lou Fette a pitcher's duel with Bill McGee today as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Boston Bees, 3 to 2.

Herb Bremer got the first homer in the second inning and the Cardinals led, 2 to 0. The Bees tied it up in the fourth after Moore's triple scored Cooney and English drove in Moore. Gutteridge then won the game in the sixth with a hit into the left field seats after two were out. Score:

Gehrig Hits a Homer; Yanks Beat Browns

New York, May 3.—(AP)—The New York Yankees opened their home stand against the western teams today by turning back the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 1. Lou Gehrig and Tom Henrich hit home runs and Charley Ruffing pitched nine hit ball for his third victory of the year. He kept the Browns' hits well scattered.

Gehrig's homer, which came in the first with Bill Dickey on base, was his first of the season and followed by a day his demotion to sixth place in the champions' batting order.

RED SOX BEAT TIGERS.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox launched their campaign against the western half of the American league membership today by defeating Detroit, 4 to 3, in ten innings. The victory was Lefty Grove's third straight.

Grove helped set off the winning rally in the extra inning by sacrificing Leo Nonnenkamp, who had run for Gene Desautels after Desautels hit a double. Roger Cramer then singled for the winning run.

INDIANS WIN, 10-9.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—Ken Keltner, rookie third baseman, pounded out two home runs and drove in six tallies today as the league leading Cleveland Indians defeated Washington, 10 to 9.

The Senators, trailing after the fifth inning, went on a scoring spree in the ninth which fell short by one run of tying the count.

French to Pitch for Cubs Today Against Phillies

Larry French, whose only nine inning pitching job for the Cubs this season was a shutout of the Cardinals, will try his skill on the Phillies in the second of the series this afternoon. Claude Passeau will work for the visiting troupe of athletes.

Shortstop Bill Jurges, who experienced a dislocated thumb in the game with the Cardinals April 23, took part in yesterday's pre-game batting practice and the injured member started to act up immediately.

The attendance was made of 8,327 paying customers and 4,300 school kid guests, who let loose a series of boos when they learned Diz had been removed from the front line. They must have figured they were being gypped.

Since becoming a Cub Diz Dean has pitched 25 2-3 innings, yielding five runs and 22 hits.

There is an old belief that pitching constitutes about 75 per cent of a pennant winning job. This is mentioned merely as a reminder that the Cubs have played 15 games to date and in all except four of them there have been two or more pitchers. The only "routers" to date are Carleton, twice, and Dean and French.

WILDCATS BEAT IRISH IN 14TH INNING, 5 TO 3

Notre Dame, Ind., May 3.—[Special.]—Northwestern defeated Notre Dame, 5 to 3, in 14 innings today, playing errorless ball behind the 12 hit pitching of Harry Skidmore, senior southpaw.

With the score tied at two-all in the final inning, Rex Ellis, Notre Dame relief hurler, walked Paul Werd, Jack Woy, Cleo Diehl, and Fred Shinkevich then singled, scoring the three.

Joe Nardon opened the home 14th with a home run, but Skidmore disposed of the next three hitters in order, striking out Ennio Erboit, leading Notre Dame batsman, for the third out.

MICHIGAN WHIPS WESTERN STATE, 5-4, ON LATE RALLY

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—Michigan's baseball team came from behind today to defeat Western State Teachers, 5 to 4. Bailey, sophomore hurler, held Michigan without a hit until the fifth, but weakened in the late innings.

Western scored in the second on an error, sacrifice and single and in the fourth Mershons tripled with the bases loaded. Michigan picked up a run in each of the fifth and sixth innings, tied the score with two in the eighth and pushed over the winning run in the ninth. Score:

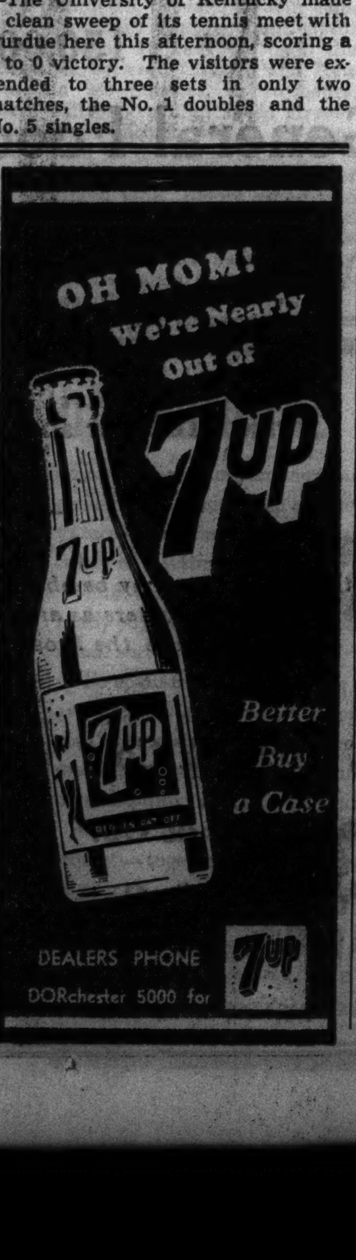
KENTUCKY NET TEAM BLANKS PURDUE, 9 TO 0

Lafayette, Ind., May 3.—[Special.]—The University of Kentucky made a clean sweep of its tennis meet with Purdue here this afternoon, scoring a 9 to 0 victory. The visitors were extended to three sets in only two matches, the No. 1 doubles and the No. 5 singles.



Dizzy Dean, Cubs Defeat Phillies, 5-2

broke the spell by singling to center. Scharein bounced a single over Dean's head and past Herman, Browne going to third. Dean got out of this on Whitney's fly to center. He also headed the Phils up a blind alley after Arnovich had opened the fifth with a single to left.

The sixth, in which Dean was melted down into a momentary 2 to 2 tie, opened with Hack doing an egg rolling act on Klein's grounder. Martin singled to right for the second time. Browne flied to Galan and so did Scharein, but to capture the latter Augie had to leap up in front of the bleacher shrubbery. Dean's arm was bad against Whitney, so the latter walked, filling the bases. Arnovich swung at the first pitch, a single to center resulting. Klein and Martin scored on the hit. Dean threw out Atwood.

Marty Hits Homer.

The tie was changed back into a lead of 3 to 2 for the Cubs as soon as the home sixth opened. Marty liked the looks of the first pitch and hit it so hard that it disappeared over the left field wall for his season's third homer. Galan grounded out to Browne and Lazzeri singled to center but Hartnett hit into another double play.

Mueller beat out a bunt with one out in the seventh and when Klein ripped off a menacing liner which Demaree managed to catch, Diz was willing to take a breathing spell while listening to his manager who came out from the bench. Diz wanted to finish the inning and did it on Martin's tap to Lazzeri.

Dean Goes Out.

Dean's retirement became known when Triplett was announced as batting for him to start the home seventh. Triplett was thrown out by Whitney. Hack beat out a bunt and died stealing. Herman then walked and Collins survived on a fumble by Scharein. The latter, however, promptly made amends for his blunder. He made a great stop and throw on Demaree's sharp smash in deep short to force Collins.

Before the Cubs picked up their last two runs in the eighth, they were the victims of a third double play. Marty started the inning with a single over short and died attempting to steal on Galan's third strike. Lazzeri drew free passage. After watching two wide pitches drift past, Hartnett picked up the next one and knocked it out of the park by way of the left field wall.

Dodgers Sign Merv Shea After Babe Phelps Is Hurt

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 3.—[Special.]—Mervyn Shea, formerly of the Chicago White Sox, today was signed by the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers sought the former American leaguer when their regular catcher, Babe Phelps, was injured.

TROSKY KEEPS BIG SIX LEAD; AVERILL CLIMBS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Though his two hits in five trips to the plate yesterday cut seven points off his batting average, Hal Trosky of the Cleveland Indians today continues to lead both major leagues in hitting with a percentage of .458. His teammate, Earl Averill, also has broken into the Big Six, turning in a .500 performance yesterday to boost his figures to .420.

Sox Get Run No. 2.

The Sox made more hits off Ross in the sixth inning than they did in the first five sessions, viz. three. With one out Steinbacher doubled to right. Walker popped to Ambler but Kuhel singled to center, scoring Steinbacher. Owen singled to right, Kuhel stopping at second. Dykes fouled to Hayes.

Inept base running cost the A's at least one run in the sixth. Hasson opened with a single to center, but overslid third on Lodigiani's single to right. Hayes popped to Berger and Walker speared Ambler's long fly.

The A's added a run in the seventh and had the bases full when the light went out. With one down Werber lined a homer into the left field stands. Moses singled and stopped at third on Johnson's double. Hasson walked, filling the bases. Lodigiani flied to Kreevich.

MORTON DEFEATS WAUKEGAN NINE, 1-0; 5TH STRAIGHT

Morton scored its fifth straight triumph in the Suburban league baseball race yesterday, defeating Waukegan, 1 to 0, in Waukegan as Polivka yielded the north shore nine only two hits.

Morton scored its run in the fifth inning as Hirschberger walked, moved to second on Holec's sacrifice, and scored on a single by Albough. Polivka fanned twelve, but found a worthy opponent in Petreman, who fanned six Morton batters and yielded only four hits.

In practice games yesterday, New Trier defeated Loyola, 9 to 3, and Holy Trinity turned back Marshall, 8 to 3.

White Sox Send Dietrich Against Athletics Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 3.—Bill Dietrich, a native and resident of this beautiful city, will pitch for the White Sox tomorrow. George Caster, whom the Sox expected to see today, is slated to pitch for the Athletics in the second of the three game series.

Frank Gabler, obtained from the Boston Bees on waivers, reported to the Sox this morning. It has not been indicated when he will pitch. Probably Friday or Saturday in Washington.

The average age of the team that started for the Sox today was 31 years. The second baseman didn't cut down the average any.

The run which Joe Kuhel batted in with a single in the sixth was the first he has sent home with a hit in the twelve games played by the Sox this season. It was his second of any description.

WOODRUFF, PITT FACE 3 BIG TEN TEAMS SATURDAY

Led by John Woodruff, Olympic 800 meter champion, Pittsburgh's track squad will invade Chicago Saturday for the quadrangular track and field meet with Northwestern, Minneasota and Purdue at Dyche stadium.

The Panthers demonstrated their 1938 ability by capturing three relay races at the Penn relays last week besides placing well up in a number of individual events. Woodruff ran anchor on each of Pitt's winning relay quartets.

The speedy colored runner will be a topheavy favorite to capture the 440 and 880 yard event as well as anchor Pitt's mile relay team Saturday. It will mark Woodruff's first Chicago appearance since he began competing for Pittsburgh two years ago.

In addition to Woodruff, Pitt has other capable performers. Frank Ohl, sophomore member of the one mile relay team, is also a crack broad jumper. Other outstanding Pitt stars are Pete Bennett, high jumper; Dick Mason, sprinter, and John Bazyk, shot putter.

UTILITY HEAD WARNS OF RATE CUT, TAX PERILS

Tells Standard Gas Stock Owners of Problems.

Bernard W. Lynch, president of the Standard Gas and Electric company, Chicago utility holding company controling $300,000,000 of assets, declared in the annual report for 1937, issued yesterday, that the principles of private ownership in a regulated industry are not incompatible with the general welfare and warned against unjustified rate cuts.

Discussing public ownership of utilities, as opposed to private ownership, Lynch told stockholders:

"Privately owned utilities pay taxes on their properties and the securities they issue are not tax exempt. No private enterprise can compete with government owned projects exempt from taxation.

What Managements Ask.

"Private management asks for rates only sufficient to cover the cost of material, wages, and taxes, for maintenance, a reserve for the retirement of property, and a reasonable return on the money employed in the business. In other words, the rates it asks are based on the principle of service at cost."

The report showed consolidated net income of the company, as previously reported, of $2,137,854, compared with $2,116,802 in 1936. Lynch said that in spite of falling business in the latter part of 1937 and increased expenses, the income was "well maintained," although it "did not constitue a reasonable return" on the company's investment.

Consumption Increases.

Increased operating expenses, combined with rate reductions, are dangerous to all utilites, the report said, but added that greater domestic consumption of electricity was an encouraging factor.

"The continued demand for lower rates when revenues will not justify such action can only result in further reductions absorbing that margin of net revenue out of which the use of capital is compensated," Lynch said.

Estate of George Lytton to Pay Additional Tax

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The First National bank of Chicago, executor under the will of the late George Lytton, has agreed to pay the government an estate tax deficiency of $23,438, the board of tax appeals announced today. Lytton died Dec. 10, 1933. In its original action the government sought to collect a $100,034 deficiency.

Texas Gulf Sulphur.

Investors' Guide: A copy of your latest report on the Texas Gulf Sulphur company would be appreciated. —P. W.

Answer: Ranking as the nation's largest sulphur concern, the $62,900,000 Texas Gulf Sulphur company produces approximately 60 per cent of the domestic output, which is in turn about 70 per cent of the world's output. The company's deposits are in Texas where known reserves are in excess of 41,000,000 tons, or enough to last more than 40 years.

Most important sulphur property controlled by the company is the Boiling Dome property, located in Wharton and Fort Bend counties of Texas. This is said to be the largest and richest deposit of natural sulphur in the world.

Recovery of sulphur in Texas properties is possible at low cost because of the peculiar geological structure of the deposits. The company uses the Frasch process, which consists of pumping hot water through sandy soil into the sulphur horizon, thereby melting the sulphur which can be pumped to the surface by compressed air and collected in storage bins.

The market for sulphur is extensive. Manufacturers of acids and chemicals, fertilizer companies, and paper and pulp makers are the three most important consumers, although sulphur in some form is used in nearly every industrial process.

Net income for the first quarter of this year receded to $1,839,687, or 48 cents a share, from $2,100,050, or 55 cents, in the corresponding period of 1937. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

1936	22,251,217	9,853,015	2.56
1935	17,833,528	7,468,017	1.94
1933	17,818,344	*7,443,613	*2.93
1930	13,487,538	*5,910,493	*2.06
1929	29,883,243	*16,247,478	*6.40

The company is in strong financial condition. Current assets were $14,146,426 and current liabilities were $2,996,061 at the end of 1937. There are 3,840,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. Dividend payments in 1937 totaled $2.75, including a 75 cent extra. A regular 50 cent payment was made March 15.

Because consumption of sulphur depends to such a large extent on industrial activity, the sales of the company are subject to wide fluctuations. It has, however, an unbroken dividend record extending back to 1921, and the stock is regarded as of fairly good grade.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The average price for hogs yesterday fell below $8.00 for the first time since Jan. 20. The price at $7.95 showed 5 cents loss from the preceding day. Trading progressed slowly throughout the session on a steady to 10 cents lower price basis, with several carloads left unsold at the close.

Warm weather, further declines in the wholesale trade for fresh pork to new low prices for the season, and competition of relatively cheap beef restricted buying of hogs.

Another decline occurred in most cattle yesterday. Prices ruled weak to 25 cents lower, with the bulk of stock selling off fully 25 cents for the two days.

An active demand developed for slaughter lambs at steady prices.

GROWING FEDERAL ROLE IN MONEY MARTS FORECAST

Continuance of Low Rates Policy Predicted.

The importance of the federal government's rôle in the money market will grow instead of shrink in the next few years, Dr. Marcus Nadler, professor of finance at New York university, predicted in an address last night before the Bankers' Club of Chicago at the Palmer house.

Because of its position as a large issuer of capital securities, the government will continue to foster low money rates, Dr. Nadler said. He described artificially low interest rates as "a capital income tax."

Tells Aims of Policy.

"The authorities in Washington," he said, "will continue their low money rates for the purpose of stimulating building activity by means of maintaining a favorable market for the debentures of national mortgage associations and for mortgages of the Federal Housing authority; to prevent an increase in the government debt service; to facilitate the financing of future budgetary deficits at low cost, and as a stimulus to recovery."

The government, Dr. Nadler said, is growing in importance both as an issuer of capital securities and a purchaser of securities.

"Already the government, through its various institutions and agencies, holds a large part of the farm mortgages, and a good part of the new housing to be constructed in the future in this country will rest on government credit directly or indirectly," he said.

Expects New Agency.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation, he pointed out, is now financing all types of business. He said it appears likely that a new government agency will be formed to finance the capital needs of small business.

"As conditions are today," he asserted, "it is merely a question of time before the obligations of the railroads will also rest on government credit."

The commercial banks today, he said, are more engaged in financing the government than private business and, if the business recession continues, they will be called on to absorb more government paper.

Urges Caution on Maturities.

Because the bank liquidity rests chiefly on government securities, it is important for bankers carefully to distribute the maturity dates of their holdings, he said.

Discussing the government's easy money policy Dr. Nadler said: "It is not fully realized that artificially maintained low interest rates and the effect which they have on yields of high grade bonds are in a sense a capital income tax affecting the purchasing power of individuals and institutions deriving their income from fixed interest bearing securities."

COTTON

Cotton was under early pressure yesterday from houses with Bombay and Liverpool connections, but rallied later in sympathy with securities and other commodities. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .01 to .08 cent a lb, and other American markets closed unchanged to .06 cent a lb lower. Liverpool cotton prices were considerably lower because of liquidation and selling attributed to Bombay.

Nat C. Murray, statistician for Clement, Curtis & Co., yesterday estimated the prospective American cotton acreage this year at 25,718,000 acres, a reduction of 8,665,000 acres or 25.2 per cent from last year. A month ago his correspondents indicated that only 24,880,000 acres would be planted.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent lower, with New Orleans, 8.80; New York, 8.65; Houston, 8.50, and Galveston, 8.45 cents a lb. Prices follow:

MORGAN ADMITS BEING TOLD OF WHITNEY'S 'JAM'

B. E. Smith Reveals Warning in 1937.

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Testimony of J. P. Morgan, head of the international banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., and reference by Bernard E. Smith, widely known New York stock market trader, to internal differences within the membership of the New York Stock exchange were the high lights today in the Securities and Exchange commission's investigation of the failure of Richard Bernard E. Smith.

Morgan, a smiling and affable witness, said in reply to a question by Gerhard Gesell, counsel for the SEC, that he had heard last autumn from George Whitney, a partner in the Morgan firm, that Richard Whitney, brother of George, was "in a jam." Whitney, now serving a term in Sing Sing prison for misappropriation.

Morgan Didn't Ask Questions.

"I did not ask what kind of a jam Dick Whitney was in," Morgan said.

"What kind of a jam did you think it was?" Gesell asked. "Did you think it had something to do with horses or women?"

"I had no idea what it was," Morgan answered, "but I believed that he had been making foolish investments or had losses."

"But you were convinced that the jam definitly related to his business?" Gesell asked.

"The sum was too big to be anything else," Morgan said.

Morgan said the first he knew of Whitney's actual criminal acts was on March 6, a Sunday, when Francis D. Bartow, one of his partners, informed him that "Dick Whitney is busted higher than anything, and it is much worse than that."

Morgan Refuses to Act.

He talked the situation over with his partners the next day in the office, he said, adding: "We wondered if we could do something, but we recognized there was nothing that could be done. That's all there was to it."

Morgan said he did not feel obligated to notify the exchange officers.

"The exchange has the machinery to take care of its own members," he said.

Junius Morgan, son of J. P. Morgan, testified he knew nothing of the Whitney crash until shortly before it was made public.

Smith, who is a member of the stock exchange firm of Thomson & McKinnon, told about his experiences with Whitney and commented on the internal differences within the exchange over the "old guard," of which Whitney was a member.

Whitney Asks Big Loan.

"Whitney, about a week before his firm failed, came to me and said he would get right to the point," Smith testified. "He asked for $250,000, said that he had to have it because his back was to the wall. I told him he had a lot of nerve to come to me when he didn't even have the courtesy to bid me the time of day. I told him frankly that I didn't like him—that I wouldn't lend him a dime."

"Did he leave after that?" Gesell inquired.

Gesell asked Smith if he had heard any rumors about Whitney prior to his coming to him for a loan. Smith testified he first heard rumors that Whitney was in difficulty in 1931 and again in 1935 and 1937. He also said he had heard that Whitney had tried to borrow $100,000 from M. C. Brush, another Wall street figure.

Reported Fears to Exchange.

"If you heard these reports, wasn't it your obligation as a member of the exchange to report on Whitney to the exchange?" Gesell asked.

"I carried out any obligations I had to the exchange," Smith replied. "I told Mr. Gay—president of the exchange—about it in December, 1937. I saw Gay alone in his office and he asked me out to lunch.

"Gay said to me that he didn't have anything on his mind, except that he would like me to do anything

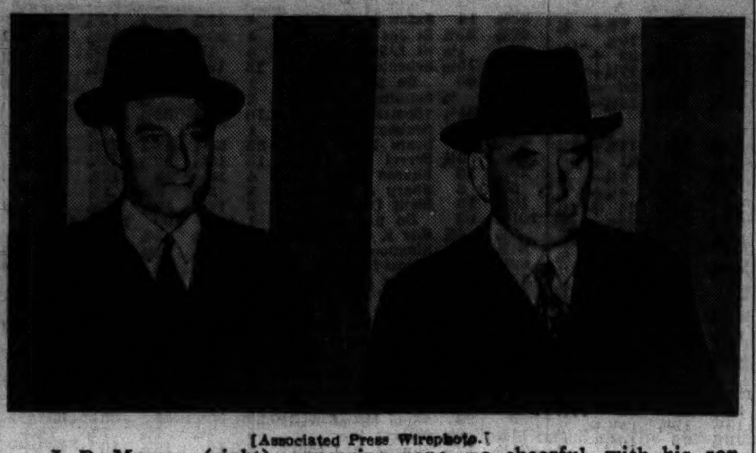
The Morgans Talk About Whitney



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

J. P. Morgan (right), appearing none too cheerful, with his son, Junius Spencer Morgan, as they walked into the securities and exchange commission hearing to testify in the inquiry into the failure of Richard Whitney's brokerage firm. On the witness stand, however, the elder Morgan became affable and said he had heard of Whitney being "in a jam" last fall but did not inquire further. Story in adjoining column.

Experts Expect Second Biggest Crop of Wheat

The possibility that the United States will harvest the second largest crop of wheat in its history this year was seen yesterday when leading statisticians released their estimates on winter wheat production.

Production estimates based on May 1 conditions were issued by five individual forecasters and James E. Bennett & Co. The average of the five estimates was for a winter crop of 743 million bushels. If the estimate is realized, and a "normal" crop of spring wheat is grown, this season's total yield will fall just short of a billion bushels. Such a production figure has been reached only once, the 1915 crop amounting to 1,009 million bushels.

It was estimated by the statisticians that farmers will harvest about 50 million of the 57 million acres seeded last fall to winter wheat. This is less than the acreage usually abandoned.

An estimated 22,000,000 acres have been seeded to spring wheat. This area, it is estimated, will produce a crop of about 220 million bushels if the return is normal. Over the last ten years the average yield has amounted to 10 bushels per acre seeded. Added to the indicated winter crop of 743, a total yield of 963 million bushels is indicated.

The forecasters qualified their predictions by stating that normal rainfall is needed during the remainder of the season. At present there is ample surface moisture, they said, but subsoil reserve moisture is deficient.

Individual Estimates Shown.

The estimates reported were:

B. W. Snow	730	13.7	..
Nat C. Murray	771	13.5	50
R. O. Cromwell	738	12.5	44
H. C. Donovan	745	14.9	..
J. E. Bennett & Co.	755	11.8	43
Mrs. E. H. Miller	719	13.5	44
Average	743	13.0	45
April 1, 1938	726	13.0	..
May 1, 1937	654	17.1	43
Final, 1937	685	18.5	49
1927-'36 average	546	12.6	36

Red and black rust is said to have reduced the condition of the crop in Texas and Oklahoma in the last month, but damage was not extensive enough to materially alter the national outlook.

The 743 estimate for winter wheat compares with 1937's yield of 685 million bushels and an average of 546 millions for the period 1927-'36.

Large Surplus Expected.

Based on the present outlook, the United States will have a supply of wheat on hand during the coming year that will be far in excess of domestic requirements, which have averaged less than 700 million bushels annually in recent years.

It is expected that by the time this year's harvest is completed there will be on hand about 200 million bushels of old wheat from last season's crop. This, together with indicated surplus from the 1938 crop, suggests a total of about 340 million bushels more than domestic needs—a surplus greater than the prospective foreign demand.

Efforts of the AAA to curtail the corn acreage appear to have had little effect on farmers' intentions to plant this season. R. O. Cromwell, in a report to Lamson Bros. & Co., estimates the probable area at 95,266,000 acres, compared with 93,810,000 acres harvested in 1937. The oats acreage is estimated at 36,865,000, or 1,800,000 acres in excess of the harvested area in 1937.

Erie Railroad Asks Bids on 10,000 Tons of Rails

Cleveland, O., May 3.—(AP)—The Erie railroad made inquiries today for about 10,000 tons of steel rails to meet part of its 1938 requirements.

GOVERNMENT DEFICIT FOR 10 MONTHS RISES TO $1,270,670,707

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—The federal deficit mounted to $1,270,670,707 in the first 10 months of the fiscal year, the treasury reported today, as compared with $2,154,685,287 for the same period of the previous fiscal year.

Budget estimates indicate the excess of expenditures over income will rise to $1,544,000,000 in the remaining two months.

Both expenditures and receipts have run steadily ahead of last year. Expenditures in the 10 months period of the present fiscal year totaled $6,362,987,637, compared with $6,246,183,898 in the similar period last year. Receipts totaled $5,092,316,930 in the 10 months, compared with $4,091,498,610 in the corresponding period last year.

The federal debt on April 30 was $37,509,946,998 an increase of $1,085,333,266 for the 10 months. It had decreased $46,355,156 since the first of April, due to the spending of desterilized gold.

BANK HOLDING COMPANY BILL GOES TO SHELF

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—Legislation to impose rigid governmental restrictions on bank holding companies—requested by President Roosevelt—was virtually a dead subject tonight, so far as this session of congress was concerned.

A senate banking subcommittee headed by Senator Glass [D., Va.] shelved the issue, in spite of the President's recommendation last week for quick action. Glass had introduced legislation to curb such holding companies several weeks ago, but he said today that he had become convinced that not enough time remained before the prospective adjournment of congress on June 1 to pass the legislation.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader, indicated no further attempts would be made in the senate this session to seek holding company legislation.

The Glass bill is less drastic than the recommendations of the President. It would forbid formation of any new bank holding companies and would have provided rigid regulation for those in existence. The President has called for eventual elimination of such concerns.

N. Y. CENTRAL NEW TRAIN HITS 105 MILES PER HOUR

New streamlined sleeping cars and a 4,700 horse power streamlined steam locomotive which will make up the new Twentieth Century Limited are being given road tests before being placed in service on June 15, the New York Central railroad announced yesterday. The test train reached a speed of 105 miles an hour in tests between Kokomo, Ind., and Toledo, O.

There will be sufficient new streamlined cars, a number of which have been completed, to make up four complete Twentieth Century Limiteds of 13 cars each. To haul the train the 960 miles between Chicago and New York in 960 minutes, or 16 hours, there will be ten high speed streamlined steam locomotives of the type being used in the road tests.

All sleepers in the train will be of the bedroom type. Before going into service the trains will be exhibited June 13 and 14 in Chicago and New York. The trains are being built by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company.

100 MILLION U. S. STEEL OFFERING SLATED IN JUNE

Gen'l Foods Stock on Market Today.

Signs of renewed activity in the securities market were observed yesterday with the announcement that $100,000,000 of ten year convertible debentures of the United States Steel corporation will be registered soon with the Securities and Exchange commission at Washington and that public offering will be made today of 150,000 shares of General Foods corporation preferred stock involving about $15,000,000.

The recent success of the $60,000,000 Consolidated Edison company of New York 3¼ per cent bonds in the security market was looked upon in La Salle street as providing encouragement for the offering of securities now.

Offering Expected in June.

The U. S. Steel issue, which is expected to be offered in June by a banking group headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., will be the largest offering to have been placed on the market in a year. Proceeds from the sale of the debentures will be used to retire $50,000,000 of loans to New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh banks, to provide funds for plant construction and for working capital and for general corporate purposes.

The interest rate and other details will be disclosed later.

The General Foods issue consists of 150,000 shares of $4.50 cumulative preferred stock which will be offered today at $101 a share and accrued interest by a nationwide banking group headed by Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Lehman Brothers.

Of the net proceeds, estimated at $14,638,962, approximately $7,000,000 will be used for estimated capital expenditures during 1938, among which is a contemplated $450,000 expenditure for the completion of the new corn mill at Kankakee, Ill. The sum of $850,000 will be used to complete the purchase of the Kaffee Hag business and the remainder, approximately $6,789,000, will be added to working capital.

Burlington Proposes Issue.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad has filed an application with the interstate commerce commission asking for authority to issue and pledge $15,000,000 of first and refunding 5 per cent mortgage bonds, series C. The bonds are to be pledged as collateral for outstanding notes to banks and as collateral for notes to be issued.

A block of 8,000 shares of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., stock was placed on the market yesterday by Blyth & Co. at $51 a share. This is said to have been the first time that any sizable block of stock of the brewing company has been offered publicly, the corporation always having been closely controled. The stock offering is reported to have been made in behalf of an estate.

CEA TO PICK SITE OF CHICAGO GRAIN PIT HEARING SOON

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—A preliminary meeting to decide upon a location for the Commodities Exchange administration's hearing into price manipulation charges brought against the Chicago Board of Trade by Cargill, Inc., probably will be held in Washington within the next ten days, CEA officials said today. The formal hearing will begin May 16, they said.

The Board of Trade has asked that the hearing be held in Chicago. Cargill filed a reply yesterday asking that the hearing be held in Washington as originally scheduled. The Cargill Grain company of Illinois, a Cargill subsidiary, was expelled from the Board of Trade recently in connection with an alleged "squeeze" in September corn in 1937.

Value of Franc Declines as New Taxes Are Imposed

French currency declined in value in all markets yesterday following issuance by Premier Daladier of decrees providing for broad increases in all forms of taxes. The franc well 0.045 cent to 3.02 cents in New York. Other foreign currencies were weak in relation to the dollar early in the day, but steadied and closed with little change from Monday's quotations. The British pound closed at $4.98¾, unchanged from Monday.

Asks Removal of 2 Directors of Chesapeake

New York, May 3.—(AP)—Robert R. Young, New York financier who is seeking control of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, in an open letter to William C. Potter, chairman of Guaranty Trust company, today called for the resignations of C. L. Bradley and John P. Murphy as directors of Chesapeake corporation, the board of which has been split in the fight for control of the C. & O.

Young wrote:

"We call upon you to remove these two men at once. If they refuse on your request or the request of J. P. Morgan & Co., to hand in their resignations, please advise us promptly and we will consent to amend the present court stipulation to permit our stock to be voted, at the annual meeting in Baltimore on Wednesday of this week, to cause their removal."

Potter Balks at Discussion.

Potter would not discuss the letter.

In his letter, Young, who is asking the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here an injunction restraining Guaranty from voting controling stock in Chesapeake corporation, which the bank holds as trustee, said the Guaranty had conditionally offered to drop Murphy and Bradley.

The fight for the C. & O. came to public notice when Bradley and Murphy, over Young's protest, called a special stockholders meeting of Chesapeake corporation. The Alleghany corporation, controled by Young through purchase a year ago, nominally owns controling stock of Chesapeake corporation, which block is, however, pledged with Guaranty, as trustee, as collateral for Alleghany bonds.

Controls Part of C. & O. Stock.

Young is seeking, in court, to restrain Guaranty from voting the stock, which in turn controls 34 per cent of C. & O. stock.

Earle Bailie, partner of J. & W. Seligman & Co., Wall street bankers; John L. Dickinson, Charleston, W. Va., banker, and John B. Hollister, Cincinnati attorney, are soliciting proxies of C. & O. stockholders in a campaign approved by Guaranty to get themselves elected as directors of C. & O., and of Chesapeake corporation.

Named to Pere Marquette Board.

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—(AP)—Robert R. Young of New York, today was elected a director of the Pere Marquette railroad. The Chesapeake and Ohio railway owns 47.54 per cent of the stock of the Pere Marquette system.

Approve Brooke for Erie Post.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—George D. Brooke of Cleveland, O., president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, obtained interstate commerce commission approval today to serve as a director of the Erie railroad and affiliated companies.

PALMER BACKS SALE OF HERCULES LIFE TO ILLINOIS COMPANY

Official confirmation of the agreement to sell the Hercules Life Insurance company, now controled by Sears Roebuck & Co., to the Washington National Insurance company of Chicago was made by the Hercules firm yesterday. The Washington National company, of which G. R. Kendall is president, will absorb Hercules by a merger in which the Hercules name will be eliminated. Exact terms of the sale were not disclosed.

G. R. Kendall.

The merger has the sanction of Ernest Palmer, Illinois state director of insurance, who has favored retention of control of the Hercules firm with more than 35 million dollars of assets, in the state of Illinois. Negotiations for sale of the Hercules company to the Giannini interests on the west coast were dropped last month because of opposition to removal of the assets from Illinois. Palmer yesterday expressed approval of the Washington National offer, declaring that firm "is an Illinois company, financially strong, and ably managed."

Stockholders' meetings of both companies are scheduled for May 23 to ratify the transaction.

The new company will have assets in excess of $40,000,000 and insurance in force will approximate $200,000,000.

APRIL PAYMENTS FOR LIVE STOCK SET 4 YEAR LOW

Payments to farmers for live stock received at Chicago last month dropped to the lowest figure for April in four years. The declines from last year were due both to decreased marketing and a slump in the per hundredweight value of animals.

The aggregate value of cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep for the month was placed at $17,928,000, compared with $22,916,000 April last year, $21,135,000 two years ago, and $21,135,000 three years ago. The supply handled was the smallest for the month of April in fifty-one years.

Farmers were paid 21.7 per cent less money than in the corresponding month last year for 6.7 per cent fewer animals. Cattle and calf receipts were down 12.4 per cent from a year earlier and payments were down 20.9.

France Seeks U. S. Approval on Devaluation

Washington, D. C., May 3.—(AP)—France approached the United States officially today on establishing a new franc-dollar relationship. Reliable persons said no agreement was reached, however, at two conferences between Count de Saint-Quentin, French ambassador, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau.

Having no fixed value and declining for about a year, the franc currently is quoted in foreign exchange markets at about 3.02 cents in American money. What new value the French envoy suggested, if any, could not be learned, but Paris reports said 2.7 cents was one figure mentioned there.

U. S. May Oppose Devaluation.

Unofficially it was indicated the United States would oppose such devaluation because it would make American goods more expensive in France and thus hamper American sales there. Failure of today's sessions to reach an agreement was interpreted by some financial observers to mean that the French had proposed and the United States rejected such a devaluation.

France, the United States, and Great Britain are bound by the tripartite agreement of 1936 to maintain as stable as possible relationships between their currencies, and as long as the agreement stays in effect France cannot devalue its currency without consent of the other two. That the agreement is still in effect was reaffirmed tonight upon high authority.

British Expert Consulted.

Morgenthau apparently communicated the results of his talk with the French ambassador to T. K. Bewley, financial counselor of the British embassy, who was his next caller.

The French envoy also familiarized himself with the mechanics of United States foreign exchange transactions by going from Morgenthau's office to that of Archie Lochhead, manager of the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund. The fund buys and sells dollars and gold in foreign exchange markets to offset speculative tendencies which might disturb seriously the value of the dollar in terms of other principal currencies. France and England also have similar funds, but these agencies have been unable to prevent market depreciation of the franc. z

MARSHALL FIELD HAS PROFIT FOR FIRST QUARTER

Earnings, Sales Are Below Year Ago.

Marshall Field & Co. operated at a profit of $381,815 in the first three months of 1938, President Frederick D. Corley reported yesterday to stockholders. Profit was $613,012 in the corresponding 1937 period.

Frederick D. Corley.

First quarter sales aggregated $18,031,081, a decrease of $6,004,030, or 25 per cent, from the corresponding 1937 period. If sales of discontinued lines and stores are eliminated from the 1937 figures, the first quarter decline in volume amounts to $2,676,162, or 12.9 per cent.

Reorganizes Manufacturing.

The company has been effecting a major reorganization of its manufacturing divisions, eliminating unprofitable units.

"Progress is being made," President Corley said in his report, "in the reorganization and discontinuance of certain activities of the manufacturing division which have not been consistently profitable over a period of years. Losses sustained in this process have been charged to reserve provided for that purpose, which we consider ample to complete the program."

Retail Division Profitable.

The retail division has always been the most profitable branch of the business. With the exception of one depression year, the company's Chicago retail store has been consistently profitable.

Corley had told stockholders earlier at the annual meeting that the operations of each division of the company are now on a satisfactory basis. The real estate division, including the Merchandise Mart, broke nearly even in 1937 after operating unprofitably for several years. The showing of the Mart since Jan. 1 has been more favorable than in the corresponding 1937 period.

Government Owned Furs Bring $445,143 at Auction

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—(AP)—The semi-annual auction of government owned sealskins and other furs, which attracted buyers from Europe and Canada, brought receipts totaling $445,143 today. Bids were about 1 per cent higher than those made at the last sale in September, 1937.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Reversing their recent trend, stock market prices shot upward today in sporadic buying. Favorites advanced fractions to 2 points and volatile issues to 4 points. The number of shares traded was 472,470, compared with 354,010 Monday.

The spurts of activity attested the thinness in many issues. This was particularly true in the early part of the session, when light buying brought about some fairly large changes.

In the aviation, Douglas, Curtiss-Wright A, Boeing, Glenn Martin, and United Aircraft were favorites, each rising more than 1 point.

Steels advanced as much as 1¾ points, both United States common and Bethlehem gaining that amount in fairly good demands.

In the motors, Chrysler added 1½ points and General Motors 1⅜ points.

In the communications list American Telephone spurted three points and Western Union 1 point.

Heavy Machinery shares made good gains. General Electric was in good demand and a fraction higher, while Case, Westinghouse, International Harvester and Allis Chalmers advanced 1 to more than 2 points.

Arrangements were made for transfer of a membership in the New York Stock exchange at $61,000, a drop of $1,000 from the preceding sale.

New York Bonds.

New York, May 3.—(AP)—The bond market strengthened today and at the close the Associated Press averages for all groups were moderately higher. Trading was in larger volume than Monday, totaling $4,238,100.

The biggest gain was in the foreign dollar list, with the utilities a close second. United States government issues were irregular, showing changes ranging from a gain of 3-32 to a decline of 4-32.

Trading favorites advancing a point or more included American and Foreign Power 5s at 47; Illinois Central 4¾s at 30½; Union Pacific 3½s of 1971 at 91; Walworth 4s at 65⅝, and Western Union 5s of 1960 at 57⅜.

Down a point or more were American Typefounders convertibles at 99; International Paper 5s at 87, and Northern Pacific 4s at 81½.

In the foreign list gains of a point or more were made by Colombia 5½s of October, 1961, at 14¾; Japan 6½s at 74¾; Poland 7s at 72 and 6s at 53.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks turned slightly upward yesterday, but trading continued dull. Twenty-one of the forty-nine issues traded advanced, ten were lower, and eighteen remained unchanged. THE TRIBUNE averages of twenty stocks finished up 0.15 at 8.34.

Several of the more active stocks showed gains. Borg-Warner, Middle West, Commonwealth Edison, Swift, and Cities Service made fractional gains. Marshall Field and Chicago corporation were unchanged.

The exchange approved the application of Compressed Industrial Gases, Inc., to list 5,050 additional shares of $5 par common stock, bringing the total listed to 262,787 shares.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust stock yesterday recouped some of its recent losses by scoring an advance of $3 a share yesterday to $57.50 bid, $58.50 asked. First National also moved up $2 to $168 bid, $172 asked. Other Chicago bank stocks were quiet and unchanged from Monday. Chicago Title and Trust was up $1 at $125 bid, $128 asked.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER AFTER EARLY SETBACK

Liquidation in the grain markets apparently ran its course in the early trading yesterday. July and September wheat and September corn declined major fractions of a cent a bushel to new low levels for the season, but later there was a sharp upturn on short covering and closing trades on wheat futures were at net gains of ⅝ to 1⅞ cents, the latter on the May delivery. Corn declined ¼ to ½ cent.

The private crop estimates forecasting a yield of 743,000,000 bushels of winter wheat failed to have any influence on the market, being in line with trade expectations. Further rains were reported over the larger part of the spring wheat area in the American and Canadian northwest, improving the outlook for that crop.

Corn showed independent weakness. Although that grain rallied rather sharply from the low point, the upturn was regarded as due more to short covering than a reflection of export business, which was placed at 500,000 bushels in all positions.

Action of the oats and rye markets was a reflection of other grains, an early break being followed by a rally. Oats closed unchanged to ¼ cent higher and rye was ⅝ to 1¼ cents a bushel higher.

Commodities

Commodities were mostly higher yesterday in the futures markets but cash prices for immediate delivery continued to work lower in many cases. Led by rubber futures, which rose 0.17 to 0.28 cent a pound, hides, cottonseed oil, coffee, sugar, and copper moved higher. The cocoa, wool tops, and tin futures finished lower.

Copper futures closed unchanged to 0.06 cent higher and tin futures nominally 0.40 cent lower. The export copper price slipped 0.02½ cent to 9.62½ cents a pound.

The Associated Press weighted index of thirty-five wholesale commodity prices, based on 1926 as 100, declined to 66.51, the lowest since July 9, 1934, and compared with 56.55 on Monday. The Dow-Jones commodity futures index advanced 0.18 to close at 48.51.

PROFITS OF RCA IN QUARTER DIP TO $1,437,800

Many Others Report Drop or Net Losses.

Reports of poorer results for the first quarter of 1938, compared with a year ago, again dominated earnings statements yesterday.

Declines in profits from the first three months of last year were reported by the Radio Corporation of America, Timken Roller Bearing company, Addressograph-Multigraph corporation, American Water Works and Electric company, and National Bond and Investment company.

Among the firms showing net losses for the quarter, compared with profits a year ago, were Hudson Motor Car company, American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation, Childs company, and Western Auto Supply company. Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., had a larger net loss than in the 1937 first quarter.

Gold Mine Firm Earns More.

Natomas company, operating gold mines, and the Purity Bakeries corporation reported higher profits than a year ago. The Engineers Public Service company, a utility holding company, reported increased earnings for the twelve months ended March 31.

RCA's profit of $1,437,800 or 4½ cents a common share, after preferred dividends, compared with $2,243,056 or 10 cents on the common in the March, 1937, quarter.

Engineers Public Service company had a consolidated net income of $3,829,349 for the twelve months to March 31, compared with $3,010,092 in the preceding twelve months.

Stephen Birch, chairman of the Kennecott Copper corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday that first quarter earnings were at an annual rate of $1.26 per share, equivalent to 32 cents a share for the quarter. For the year 1937 earnings equaled $4.60 a share or $1.15 per quarter.

OIL STOCKS INCREASE.

The Bureau of Mines reported stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum on April 23 totaled 307,654,000 barrels, a net increase of 880,000 barrels from a week earlier. Stocks of domestic oil increased 977,000 barrels for the week and foreign crude decreased 97,000 barrels.

Chicago has a smaller per capita net bonded debt than ten of the thirteen cities with population of more than 500,000. The figures are from the bureau of the census 1936 statistics. (Story in adjoining column.)

Intermediate Banking.

Intermediate banking functions in the zone which lies between the field of relatively short term loans in which banks specialize and that of long term financing through issuance of stocks and bonds.

Five phases of intermediate banking were emphasized by a Chicago institution which recently announced plans to enter the field more aggressively. These included outright purchase of businesses with a view to their ultimate resale. To do this requires a large reservoir of funds that can be tied up for a longer period than may be practical for many commercial banks.

Also requiring funds available for a considerable period of time, although probably not long enough to warant issuance of long term securities, is the refinancing and reorganization of basically sound companies in temporary difficulty. Closely related in some instances is a third intermediate banking function, the extension of capital loans and funds for use as working capital. This also overlaps, on occasion, with a normal function of commercial banks in providing working capital through short term loans.

New enterprises enter the intermediate banking program in two ways. One is through financing of new companies, as distinguished from older ones, which have encountered temporary difficulties. The other is through underwriting of securities or acquisition of them with a view to "seasoning" the new bonds or stocks until a favorable time for distributing them through public offering.

CHICAGO'S DEBT PER CITIZEN IS ONE OF LOWEST

Only Half as Large as New York City's.

Chicago occupies a favorable position among the leading cities of the United States with respect to its local government debt burden, ranking eleventh among thirteen cities in the size of its net bonded debt per capita, it was shown yesterday in data issued by the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

The bulletin, based on the bureau's annual study of Cook county governments, showed that the local government debt in 1936 was equal to $123 for each man, woman, and child of the 3,490,700 [1933] population of Chicago. This was only about half as great as the $245 per capita debt of New York City and $255 of San Francisco reported by the United States census bureau.

Progress in Debt Reduction.

The Chicago governments—city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county and forest preserve district—made substantial progress in debt retirement during 1937, the federation reported. Bonded debt liabilities were cut 5.8 per cent and there was a drop of 20 per cent in the amount of tax anticipation warants outstanding.

Despite the favorable trend in total debt reduction, the federation asserted, there exists an unhealthy condition with regard to the unpaid bills of the local governments, particularly of the city's corporate [operating] fund.

Although the city's total unpaid bills declined $101,530 to $8,482,895 during 1937, those bills concerned only with the corporate operations actually increased, the report said.

The unpaid bills total includes public benefit vouchers, a large part of which were paid off in 1937 from the proceeds of a bond issue. If this class of debt is eliminated from consideration, which the federation holds is the proper procedure, there was actually a jump of $964,000 in unpaid bills. Even if all available cash were applied in making the computation, there would still be a jump of more than $400,000.

Repeats Earlier Warning.

"Since the 1938 budget includes at least one substantial revenue item of doubtful legality," the report continued, "we feel impelled to repeat here the warning which we have several times previously voiced—that the corporate fund of the city is drifting ever more rapidly into an insolvent condition.

"Some city officials think that by the end of 1938 there will be a substantial reduction made in the total of unpaid bills. It is sincerely to be hoped that such will prove the case.

"We are sure that property tax payers will fight any attempt to increase their burden and the city council seemingly has exhausted all other forms of possible revenue. The city's corporate expenditures would seem to be not only in excess of present, but also of any prospective income. The only apparent remedy is to bring expenditures within probable revenue."

Pay Rolls Held Excessive.

Commenting on charges that city pay rolls are excessive, the federation suggested an independent nonpolitical survey by an outside group.

"Both good economic and political sense," it said, "would indicate that every unneeded public employé be dispensed with and every cent of the people's money devoted to effectively carrying on essential services."

Bethlehem Steel Meeting Again Postponed to May 19

New York, May 3.—(AP)—The Bethlehem Steel corporation announced today that the adjourned annual stockholders' meeting scheduled for Thursday at Wilmington, Del., had been further adjourned to May 19. At the time of previous adjournment the session was being deferred so that sufficient proxies could be obtained in connection with a proposal to change the stock management plan. Under the proposed changes, contracts of officers and directors, made in 1930, to purchase Bethlehem Steel shares at a price far in excess of present market value, would be rescinded.

MORGAN ADMITS BEING TOLD OF WHITNEY'S 'JAM'

I could to help create a better feeling toward the exchange. I told him that I didn't think I would be able to do it as long as he had the 'old guard.' He wanted to know what I meant by the old guard and I said this was a clique that runs the exchange and had brought it into disrepute.

Urges Dismissing Whitney.

"Gay wanted me to be more specific and I cited Whitney, and I told him that the quicker he got rid of him the better the exchange would be. I told him that I thought Whitney in a large measure was responsible for the condition in which the exchange is today.

"Gay wanted to know what I had against Whitney and I told him that Mr. Whitney was broke—that he owed money all over the street and I didn't think that it was befitting for him to be one of the leading governors of the exchange. To this Gay said: 'If you know that, you know something I don't know.'

"I then told Gay: 'I wouldn't want to be in your position and not know that.'"

Gay Recalls Statement.

Smith's statement put him in the position of contradicting Gay, who recently testified in Washington that he had no knowledge of Whitney's difficulties of borrowings until March 1, 1938.

So flat was the contradiction that Gay was called to state his own version of the luncheon conversation with Smith. On reëxamination he admitted Smith's testimony had refreshed his memory and that he now recalled some such conversation at a lunch. The date, he said, was Dec. 15, 1937, but the conversation must have made little impression on him because he forgot it until today.

Gay said he did not remember, however, that Smith had applied the word "broke" to Whitney. He said it was a word that he would be likely to remember; that it would even have caused him to investigate at that time.

He recalled that Smith told him that Whitney was borrowing but doubted that he said "borrowing all over the street."

Block Statement Off Record.

He hesitated when asked why he had taken no action on the information given to him by Smith. He asked permission to make a statement off the record, but Gesell objected.

Gay was asked whether he would discount the statement of any stock exchange member who seemed antagonistic to Whitney, and whether he thought Smith was speaking the truth.

"I believe he thought he was speaking the truth," said Gay. "But you are overlooking the fact that Mr. Smith was my guest at lunch at that moment, and that this was just a part of general conversation."

Harry M. Durning, collector of the port of New York and a special partner in Moore & Schley stock exchange firm, said it was common knowledge months before the failure of the Whitney firm that Richard Whitney was borrowing "right and left."

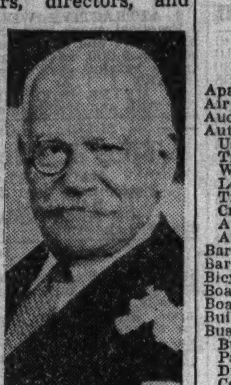
COMPANY HEADS LEAN TO BUYING SIDE OF STOCKS

Report Transactions in March to SEC.

Some substantial purchases in March by officers, directors, and principal stockholders of securities in their own companies were reported yesterday by the Securities and Exchange commission in its summary of transactions for the month. On the whole, the excess of selling over buying, which had ruled since last October, was erased in March, and purchases appeared to have a slight edge over sales.



Jules S. Bache.

Jules S. Bache, senior partner in the firm of J. S. Bache & Co., reported the acquisition in March by "reason of guaranty" of 1,600 common shares of the Chrysler corporation, of which he is a vice president, and 500 common shares of Dome Mines, Ltd., of which he is president.

Bache Buys Other Stocks.

Bache also acquired indirectly 1,000 shares of Dome Mines through the Richmill Bahamas company, a holding company, and directly and indirectly bought 3,200 of the Tennessee corporation, of which he is a director. These acquisitions brought Bache's holdings to 13,200 shares of Chrysler directly held and 85,501 held through a holding company, 57,300 shares of Dome Mines held directly and indirectly, and 49,100 shares of Tennessee corporation, including direct and indirect interests.

Cornelius V. Whitney, a director of the Pan American Airways corporation, reported the acquisition of 15,000 common shares directly and an additional 1,250 shares for the C. V. Whitney trust. He previously held no equity in the company.

Buys Atlantic Refining.

The purchase of 6,000 common shares of common stock in the Atlantic Refining company was reported by John W. Van Dyke, director. This increased his holdings to 53,700 shares. He sold $1,200 par value of the company's debentures, leaving $900 par value in his account.

Purchases by firms included the acquisition of 61,166 common shares of the United Cigar Whelan Stores corporation by the Phoenix Securities corporation, increasing Phoenix holdings to 2,221,029 shares. H. M. Byllesby & Co. bought 12,200 common shares of Utility and Industrial corporation, increasing holdings to 213,920 shares. The Mission corporation increased its equity in the Skelly Oil company to 567,657 common shares with the acquisition of 2,300 shares, and also bought 1,700 shares of Tide Water Associated Oil company common, making 946,923 shares held.

Victor Emanuel, chairman of the Aviation and Transportation corporation, formerly the Cord corporation, indirectly acquired 4,500 common shares, bringing combined direct and indirect holdings to 26,830 shares.

Other Transactions Reported.

Other transactions reported to the commission included:

AMERICAN COLORTYPE—C. R. Frederickson, vice president, Coshocton, O., bought 600 common shares, bringing holdings to 7,800 shares.

ANACONDA COPPER MINING—Harry H. Moore, director, New York, indirectly sold 600 common shares, leaving 100 shares.

Immediate Opportunity

NEW, AMAZING PRODUCT THAT ENJOYS THE SAME POSITION IN ITS FIELD TODAY AS THE ELECTRIC LIGHT DID TO THE KEROSENE LAMP YEARS AGO.

Under our unique merchandising plan men who qualify will be set up in business for themselves and assisted in getting started successfully.

Permanent. No investment necessary. No lean seasons. We can train any intelligent clear thinker to sell this electric product ad assure him of at least $40 commission his first week.

If you are wide awake and want a business that pays big earnings, investigate this unusual opportunity.

EMPLOYMENT DEPT., 9 A. M. TO 4 P. M.
203 N. Wabash-av., Rm. 618.

EXPERIENCED SALESMEN.

We offer an opportunity to salesmen of good character, poise, and creative sales ability, in a highly dignified semi-professional field furnishing great possibilities for advancement.

If it would please you to offer a much needed service to your fellow man, if you have the ability and experience to contact professional men, or if you are interested in the field of intercommunicating equipment, our new program embraces all these fields. The company is nationally known. No investment is required. Earnings are based on attractive commissions.

We are interested only in high type ambitious applicants. Reply stating your experience and give telephone number. You will be granted interview by company executive. ADDRESS E T 132, TRIBUNE.

WHAT KIND OF JOB ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

Isn't a permanent position with good income and opportunity for advancement with a large company what you want? If you are a serious minded young man interested in your future and if you are 21 to 35 years of age and of neat appearance, Commonwealth Edison Company will consider you for a position in the Appliance Sales Department. If you meet with the above qualifications and you have the right attitude, previous experience is unnecessary. The electrical business is a growing business and men in it receive good percentage plus bonus. Apply Wednesday, Room 2500, 105 West Adams-street, 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. only.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING?

Regardless of your present situation, it will be worthwhile to come in and talk this over!

We sincerely believe we have designed the best proposition in America for overcoming the "business recession."

We are a leading Chicago furniture company opening an entirely new dept., which presents a wonderful opportunity for men interested in direct selling.

For complete explanation of plan, including drawing account privilege, bonus, liberal percentage earnings, and compensation for short training period, call before 1 p. m. at most convenient store.

MR. MOULTON. 4130 W. MADISON.

WEST SIDE MEN.

NO MERCHANDISE TO SELL.

Must be neat and capable of meeting the public. Experience in our line unnecessary. These are permanent positions with excellent future for those who make good. About $26 per week to start on our drawing account, bonus and commission plan. Apply in person, 3318 Lincoln-av.

ATTENTION, MEN!

We present an opportunity in keeping with the times. Steady job with no seasonal layoffs; good pay and excellent chance for advancement; no experience necessary, although preference will be given those who have had previous activity in any line of direct sales. This is a new addition to the advertising dept. of a large concern operating a group of home furnishing stores. Drawing account, commission, and bonus to those accepted. Personal interview given all applicants. Apply promptly after 9:30 a. m. to MR. NELSON, MGR. 834 W. 63D-ST.

To Men with Cars.

Are you satisfied with your present earnings? Selling modern homes in suburbs under new FHA terms. Opens real opportunity for men with sales ability to increase their earnings. Permanent dignified work. Our men are earning more than average income. Learn this live business under expert direction and personal co-operation of our executives, who close deals for you. Live leads. Liberal comm. See Mr. Brown. Room 437. 111 W. Washington-st.

MEN NOT SATISFIED
With Present Earnings.

A progressive Wisconsin Manufacturer opening up Chicago and adjoining counties offers you a protected territory selling business firms fast moving established commodities on which there is a constant repeat commission. Write Automatic Service Company, Janesville, Wis. for Chicago interview.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY.

Openings in several Appliance Sales positions for neat appearing, ambitious young men. Commission and bonus. Inexperienced men will be trained for the work and given opportunities for development. Apply Room 1807, 72 West Adams-street, 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, and 2:00 to 4:00 p. m.

"COMMUNITY RE-NEWED" CARS BUILD GOOD-WILL

Community Motors has developed a new process that is so new—so different and so changed that no matter what your previous idea may have been as to how a good used car should look and run, you have a surprise in store for you when you see a "COMMUNITY RE-NEWED" car.

Yes, people by the hundreds are buying these "COMMUNITY RE-NEWED" cars and they are spreading goodwill and making friends for Community Motors.

Before you buy any car, be sure to visit the Community Motors store in your neighborhood and see this new process.
